It's Do Or Die, Warn Downtown Planners

WAITING FOR THE TORCH is the house at 115 Davis st., behind the village hall. The house, over 100 years old, was bought by the village for $8,500. A telephone lineman at upper right disconnects wires before Arlington Heights firemen go to work on the house.

RUSHING TO BEAT Sunday's storm, Arlington Heights firemen, led by Fire Chief Harvey Carothers (in khaki), tumble wall of house behind village hall. Lowest bid to demolish the house was $900. Local firemen received valuable practice in leveling house for around $50 (money paid to volunteers), according to Village Manager Hanson.

Outline Program Of Modernization

(This is the second in a series of articles on Arlington Heights' master plan.)

by BILL DULANEY

Arlington Heights' central business district must offer a new face to customers or suffer an increasing loss of business to other commercial centers, according to Evert Kincaid and associates, planning consultants for the village.

Without concerted action by the village and downtown merchants, outlying planned shopping centers, complete with off-street parking and representing "one stop" shopping to many families, will attract an increasing percentage of the area's shopping dollars, notes the Kincaid report.

In recommending plans for revamping the central business district, the report lists as four essential steps:

1. The development of an underpass of the North Western railroad tracks at Sigwalt st. and Foundry rd.
2. The development of a grade separation of State rd. from the North Western railway and Northwest hwy.
3. The moving of the railroad commuter station eastward from its present location and the development of an adjacent commuter parking area. This would eliminate traffic tie-ups caused by trains stopped in the central area.
4. The development of additional off-street parking facilities.

ONCE THESE projects have been accomplished, Kincaid offers two plans for the downtown merchants, one based on vehicle movement and one on pedestrian movement.

The plan based on vehicle movement calls for:

1. The widening and extension of Highland ave. from Sigwalt north to W. Miner.
2. The vacation of Vail ave. from its intersection with W. Wing and Davis to Campbell st.
3. The vacation of Dunton ave. between E. Eastman and E. Miner.
4. The vacation of Campbell st. between Vail and Dunton and between Dunton and Davis.
5. The realignment of Davis st. to allow off-street parking east of the Arlington Heights National bank and north of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.
6. The vacation of Davis st. between Evergreen and State rd. and conversion to an area for employee parking and service.
7. Reversal of frontage for all of the stores presently facing Davis st. between State rd. and Evergreen. ave.
8. Dual frontage for stores in the proposed new block formed by Davis, Evergreen, Sigwalt, and Dunton.
9. Development of off-street parking.
10. Development of circulation on a Miner, Evergreen, Sigwalt, and Dunton loop integrated with the Miner, Dryden place, Sigwalt-Foundry, and Dunton loop.

VACATED STREETS would be used for shopper parking, malls, walks, and public open spaces. The plan also envisions the enlargement of the State rd. commuter parking lot, and acquisition of a new commuter parking lot north of the railroad tracks and bounded by Belmont on the west.

The plan based on pedestrian movement calls for the same improvements in commuter parking. For the central business district, however, it calls for:

1. Vacation of all streets in the area bounded by Eastman, Evergreen, Northwest hwy., and Vail, and the development of pedestrian malls and off-street parking areas.
2. Vacation of all streets in the area bounded by Davis, Evergreen, Sigwalt, and Vail, and the development of pedestrian malls and off-street parking area.
3. The conversion of Davis st. between Vail and Evergreen to an off-street parking area and the relocation of the roadway north of its present location.
4. The vacation of Davis st. between Evergreen and State, and conversion to an area for employee parking and service.
5. The remodeling of existing stores and the development of future stores so as to achieve a pedestrian dominated atmosphere, such as found in the newer, planned shopping centers.
6. The development of a vehicular traffic loop utilizing Eastman, Evergreen, Sigwalt, and Vail and integrated with the Miner, Dryden place, Sigwalt-Foundry, Evergreen loop.

WITH THE development of the Arlington Market shopping center, the study notes, it is possible to establish a cross-pull of shoppers between the center and the central business district.

As for the range of services and goods offered by downtown merchants, the study noted a low proportion of general merchandise and apparel stores exists. These stores occupy only 26 per cent of total floor area in downtown stores. A general department store for the central district, would relieve this situation, observed the study.

Commenting on the development of new stores, the study noted, "There appears to be no need in the near future to expand retail and service uses in the north segment of the business district eastward of those on Evergreen ave. or westward of those on Dunton ave."

"Similarly, growth of retail and service establishments to the north of Eastman st. should be completely discouraged. Development of commercial uses along either side of State rd. should be tightly controlled until development and consolidation of the core of the north segment is complete. There should be no development of commercial uses along State rd. north of Eastman st."

"Retail and service uses located in the southern segment of the central business district should be restricted to that area north of Sigwalt st. With relocation of the commuter station and development of commuter parking areas east of State rd., retail and service establishment expansion in the southern segment should be directed westward. This expansion, however, should not be permitted until the existing core is completely developed," concluded the study.

THE PLAN for redevelopment of the central business district is presently under study by a group of downtown businessmen headed by Paul Collins, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

As drawn by Kincaid, the plan envisions the railway parks in their present status. Rejection by voters of a bond issue to purchase the parks will, no doubt, lead to a change in their present use.

Concert Series Membership Campaign to Open Monday

The Arlington Heights Community association will hold its annual dinner meeting Monday night at the Faith Lutheran church. Attending will be 134 volunteer workers of the association.

The meeting will open a one-week campaign for members during which the 134 volunteers will attempt to call on all residents of Arlington Heights. The volunteers will be offering memberships in the association which entitle the member to attend concerts.

IN THE PAST 11 seasons, 50 concerts have been presented in Arlington Heights. Nationally-known artists are featured at the concerts.

Memberships will cost $7.50 for adults and $3.50 for students. The drive will close May 16. Those who were not contacted by the volunteers can obtain a membership at Allen's Paint Store in Arlington Heights.

To spur the drive, Mayor Edward G. Carlisle of Arlington Heights and Mayor Theodore Lams of Mt. Prospect named May 10-16 as Community Concert Week. Other civic officials also have given the drive their endorsement.

Grade School District Is Hunting for Future Sites

Not "when to build?" but "where?" is the question confronting members of Arlington Heights district 25's school board these days in their search for new school sites for a booming enrollment.

With once plentiful farmland being subdivided almost overnight and construction at an all time high, each day finds fewer available sites suitable for school buildings.

Unlike the high school district, district 25 has no unoccupied sites, and, according to Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh, "If we wait until our present facilities near the saturation point, it may be too late to acquire the needed sites."

IN ATTEMPTING to plan for the future the board has been reviewing a report made last year by Dr. Jack R. Childress of Northwestern university's school of education. The survey found that, ultimately, considering the land available for residential purposes with the district's boundaries, enrollment may exceed 8,000.

Present facilities will accommodate 1,260 junior high students, and, with the completion of additions now under construction, the district's six elementary schools can handle 3,200 students. Saturation of living areas within the district would mean 2,700 junior high students and 5,800 elementary students. Should the district's boundaries be extended, it would, of course, mean more students.

The board is presently thinking in terms of acquiring five sites, one junior high and four elementary.

"This doesn't mean we'll start building as soon as we acquire the sites, but we need the land in the near future to assure orderly growth of the school district," said Clabaugh.

HE ESTIMATES the desired size of the tracts at 15 acres for the junior high and eight acres for the elementary sites. The board would like to locate two of the elementary sites on the north and two on the south side of town.

One likely site, Clabaugh notes, is in the Stoltzner subdivision in the northeast part of the village. Land will be dedicated by the builder to the school district, and the board may purchase additional land to make a desirable site.

Father, 26, Faces Charges Of Kidnapping and Assault

A true bill was returned by the grand jury this week against an Arlington Heights man charged with kidnapping and assault with intent to kill.

James G. Schwartz of 940 N. Princeton ave., was arrested Wednesday, April 29, by state's attorney's police after a 19-year-old art student identified him as the man who kidnapped her January 29 near Des Plaines.

The girl, Patricia Connors of 4621 Linden, Glenview, spotted Schwartz on April 25 as she was driving on Foundry rd. east of Wolf rd. She noted the license number of his car, and notified police.

THE 26-YEAR-OLD father of two sons was kept under surveillance for four days, according to the state's attorney's office. On the 29th he was asked to take a lie-detector test to which he willingly consented.

He failed two tests "miserably," according to police, and was then confronted by Miss Connors, a Lewis college student, who made the identification. She charged that Schwartz jumped into her car as she left a store at Rand and River rds. She said he forced her at gunpoint to drive to a secluded area four miles away where he choked her, then wept and prayed with her before apologizing and leaving.

Schwartz neither denied nor affirmed the girl's charges, but told police he suffered periodic blackouts. He was arrested by Arlington Heights police in 1956 for indecent exposure and ordered under a doctor's care.

AFTER HIS apprehension last week, Schwartz was questioned by Arlington Heights police in connection with recent sex offenses committed in the village. They were, however, unable to connect him with any cases.

The accused appeared before Judge Walter P. Dahl in the Wheeling township hall Friday and was released under $15,000 bond pending a preliminary or grand jury hearing.

Bond set by the grand jury is $10,000 for each of the two offenses, or a total of $20,000.

Boy Scouts Paper Pickup On Southside

Boy Scouts will pick up old newspapers and magazines Saturday morning in the section of Arlington Heights south of the railroad tracks.

The bundles should be kept small and should be tied securely. They should be stacked near the street in time for pickup at 9 a.m. Those who miss the pickup can take the bundles to their respective school before noon, Saturday.

Proceeds from the drive are used to help scouting in Arlington Heights.

Pancake Jamboree To Feed 8,000

Plans were completed this week for the feeding of an expected crowd of 7,500 to 8,000 persons at the Aunt Jemima Pancake Jamboree Saturday, May 9, at the Arlington Heights high school cafeteria.

Four specially designed griddles have arrived from Rockford, Ill., which will give the Little Leaguers and their Jamboree Committee ample facilities to prepare food for 4,400 people per hour if it becomes necessary.

This will insure that all patrons will be promptly served without undue waiting in line. The menu will consist of pancakes, sausages, butter and syrup. Coffee will be served, with milk available to those who prefer it.

THE ENTERTAINMENT committee reports that in addition to the entertainment provided by

AUNT JEMIMA (Edith Wilson), radio and television personality, will appear in Arlington Heights, Saturday, May 9, at the Little League "Pancake Jamboree."

The Quaker Oats company's Radio-TV personality Aunt Jemima, entertainment of a local variety will be provided by the "Mellotones" of Prospect high school, Jerry Campbell Combo, and the German band from the Arlington high school.

The Hammond Organ studio of Old Orchard is supplying two Hammond organs and musicians for constant background music and demonstration during the day. Vocal harmony will be supplied by two quartets from the Arlington Heights Barber Shop chorus.

One-hundred free prizes will be distributed during the day, with prizes being so distributed that all customers will have an equal opportunity to win.

THE REGISTERED pedigreed Chihuahua puppy, which is one of the grand prizes, is scheduled to arrive in Arlington Heights Friday afternoon. Also to be given away is a 17 inch portable TV set.

Prizes for the Little League ticket sales contest will be awarded at 4 p.m., with the grand prize, a Schwinn bicycle, being presented by Ted Cleys, owner of the newly established Prospect Sports Center, 418 Northwest hwy., Mt. Prospect.

The entire proceeds from the pancake jamboree will be used to in part defray the annual budget of $10,000, which provides supervised baseball recreation for approximately 1,000 Arlington Hts. Little Leaguers.

R. H. Glantz, general chairman of the jamboree, urges that all residents of Arlington Heights and surrounding area support this activity and assured that those who had not already purchased tickets would be warmly welcomed at the door.

Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights — Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298

Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate — Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

The fragrance that is attar of roses to devotees of outdoor living permeated Arlington Heights over the weekend as summer suddenly arrived. Essence of bonfire was blended with fleur de charcoal as hundreds of suburbanites worked, ate and entertained in the backyard. Some of the outdoor entertaining was in honor of youngsters in the parish of the St. James Catholic church of Arlington Heights who received first holy communion Saturday and commemorated the event at family gatherings later.

Among the communicants was David Dudek who received the congratulations of 20 family members at a party in the home of his parents, the Edmund Dudeks, 115 W. Elm. Here for the occasion from Chicago were David's godparents, Walter Bobicz and Mrs. Edward Dudek, and his grandparents, the Joseph Dudeks.

The Erwin Stuebers of Arlington Heights and the George Syoens combined an observation of their childrens' first communion at the Syoen home, 733 N. Evergreen, Saturday. The Syoens served as godparents of the Stueber boy, Douglas, who shared the honors with the Syoen's son, Alex. Among the 25 relatives and friends congratulating the boys were Alex' godparents, Mrs. Don Graetz of Rolling Meadows and Wilbur Wagner of Prospect Manor; his grandparents, Mrs. Alphonse Syoen of Chicago and the Andrew Horchers of Arlington Heights.

THE WILLIAM KNIGHTS, 706 N. Evergreen, and the Henry Hanigans, 903 N. Dunton, hosted their daughters, Mary and Nancy, at a festive breakfast in a local restaurant in celebration of the girls' first communion Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Sutter, 1130 Dunton, celebrated the first communion of their daughter, Susan, at a family gathering that included Susan's aunt and godmother, Miss Mildred Sutter of Coldwater, Ohio. Also here from Coldwater for the occasion were Mr. Sutter's sister, Mrs. Charles Paulos and her two children.

Thirty-two family members commemorated the occasion of Christine Loechl's first communion Saturday at a celebration in the Loechl home, 1213 N. Dunton.

Christine's grandparents, the George Loechls, ended their seasonal stay at Madiera Beach, Fla. to be here for the weekend, then returned to their summer home in Elkhorn, Wis.

Adding their blessings to Christine's day were her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Teufel and her godmother, Mrs. Richard Staffeldt, both of Chicago, and her godfather, Richard Loechl of Bensenville.

Terrence Hughes of Chicago, grandfather of Kathy Hawley, looked forward to Kathy's first communion and the small family gathering that would follow at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, the Richard Hawleys, 721 N. Highland. Grandpa Hughes was a "most happy fella" and a surprised one, too, to discover 55 relatives and old friends at the Hawley home, gathered to honor him for the May 8 event of his 75th birthday.

Another daughter and her family, the Dan Gillespies of South Bend, were here for the dual occasion and Mr. Hughes' brother, John, of Chicago joined the family. Kathy didn't mind in the least sharing the day with her grandfather, partly because he was so happy to see all of the family and lots of old friends again, and partly because she had as much fun as Grandpa did. Kathy's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Koboski of Niles, added their blessings to her day and congratulations to her grandfather's.

MEMBERS OF Eastern Orthodox churches everywhere observed Easter May 3 and among local members celebrating the holiday Sunday were the Ernest Poulos family, 1225 N. Dunton. Forty-five family members enjoyed the festive dinner here that included the traditional roast lamb. Mr. Poulos was dubbed "the silent butler" as he carried out his hostly duties with as little conversation as possible. He underwent throat surgery Thursday at Henrotin hospital in Chicago and although he was home in time for Easter and returned to work Mon-

THE HENRY TAYLORS, 1201 N. Dunton, were pleasantly surprised Saturday with a vist from former Park Ridge neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Siebert, now of Avon, N. Y. There was too much to talk about in just a few hours and it was mutually agreed that an overnight stay would help the problem a little.

Mrs. Oscar Langner of Sheboygan, Wis. arrived here Tuesday to spend the rest of the week with her sister and family, the Albert Williams, 750 N. Pine.

Mrs. Howard Garrison, 1108 W. Miner, entertained neighborhood women Friday afternoon at a farewell coffee for Mrs. Fred Cunningham of Houston, Tex. Mrs. Cunningham returned to Texas after a 6-week visit here with her daughter and family, the R. W. LeMeilleurs, 1009 W. Miner.

Recent weekenders at the Wagon Wheel lodge in Rockton were the Robert Carstens, 1014 N. Evergreen, celebrating their ninth wedding anniversary.

Constance Wysocki celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday and stretched the day as far as it would go. The morning began with Connie's attending communion breakfast at Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church with her Brownie group, and with seven friends coming for lunch her schedule was just snug enough to be fun. After the party-luncheon at the Wysocki home, 607 S. Walnut, Connie and her guests attended the matinee at the Mt. Prospect theater. There was barely time left in the day for Mom and Dad to congratulate their birthday girl. But they did.

A "SWOOSE" denotes connivance and when one teenager "swooses" another it can mean anything from stealing a boy friend to plotting a surprise party. Nita Wist nicely "swoosed" her friend, Barbara Schmick of Prospect Heights last Friday evening when she pulled off a completely successful surprise farewell party for her. Twelve young ladies took over the Wist home, 837 S. Vail, at a make-your-own-topping pizza fest to provide sustenance for the night's activities. Each of the girls gave Barbara an engraved disc bearing the donor's name for a charm bracelet as a gift of remembrance.

Barbara's father is Gen. Peter Schmick, commanding officer at the local Nike base for the past two years. Gen. Schmick and his family leave this week for his new post in Germany.

Miss Gail Moore was the guest of honor Friday evening at a surprise bridal shower given by Mrs. Herman Huber, 415 N. Evergreen. Thirty-four neighbors feted the bride-elect, daughter of the Harold Moores, 503 N. Evergreen, assisting her over the pleasant shock of the surprise and then showering her with miscellaneous gifts.

Miss Moore will be married June 27 in the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights to Robert Dahlquist of Mt. Prospect.

SIXTEEN NEIGHBORS of Mrs. John Otzen, 500 S. Dryden, surprised her last Tuesday evening as she arrived for a casual visit with Mrs. Robert Thybony, 1126 N. Dunton, a former Dryden street neighbor. The occasion was not a casual visit but a baby shower in Mrs. Otzen's honor. Assisting Mrs. Thybony were cohostesses, Mrs. Robert Schwenk and Mrs. Roy Thompson. The co-guest of honor is expected the end of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dibble, 817 N. Chestnut, returned home last Wednesday after two weeks in Florida, touring the west coast of the state.

The George Koblers, 843 S. Vail are also recent returnees from a Florida vacation. They began their 3-week stay with a few days at Vero Beach on the east coast, they spent several days at Lido Beach on the west coast. Lots of golf plus occasional and successful deep-sea fishing complemented days of rest and relaxation.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hughes returned home to 6 W. Grove last Monday evening after 10 days at Hot Springs, Ark. and a few days visiting relatives on the homeward trip.

DR. AND MRS. Wayne Dunnon, 301 S. Stratford, spent several days vacationing in Miami Beach after Dr. Dunnon's attendance and acceptance to membership in the International Anesthesia Research society.

Mrs. Mark Creviston, 717 N. Pine, spent Mother's day at the University of Illinois as guest of her son, Bob. Football, a spring musical and other campus activities were on the agenda.

Mrs. Robert Hlavin, 110 S. Fernandez, was guest of honor Tuesday afternoon at a farewell luncheon for 13 in Medinah country club. Hostess to neighborhood friends of the honored guest was Mrs. Carl Larsen, 102 S. Fernandez. The Hlavin family will be leaving Arlington Heights May 23 for a new home in Manhasset, N. Y.

Miss Valdine Clare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clare, 625 Newbury, has been honored guest at numerous bridal showers; April 29, her fiance's mother, Mrs. Charles A. Cameron of Inverness Countryside gave a luncheon for her at the Pantry in Park Ridge. Earlier last month bridal showers were given by Mrs. Arthur L. Schulze Jr., Mrs. Robert L. McFadin and Mrs. Lawrence Austin of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Charles Desgrey of Inverness.

A tea was given by Mrs. Michael O'Donnell and Mrs. Thomas Adams in Park Ridge and just last Monday the bride-to-be's sister-in-law, Mrs. Harrie Hall of Arlington Heights, gave a surprise "come as you are" coffee. Today, May 7, Miss Clare will be honored at a luncheon and kitchen shower given by Mrs. Glenn E. Baird of Highland Park in Exmoor country club.

Miss Clare will marry Richard A. Cameron, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cameron, at 2 p.m. May 23 in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

JOHN CARL BAUMAN of Willoughby, Ohio, arrived unexpectedly April 30 for a weekend visit with the W. L. Millerens, 441 Windsor. Mr. Baumann, a senior at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio, is the fiance of Joanne Milleren.

Vicki Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Winters, 315 Windsor drive, celebrated her fourth birthday Saturday with a lawn party.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Moore, 311 Windsor, are home after spending two weeks vacationing in Sarasota, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nagle, 321

Stratford, entertained 10 guests at a cocktail party Saturday before attending the Continental club dance at the VFW hall in Arlington Heights. This was the first dance of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Olsen, 1116 E. Northwest hwy., were hosts at a farewell party for Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. W. E. Kedigh, who are leaving Arlington Hts. for Dallas. The party had an Hawaiian theme and guests enjoyed the hula dance done by the Kedigh's young daughter "Kini", Hawaiian for "Jane", who was born and reared in Honolulu. Mrs. Kedigh reluctantly leaves Arlington Heights and her many friends made during her 3-year residence, and the children she taught at the Presbyterian church kindergarten, of which she was superintendent.

Miss Beth Olsen, the Stanley Olsen's 14-year-old daughter, will round out her busy and active summer program attending the Patricia Stevens Modeling school.

MISS MARY ROSE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Rose, 100 Drury lane, came home from Duquesne university in Pittsburgh for the weekend. During her stay, Mary was a bridal attendant at the wedding of her childhood friend, Miss Mary Gail Hopkinson and Joseph Culesa of Chicago.

The C. O. Bennetts and the L. W. Bredehofts were hosts at a Derby day party Saturday given as a farewell for their friend and neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Haworth, who will soon leave Arlington Heights to make their home in Milwaukee. The party was held in the Bredehoft home at 201 Wilshire, at which a Derby atmosphere prevailed, from the amusingly decorated carpenter's horse on the front lawn to the game room, decorated with saddles and bridles, where guests watched the running of the Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peery, 504 S. Beverly lane, and their daughter, Sharon, recently returned from Florida. They spent five days in Palm Beach as guests attending the Southern Wholesalers association convention, then going on to St. Petersburg, for the weekend and a visit with Mr. Peery's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verret and son, Steven, who have been spending the past three months with the latter's parents, the Charles Pratts, 704 Mayfair, will move into their own home in Chicago May 9.

Filibustering Legislator Is Hungry for Headlines

by REP. BERNARD M. PESKIN

Abraham Lincoln Stanfield (R-Kansas) was named after the Great Emancipator. But that's where the resemblance ends.

A farmer from Edgar county, about 90 miles east of Springfield, he is now serving his second term in the House. He was elected in 1956 when his opponent in the primary election died less than a week before the election and there wan't time to put another candidate on the ballot. Even so, the dead man beat him in one county in his district.

At the 1957 session of the legislature, Stanfield was put out because his colleague, John Lewis, was getting all the newspaper publicity. Lewis, at that time, was the majority leader of the House and was chief sponsor of all administration bills. He was, naturally, the most publicized member of his party and made news every week.

THIS YEAR, with Lewis in the Senate, Stanfield figured to get his name in the papers more often, but the man who took Lewis' place, Paul Graham (R-Mattoon), an able and articulate man, has captured most of the local publicity.

Stanfield had to come up with some stunt to get his name before the people in his district. The easiest and most dramatic thing for him to do was what he did last Tuesday and Wednesday. He rose out of his seat and demanded that all bills be read in full. In other words, he started a filibuster.

You see, the Illinois Constitution provides that all bills be read at large on three separate days. Under normal circumstances, all that is done is to have the clerk read the title of the bill; the official record of the House, the journal, recites that it was read "at large." However, when a member calls for a reading in full, then the entire bill must be read—and many of them run as long as forty pages or more. Some run over 100 pages.

THE RIGHT TO demand reading of the bills in full is jealously guarded by all the members of the legislature. This type of filibuster has been used for good purposes on many occasions. Besides, there's no telling when a partiular member may want to use it himself.

It seems inconceivable, to me, however, that a member of this body should use it strictly as a publicity stunt, so he can get his picture in the paper, holding an axe in his hands, looking for all the world like his namesake. And naturally, the more the other members railed at him, the more stubborn and determined he got.

WE ARE ALL quite anxious to see how Speaker Paul Powell will deal with Stanfield this week. He could, of course, just develop a blind spot on his left side and not recognize the "gentleman from Edgar" when the bills are called. Or he could ask the other 175 members of the House to rise and read a different bill, all at the same time. This was done in Indiana earlier this year. Or he could have cots brought into the House Chambers and run 24 hour sessions until Stanfield is worn out. Under the House rules Stanfield must get to his feet as each bill is called, ask for recognition, and demand that it be read in full. I imagine after a couple of days of this, Abe would quit of his own accord. Sooner or later he'll have to leave the room for one purpose or another, and he has to sleep sometime.

ALL THREE of these methods are legal, and the first two would be a lot easier on everybody concerned. But because of the strong feeling of the House members about the filibuster, we'll probably wind up sleeping at the Capitol if Stanfield doesn't stop.

You know, I could probably laugh about this, too, if it weren't so tragic. We had over 250 bills on the calendar last week and at least 50 or 75 more were reported out of committees. Despite this, we were unable to vote on a single bill last week because we just never reached the ones at the passage stage.

As I told my wife when I came home from Springfield last week and she asked me how things were going, "I shoulda stood in bed."

Witnesses To Attend Assembly

Arlington Heights congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has made final arrangements for their circuit assembly to be held this weekend May 8-10, in Warren township high school, Gurnee. William J. Narve, presiding minister of the local group, said the theme of the conference is "Be a Teacher of the Good News."

The 3-day program includes a variety of talks on Bible subjects. Groups of ministers will discuss ministerial problems and demonstrations will show how Christians can be better teachers.

FEATURED speaker on the daily program will be Andrew K. Wagner from Jehovah's Witnesses world headquarters in Brooklyn, who is now supervising the work of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Midwestern United States. Narve announced that all delegates from Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Palatine will attend the assembly, and all local meetings will be cancelled this weekend.

Area Post Office Positions Open

New civil service exams have been scheduled to fill vacancies at postoffices in the northwest suburban area.

Applications are being accepted for the exam at the Arlington Heights postoffice. Those qualifying will be given employment in the Arlington Heights postoffice. Applicants must be at least 17.

VIRGINIA F. DODGE, postmistress in Arlington Height,s urged that interested persons in all areas surrounding Arlington Heights consider a job with the postal service.

"The postal service offers job security, regular step increases in salary, liberal vacations, paid sick leave, uniform allowance for carriers, longevity salary increases, incentive awards, promotional opportunity, low-rate life insurance and an up-to-date retirement system," she said.

A copy of the announcement on the exams can be obtained at any postoffice. B8)

Cana Conference Discussion Slated

The "crowd," dating, allowances, chores, discipline, and family prayer will be among the topics discussed on Sunday, May 17, at the third Cana conference held at St. James Catholic church, 821 N. State, Arlington Heights.

Rev. George Stier, pastor, has announced that the conference, covering the parent-teenager relationship, is open to all parents of children 10 to 18 years old.

Both Catholics and non-Catholics are invited to attend the sessions, running from 12:30 to 6 p.m.

THE CANA conference movement was begun in Chicago thirteen years ago to satisfy the needs of couples who wanted to sit down together and speak practically on the spiritual and natural aspects of married life. Since then an estimated 65,000 couples in the Chicago achdiocese alone have participated.

Father Stier added that the May 17 conference is to be conducted by a priest specially trained in what teenagers should receive from parents during adolescence.

The sessions, held in a comfortable, informal atmosphere, with refreshments served midway through the afternoon, will include a question and answer period.

FOLLOWING these, commented Father Stier, there is scheduled a renewal of marriage vows by the attendants to get off to a fresh start in making their families places where love, understanding and unity prevail.

Those wishing to attend are requested to telephone their reservations by May 14 to Barbara or Frank Kieca, CL 5-3792. Assisting them are Jane and Norb Gresey, general chair-couple; Pat and Ed O'Connor, publicity; Joan and Ray Schaefer, food; Kathy and Jim Stahl, arrangements; Jack and Mary Sullivan, literture: Carmela and George Barry, finance; Jeanne and Tom Hanlon, registration; and Tom and Mary Zimniewicz, Cana conference lay couselors. Hoffman Estates Girl, 7, Coloring Contest Winner

When it comes to coloring pictures, young seven-year-old Mary Josephine Clouser of Hoffman Estates can prove she is THE expert in the Paddock Publications area. Winner of the recent Howdy-Doody coloring contest sponsored by the Rolling Meadows shopping center merchants, the young miss was awarded a tape recorder.

Going on to the national Howdy-Doody coloring contest judging, Mary Josephine won two dolls as proof of her Honorable Mention award. The national contest, consisting of winners of local contests from across the nation, included more than a million entries.

THE ONLY winner in the Chicagoland area, Mary Josephine and her family were feted by the Continental Baking company of Chicago, sponsors of the television show. With her younger sister Cathy, 3, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Clouser of 142 Bradley lane, Hoffman Estates, the young coloring expert was taken on a tour of the Chicago baking plant followed by a dinner in a River Grove restaurant.

Awarded her prizes by representatives of the Rolling Meadows shopping center who had sponsored her in the national contest, Mary Josephine flashed a smile as winning as her coloring ability when posing for her prize-winning pictures.

A second-grade pupil at Fairview school in Hoffman Estates, Mary Josephine stressed she had not been taught her coloring art by either her school or her mother. The ability was "kinda learned by myself" she confessed, although her "mother did help a little" in teaching her. (B8

LITTLE CATHY CLOUSER, 3, will obviously share in the prizes won by her older sister, Mary Josephine, 7, in the nation-wide Howdy-Doody coloring contest. Mary Josephine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clouser, 142 Bradley lane, Hoffman Estates, won the first prize tape recorder in the local contest sponsored by the merchants of the Rolling Meadows shopping center. Going on to the national judging, which included more than a million entries, Mary Josephine won an honorable mention—and with the recognition a prize of two dolls.

Palatine Rd. Amendments Are Proposed

The county zoning board of appeals will hold a public hearing in the county building, room 535, on May 11 at 10:30 a.m. to take up the matter of amendments to the county zoning ordinance concerning Palatine rd. from Northwest hwy. to Milwaukee ave.

The proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance states:

"On Palatine road, Palatine road relocated, Palatine road service roads and Rand road from Northwest highway to Milwaukee ave., every building or structure hereafter erected shall observe a building set-back line of 30 feet from the ultimate right-of-way line as shown on the master zoning plan as hereby revised, which is located in the office of the building and zoning bureau of Cook county."

THE PROPOSED amendment continues:

"On the east side of Rand rd. from the junction with Palatine rd. north for a distance of 780 feet, the building set-back line shall be 144 feet from the present center line of Rand rd. On the east side of Rand rd., from the junction with Palatine rd., south for a distance of 560 feet, the building set-back line shall be 100 feet from the present center line of Rand rd."

All interested persons are invited to the public hearing and will be given an opportunity to be heard. (B8

Final Meeting Panhellenic Club

The Des Plaines Panhellenic Club will hold its final meeting of the season Thursday, May 14, at Weller's Restaurant on Waukegan rd., one block north of Dempster.

After luncheon and a short business meeting, the entire group will tour Avon Products. Luncheon will be $2.75. Reservations should be telephoned to June Wade VA 4-4064 or Barbara Savage LE 7-1644 by Monday May 11. (B8

COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Presents Top Stars of the Music World

Brought to Arlington Heights through Your Membership in the Community Concert Association

Memberships Available One Week Only May 11 through 16

You can see and hear, appearing in person in Arlington Heights the greatest stars of the world of music and entertainment.

For eleven seasons now, your Community Concert Association has brought you the world's leading singers, dancers, orchestras, pianists and other artists.

In the coming season you will have at least four concerts and your membership — costing only $7.50 for adults and $3.50 for students — is all you pay to attend all of them.

Yes, this is a bargain for the finest of entertainment — less than you usually would pay for a single concert downtown. More than that — your membership helps bring the outstanding musical talent of the world to your community, in easy reach of your children, students and others who seldom would have this cultural and life-enriching experience.

If you are not a member be sure to take advantage of the membership campaign next week—the only time when new memberships are available. At the same time regular members can renew their memberships. You will not want to miss the outstanding program which your Artists Selection Committee is planning for the twelfth season.

Your community concerts are held in the Arlington Heights high school. The complete program and the artists to appear next season will be announced one week after the membership campaign. Remember, season's memberships only are available. Admissions to single concerts cannot be sold.

The Community Concert Association was organized by a group of local citizens for the single purpose of bringing this fine entertainment to the community. There is no profit. Over 95 per cent of all dues are spent for talent, for the great artists you have read about and heard about and now will see—in person.

Be sure to get your membership — next week.

Suburbs Have Stake In Branch Banking Issue

by RICHARD C. HOFFMANN

The debate seems to be one of size vesus efficiency.

The issue: branch banking.

Supporters of the system whereby banks could extend their services elsewhere point to branch banking as the means to awakening a slumbering Chicagoland financial giant who has been nodding while other metropolises continue to grow with the times. They also say the hefty fellow would function more efficiently if not strapped by prohibitive legislation.

Yet to opponents the two words conjure up the ugly picture of an octopus extending its tentacles in many different directions.

It's possible that both views tend to be distorted by self-interest; but both groups see it even more in terms of self-survival.

And the controversy has been fanned to new verbal heights by reason of House Bill 108, sponsored by Rep. Paul J. Randolph (R. Chicago), which-if it passes legislative approval-would permit the people of Illinois to vote on branch banking at a referendum in 1960.

THE BILL IS aimed at Chicago banking exclusively: it would permit branch banking in Chicago and an area within 15 miles of the city's boundaries (placing it somewhere around Barrington in this area).

Yet foes of the bill-including some suburban banks-are numerous enough to feel confident that the legislation will never leave committee.

Their objections to the bill are reflected in the name of one committee organized to defeat the measure: The Committee of Bankers Against Monopoly Banking.

Proponents of the bill, including such influences in the suburban community as William M. Valiant of Prospect Heights and Robert H. Bukowski of Arlington Heights, however, contend that without branch banking Chicago will not be able to keep midwest industrial and commercial interests from taking their business elsewhere.

To William Busse, president of the Mt. Prospect State bank, though, the issue is this: "The concentration of wealth and power in the hands of a few is dangerous."

He feels the unit banks are doing an adequate job, but that permission of branch banking would allow the loop banks to "reach out for the business they know is out here."

VALIANT, ASSISTANT treasurer at Borg-Warner manufacturing corporation, is serving on the Citizens Committee for Limited Area Branch Banking, and the committee has mustered an impressive number of facts to the defense of branch banking.

For instance, the committee points out that the combined lending limits of Chicago's six largest banks total $60.3 million, which still is short of New York City's Chase Manhattan Bank's $63.1 million-plus lending limit.

The reason for such discrepancies, the committee says, is branch banking.

Because of a 1923 state statute, state-chartered banks in Illinois are barred from having branches. Under federal law, national banks may have branches only to the extent that state banks can, resulting in the condition which has prompted the Randolph bill.

As regards increasing lending limits, Busse says two other ways to increase them are either through more participation with other banks to pool resources in handling large accounts or through the expedient of a charter change.

"The big banks in New York are state banks which can lend up to 15 per cent on their capital surplus while the two largest banks in Chicago are national banks and therefore only have the lending capacity of 10 per cent of their capital surplus," Busse said.

BUT TO THESE considerations, Bukowski, an assistant cashier at Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, one of the two largest Chicago banks, answers that changing of charters would probably be "resisted as a matter of public policy."

"The National Banking Act was passed in 1863," Bukowski points out, "to correct serious evils. Political and public pressure was to have the sounder banks come under national charter.

"Then, too," he adds, "banks would be reluctant to switch charters even if allowed to because they often boast of 100 years of charter continuity."

But the important consideration to Bukowski, who worked for his father in a smaller unit bank, too, is that the people be allowed to vote on the issue.

"I think since the banking business is vested in the public interest, and there is controversy on the subject, it's better that it be decided by the voters than by a legislative body," he explained his position.

A REFERENDUM on the matter would be required if the bill gets legislative sanction because the state constitution requires it on anything concerning banking.

To the thought that more banks participate in handling a large loan, Bukowski's view was that a concern "would rather arrange it after one conversation with Chase National which could handle it more efficiently than do businesses with four or five banks."

Both Valiant and Bukowski pointed to a safeguard in the bill in which a bank cannot establish itself within one mile of another's main office. The new bank would also have to demonstrate to the satisfaction of state and national regulatory agencies that a need for such a bank exists.

Bukowski, who serves on the Arlington Heights village board of trustees, is of the opinion that branch banking could prove a the smaller banks could merge boon to suburban banks, too. "If you think big you'll be big," he said, explaining that some of to provide a broader base of capital for expansion.

HERE ARE SOME of the other arguments the citizens' committee for branch banking are using:

—Downstate Illinois (where opposition to the measure has also crystallized) in relation to population has eight to nine times the number of banks there are in Chicago or one bank for every 5,700 people.

—Population per banking unit here is 49,800 compared to New York City's 10,500 per banking unit, Detroit's 13,400 or San Francisco's 6,800.

—For every bank in Chicago, there are 2.1 savings and loan association, or more than twice the average in other large cities; using the same measuring stick, there is an equivalent 2.9 finance companies—again more than twice the national average.

—There are more licensed currency exchanges in Chicago—562-than in the rest of the United States (501), or 7.2 exchanges for each bank.

—In the period from 1949-57, the 100 largest banks in the country showed a deposit growth of 42 per cent; during the same period total industrial sales in the Chicago metropolitan area increased 80 per cent. But the combined deposit gain of the Loop's six largest banks in the same period approximated only 11 per cent compared with Los Angeles' 68 per cent, San Francisco's 62 per cent, Cleveland's 48 per cent, Detroit's 32 per cent and New York's 26 per cent.

—Five years ago, the two top Chicago banks rated fourth and eighth in the country; now they're eighth and tenth.

THIS IS WHY Valiant feels the major Chicago banks cannot grow with the economy and why companies in the midwest are looking elsewhere to borrow money "since credit is based on capital surplus."

"With the seaway being opened, the answer is not in forming more banks but in letting the existing banks expand to provide the necessary capital," Valiant feel.

The committee for branch banking also insists that employment will show dividends. A brochure it has prepared states: "Based on experience of other cities, an estimated 10,000 additional banking jobs would be created within five years."

It continues: "Their (branch banks) managers are in every respect local businessmen. By applying the parent bank's liberal policy in matters of credit (resulting from greater resources and experience in lending money), the branch bank brings to the neighborhood new borrowing opportunities for both individuals and commercial firms."

BUT J. R. Lawrence, president of First National Bank of Des Plaines, while displaying mixed emotions over the issue, voices a thought which troubles other critics of branch banking.

"They might use the broader argument about losing business but they have a selfish motive just like we have. Of course, you can't criticize the larger banks for wanting to increase business, and branch banking probably has helped some areas like California, New York and Michigan."

But he adds that he sees no reason for branch banking if the local banks are adequately meeting the needs of the community.

Mrs. Lottie Hohman O'Neill, state senator from DuPage county, is opposed to the measure because she thinks branches woud "wipe out local banks" in the process. She said the fact that the Illinois Bankers' association is against the legislation has influenced her decision.

Paul Collins, president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association, says that the associations as an industry are maintaining a neutral stance on the question. But he sees it as "the two large loop banks wanting to branch out into lucrative areas."

IF THE MEASURE passed, incidentally, it would also permit branch federal savings and loan offices. State savings and loan associations, however, would only theoretically need legislative approval for establishing branches.

Busse said the Chicago group of the Illinois Bankers' association made its sentiments plain by voting 50-10 against branch banking.

Opponents are also fearful that if the banking proposition passed (it would require a simple majority in the general November 1960 elections), it would lead to statewide banking.

Round 'n About Westgate

Cathy Nikoden celebrated her third birthday with an afternoon party. Sharing cake and ice cream with her were Marcia Hochstetler, Gary De Filippo, Gary Knight, Suzie and Jan Lazor, Annette Mongrain, Margy Barry, Chuckie Rudolphy and Candy Bukett. All the mothers were also present for coffee and conversation. The weekend of April 25 found Mr. and Mrs. George Cain of Detroit personally extending their best wishes to their granddaughter.

Rick Erickson was honored with a luncheon party marking his seventh birthday. Guests were David Quigley, Jerry Baschleben, Michael Kephart, Jay Schmitz, Tommy MacCarthy and Steven Bensinger. The boys were thrilled with the opportunity to inspect the Ericksons' new runabout the "Wefour" and then were escorted to the movies by Eddie Quigey.

Another new 7-year-old is Sheryl Smith. Joining her for lunch were Cathy, Renee and Cissy Johnston, Gail Collins, Barbara Madden, Sherry McMurry, eJanne Herrmann, Tina Michael and Brian. A trip to the movies completed the afternoon.

WEEKEND GUESTS in the home of Fran and Bill Johnston were Mr. and Mrs. William Weishar. They were pleased to visit their daughter and her family while on their way home to Crystal Lake, Wis. after spending several months in Florida.

Maxine Lilegdon was guest of honor at a baby shower given in the home of Donna Erickson last week. Well-wishing guests were Jane Quigley, Helen Scherrer, Lois Henn, Connie Madsen, Evelyn Volland and Nan Cerwin.

Blake Burkett had another "real neat" weekend visiting his best friend, Jimmy Scott, in Johnsburg. He left right after school Friday and was not returned home until bedtime Sunday.

Dinner at the Evergreens was the way one group of Westgaters chose to start a recent Saturday evening. Following dinner, the Dick Burketts, Bob Mayleys, Bud De Zonnas, Chuck Hansens, Dick Heidensons, George Rudolphys and the Gene Ballous attended the Junior Womans club dance.

GETTING together with Joyce and Skip Akerlund for cocktails were Carolyn and Bob Herigodt, Betty Lou and Bill Townsend and Carol and John Norenberg. Later they all headed for the Junior Women's dance in Barrington.

It's an even half-dozen at the home of Caryl and Wayne Wickless with the arrival of James Richard, born April 15. He was welcomed home by Kathy, 5, Susan and Steven, 4, Michael, 3, and Karen, 1.

The Graczyk place was really jumping April 24 after school as daughter, Karol, entertained 27 eighth grade friends from Our Lady of the Wayside. The hours of dancing were interrupted only to consume endless amounts of pizza, cokes and cake.

THE CONFIRMATION of Karen Scherrer called for a party April 26. Helen and Earl Scherrer, 222 N. Yale, had 25 adults and 16 children as guests for a buffet dinner commemorating the ceremony. Karen's aunt, Jane McDermott, served as her sponsor.

A dinner with eight guests preceded the confirmation of Mary Beth Heinz. Mrs. Moynihan was sponsor for her granddaughter.

A dinner party was also given to honor Barbara Callahan on the event of her confirmation. Her grandmothers, Mrs. Bernard Callahan Sr. and Mrs. Barbara Fick were in attendance as was her aunt, Marion Borgardt, who was her sponsor.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Johanson gave a dinner party to honor their granddaughter, Christine Graczyk, preceding her confirmation. The event made Karol mation. Karol Graczyk served as sponsor for her sister.

THE ANNUAL Westgate couples bowling banquet was held Saturday at Old Orchard country club. Two trophies for first place went to the team of Bert and Andy Graczyk and Carolyn and Dick Burkett. Winners of special awards were Carolyn Bolte, Elaine Maley, Ellie De Zonna, Jean Huster and Bud Romme. The team of Hansen and Zavison was awarded one for being uncontested holders of last place.

Marty Nicol, 200 S. Yale, entertained old friends from Westgate I last week. Bearers of a small gift for her new home were Elaine Hoppe, Lou Kuharich, Bert Graczyk, Estelle Baranowski, Elaine Maley, Jackie Rudolphy, Elinor Huff and Eleanor De Zonna.

A most welcome but unexpected dinner guest Sunday at the home of Bob and Dot Agnes was her brother, Andrew Verglarchik, of Euclid, Ohio.

Arlene and Marv Verbeck were pleased to have his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verbeck, of Moline visit them for the weekend. Mrs. Harry Pike of West Liberty, Iowa, also came with them and stayed for a week to visit her grandson, Kirk, and her daughter and son-in-law.

IRON RIVER Mich., is the favorite fishing retreat of Barney Callahan. He has just returned from a wonderful week of catching trout with his father, Bernard Sr., and his brother, Tom.

Last week Bernice Callahan had a luncheon get-together with three old friends. All the girls were co-workers in their premarital days and had many things of interest to discuss.

Rosemary Anne is the newcomer at the home of Dorothy and George Stefani. She was born April 25 and was welcomed home by Barbara, 9, Mary Kay, 6, and George Patrick, 3. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Switalla and Mrs. G. Stefani are the grandparents. G. Morretti is her great grandfather.

It was a busy weekend for Lois and Jack Madden. Friday they and their daughter, Barbara, attended a dance recital at La Follette park to see two nieces, Lyn and Adria Dupee, perform. This was followed by a birthday celebration for Lyn at the home of of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dupee. Saturday they attended a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Madden given to honor their daughter, Ellen, who made her communion. Sunday her nephew was honored. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koujourian gave a family dinner to mark their son, Kenny's, communion.

Bert Graczyk, Elinor Huff and Louise Smith were honored at a joint birthday celebration Monday. The recreation room at the Burkett home was nearly bursting at the seams as the 16 guests enjoyed an evening of cards and refreshments. (A

Library Has New Books on Gardening

Gardening — America's No. 1 hobby—has attracted an increasing number of enthusiasts in recent years.

And with this increased interest, according to Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian, requests have stepped up at the Arlington Heights Memorial Library for books on all phases of gardening—how to prepare the soil, what to plant, needed equipment, weeding, cultivating, harvesting, and how to combat insect pests.

Books at the library can help gardeners with many of their most vexing problems. Books can be obtained on landscaping, greenhouse gardening, and the building of garden furniture, fences, outdoor fireplaces, walks and patios.

SOME OF the recent books which will be of interest to gardeners include "The World in Your Garden," published by the National Geographic Society; "Garden Ideas and Projects" edited by R. D. Whittemore; "Evergreen and Flowering Shrubs for your Home," by Katharine Cloud; "Lawns and Landscaping Handbook" by T. H. Everett; "Your Garden in Town," by R. M. Peters and "New Ways to Control Weeds in your Lawn and Garden," by Dr. R. Carleton.

The library also receives a number of magazines on gardening, including "Better Homes and Gardens," "Horticulture," "Flower Grower," "African Violet," and "House and Garden." (A

Cancer Drive Fund $18,000

Charles Kimball, of Mt. Prospect, crusade chairman for the 1959 Cancer drive, reports that more than $18,000 have been collected up to date in the northwest suburbs during the drive.

The chairmen for the area are: Mrs. Charles Law, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Howard Brintlinger and Mrs. L. D. Bowker of Barrington; Stanley K. Webster of Des Plaines; John Antor, Elk Grove Village, Mrs. William L. Sutherland, Hoffman Estates; Mrs. Kenneth E. Johnson, Mt. Prospect; Eugene DiBlasi, Niles; Kenneth Utech, Palatine; Walter Warkentien, Park Ridge, Mrs. Robert Swanson, and Mrs. William O'Malley of Prospect Heights; Mrs. Fred H. Griesman, Rolling Meadows, Mrs. P. J. Meginnis, Schaumburg Center; Elic Nekimken, Wheeling; and Mrs. Louis Allen, Mt. Prospect is Hatlen Heights chairman.

DUE TO the increased interest in Cancer because of the illness of several prominent people in this country it was suggested that anyone who wishes to contribute can mail a check to the office at 121 S. Emerson st., Mt. Prospect. The money received will be credited to the village in which the contributor resides.

According to Victor Bedingfield, chairman of northwest chapter, grants amounting to $150,922 have been awarded for cancer research in Illinois. These awards are among the 124 cancer grants amounting to more than $2,350,000 announced by the American Cancer Society nationally. (B8

AIDED BY A YOUNG Rolling Meadows shopping center patron, Al and Signe Ingerbrigtsen of the center's Suburban Snack shop drew the winning names last Thursday in the three-week "Lucky Mother" contest sponsored by the shopping center merchants. First prize of $50 was won by Mrs. J. L. Jedd, 108 S. Brighton, Arlington Heights. Second prize of $30 was won by Mrs. Bea Kenowski, Box 285, Rt. 3, Palatine, while third place, winning $20, was named as Mrs. Helen Lohr, 29 S. Yale, Arlington Heights. The final drawing in the contest will be held tonight in the shopping center, with entries from the current week prize money. The prize award is automatically doubled if the contestant is in the shopping center during the drawing. The contest is the Rolling Meadows merchants' association preliminary "welcome" to Mothers' Day Sunday.

Boots & Saddle

by LIZ ALANNE

Many people who are fond of horses have yet to take a ride on one. There may be a variety of reasons for this, ranging from a fear of accidents to just plain economic problems.

Actually, riding is no more expensive than any other sport, and less than some for the person who rents horses to ride. Owning a horse can run into considerable expense but it's largely a case of how much an individual wants to put into it.

The only essentials for the rent-a-horse rider is a pair of riding pants and boots. Loose fitting blue jeans or slacks are the cause behind most saddle sores and chaffed legs.

AS FOR ACCIDENTS, the person who learns the fundamentals under a competent instructor is prepared for common hazards of riding and is less likely to be injured on a bridle path than he is driving from his home to the stable.

Every person who has ridden for any length of time has fallen from a horse - very few are even bruised. Most accidents occur on fractious, nervous, unbroken or highly sensitive horses. These horses are seldom used by renting riders and if they are, they are ridden by experts, who know just what to expect from the horse.

Age is no factor in learning to ride. The advantages and pleasures of riding are appealing to all ages. It provides outdoor exercise which is physically and mentally beneficial and riding can be enjoyed in a group or alone.

FOR THOSE who wish to specialize there is polo, jumping, hunting, reining, cutting or trick riding.

Any of the latter shouldn't be attempted until the fundamentals of riding are mastered although the length of time involved varies greatly with the individual.

Those who are looking for a sport suited to all or every member of the family might find that riding is the answer. (SP

A GIGANTIC WEATHER-VANE and illuminated sign now marks the Rolling Meadows shopping center. Erected last week, the 50-foot high sign, is still being wired. The leaf-form two-tone green sign is set atop a white column, and changes direction with the wind. Erected at a cost of $9,000 by Baird and Warner, shopping center operators, the sign is visible for a considerable distance identifying both the shopping center and the city itself.

Course Is Slated For Great Books Leaders

A Great Books leader training course for northwest suburbs was announced by John Kinnesy, 1015 Thacker, Des Plaines.

The course will begin 8 p.m., Friday, May 22, at the Des Plaines public library, 841 Graceland ave., and will continue for six sessions.

The second session will be 10 a.m. to noon, Saturday, May 23; and the third, 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday, the same day.

The next three will be held at the beginning of Memorial Day weekend, with the fourth session, 8 to 10 p.m., Friday, May 29; the fifth, 10 a.m. to noon, Saturday, May 30; and the concluding one, 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday, May 30.

THERE IS NO charge for the course, and there are no educational requirements.

The special meeting for all the Great Books leaders in the area was held to organize support for the training course and to introduce Dr. James L. Jarrett, president of the Great Books Foundation, to those participating in the local program.

Jarrett led a discussion of an article by Virginia Woolf titled "How to Read a Book."

The leader training course, given for the first time in this area, is sponsored by the Des Plaines public library and the local members of the Chicago Area leaders council.

Keating st., and Milton Farber, 5355 Conrad st., of Skokie; and Harold Levine, 310 Wilshire dr. East, of Wilmette.

Registration for the discussion leader training class can be made by contacting the Great Books Foundation, 37 S. Wabash ave., Chicago, DEarbron 2-5870, or the Des Plaines public library, VAnderbilt 7-5551.

Those interested are urged to inquire early so that the materials for the first three sessions can be mailed to them in time for adequate reading.

Congresswoman Is Set for Ceremony

Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church will be present at groundbreaking ceremonies for the $900,000 Northwest Suburban YMCA building soon to be a reality for families of this area.

Sunday, May 17, at 3 p.m. the first spadeful of ground will be turned over by Thomas M. Blake, chairman of the local YMCA board of directors, at the building site which is located on Northwest hwy. at Cambridge dr., just east of Mt. Prospect rd.

An impressive ceremony will follow with a dedication speech by Congresswoman Church and comments by leading citizens of this area. Jack Callaghan, well-known radio and TV announcer who is a member of the YMCA board of directors, will be master of ceremonies at the long-awaited event. The public is invited to attend.

CHAIRMAN of the 'Y' groundbreaking committee is Stanley C. Amren, vice president of Charles Bruning co. of Mt. Prospect. Groundbreaking plans were begun when the drive for building funds recently reached the final phase.

A total of $765,000 has been pledged to date toward the $900,000 goal. At present an "over the top" campaign is being conducted in five divisions: residential, commercial, industrial, special gifts and clubs or organizations. These divisions are seeking to raise the balance of the goal before May 17 in the seven neighboring communities which the 'Y' serves.

Those who have already pledged will be proud to be taking part in a project planned for all-family use as well as a meeting place for community groups. The building will feature an indoor-outdoor swimming pool, the only one in this area which will be open to public use. Families are urged to be prompt in their pledge payments so that construction may go ahead as scheduled. The building is expected to be ready for use early next year. (AF

Virginia Terrace News

Felicity, daughter of Marge and Dick Frisbie, 1512 W. Oakton, made her first communion last Saturday at St. James Catholic chruch, Arlington Heights, during a mass officiated by the Rev. George Stier. Visiting the Frisbies over the weekend in honor of the occasion were Felicity's great grandmother, Mrs. E. T. Flood, Chicago, and grandmother, Mrs. W. B. Rowbottom, Aurora. A family dinner celebration was held Saturday evening attended by the aforementioned, as well as by the Frisbies' other children, Ann, Tommy, Ellen and Paul.

Another communicant was David, son of Rita and Joe Talaber, 1207 N. Wilke, who, after the initial ceremonies at the mass, was treated to dinner out at the Rustic Manor, Gurnee. The family, which includes David's sister, Kathy, and brothers, Jamie and Mark, was accompanied by a priest friend who has known the Talabers for many years.

Last Saturday evening Jeanne and Arthur Sadowski, 1119 N. Wilke, entertained at a family barbecue in honor of their daughter, Christine, who celebrated her second birthday May 1. Included in the celebration were Christine's brothers, Thomas, Paul, and James, sisters, Joyce and Barbara, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frohnauer, Chicago, and her godparents, Cathy and Don Munk, and their family, of the Terrace. Friends, Lorraine and Ron Francis joined the group later for birthday cake.

JOANNE, daughter of Elenore and John Whipple, 1418 N. Race, celebrated her sixth birthday May 5 at a family dinner party, which included her sisters, Gayle and Judyth.

New residents of Virginia Terrace are Margaret and Calvin Karsner, 1310 N. Yale, who moved here from Chicago. Mr. Karsner is employed as a sales manager for Hinckley-Schmidt and company and Mrs. Karsner works for the northside newspapers. They are being visited by Mrs. Karsner's mother, Mrs. Miller, who is staying on for an indefinite time.

Sandy and David Yates, 1522 Oakton, were recently visited by Sandy's aunt, Mrs. E. W. Sanders, Colonial Heights, Va. Also enjoying her visit were the Yates' children, Leslie, Lisa and David.

Friday was a big day in the life of Leslie, as she was chosen by the children attending afternoon session of Wilson kindergarten as their May day queen. As she participated in the May day program, no 6-year-old could have looked sweeter, as she was a picture in her white nylon dress and crown of May day flowers.

Although Jill's sixth birthday, which was April 28, was delayed due to illness, her parents, Esther and Andy Turner, 1525 Clarendon, made her luncheon party last Friday one for her to remember. Wishing her a belated happy birthday were Dawn Dolejs, Kim Vogtritter, Joan Jacobsen, Linda Riefstahl, Joanne Whipple, Maura Silverman, Shirley Rozdalovsky, Jenny Staubitz, Kathleen Marie Gustke and her brother, Steven. Unfortunately, Jill's friend, Barbara Swanson, was ill and unable to attend.

MARY ANN and John Geer, 1515 Clarendon, treated their children, Nancy Jo, Barbara Lee and Laura Jean, to an afternoon at Brookfield zoo last Sunday, which was, in part, a celebration of Barbara Lee's third birthday. Returning home, they furthered the celebration by entertaining Barbara Lee's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Geer, at a turkey dinner.

Being 12 has its advantages says Kenny, son of Elaine and Bill Petrucci, 1115 N. Wilke. Foregoing the usual party, Kenny settled for a family dinner celebration on his birthday, May 5, at which he received a starter set of golf clubs, a much longed for gift. Also in on the festivities was his sister, Roxanne.

Last Thursday friends of Margaret Owen, formerly of the Terrace, received a delightful surprise when she and her daughter, Marcy, visited in the neighborhood.

Another receiving a sacrament of the Catholic church last Saturday was Marianne, daughter of Eileen and Raymond Brown, 1504 W. Oakton. The occasion was also marked at the Brown home with a family dinner celebration, which included Marianne's sisters, Kathleen, Barbara and Margaret Ann, and brothers, Jimmy and Ray, as well as her godmother, Miss Dorothy Green, Chicago, and other relatives.

REV. STIER bestowed the sacrament of first holy communion to Mary Kay, daughter of Dorothy and Bill Henneman, 1200 N. Chicago, last Saturday. After the church ceremonies, a breakfast was held at the Henneman home for relatives, which included her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Alice Peters, aunt, Miss Shirley Peters, paternal grandfather, Adam Henneman, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Scheid, and family of Chicago.

Mary Kay shared the day's festivities with her sister, Patricia, who was 6 May 6. In the afternoon, the guests, together with Patricia's brother, Michael, and sisters, Mary Kay, Diane, Christine and Eileen, joined in wishing her a happy birthday and sharing the birthday cake and ice cream.

Leslie Ann, daughter of Charlene and Leslie Bang, 1315 N. Illinois, recently celebrated her eighth birthday at an afternoon party, with a doll cake as the center of attraction. The children played games and received favors.

LAST SATURDAY was also Leslie Ann's communion day, which was highlighted by an open house, at which a buffet supper was served. Guests included Leslie Ann's great grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Hanus, Chicago, godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanus, as well as other aunts, uncles and family relations. Her sister and brother, Dianne and Thomas, were also in on the festivities.

Pauline and John Noerenberg, 1235 N. Race, and their children, Johnny, Tommy and Susan, went to Milwaukee for a weekend visit with Pauline's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lazarus, which included a celebration of Easter, according to the Greek Orthodox rites, which the family observes. The Noerenberg family returned to Arlington Heights early Sunday afternoon, so that they could see Johnny in his role in the operetta presented by his Wilson school class.

Virginia and Roy Pemberton, 1265 N. Race, informed their children, Johnny and Janice, that they had a new brother, Jeffrey Allen, April 29. He weighed 7 pounds 3 ounces when born in Hinsdale sanitarium. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pemberton, Chicago, and Mrs. F. E. Bolton, Chicago, who has been staying at the Pemberton home with the children, and will remain to help Virginia for a short time after the homecoming.

Table Settings For Garden Club

Pointers on table settings will be given by Mrs. Herman Berthold Jr. at the May 13 meeting of Scarsdale Estates Garden club. She will also act as judge of the settings that members will set up between 9 a.m. and noon in the home of the hostess, Mrs. W. Hornbostel, 815 S. Burton, Arlington Heights. The meeting will begin at 1 p.m. (A

Lutherans' Fund Campaign Completed, Net $515,000

In a special drive entitled 'Operation 156,' St. Peter Lutheran church of Arlington Heights exceeded its goal of $400,000 by 129 per cent.

The building fund drive was launched on April 5 with an informative dinner for the congregation and concluded last Friday, May 1, with a special report meeting. It was reported that $515,000 had been received in pledges or cash toward the congregation's building project.

The subscription was given by more than 800 families and individuals within the congregation and will be received within the next three years. 'Operation 156' was the theme of the campaign, indicating 156 opportunities of regular and sacrificial giving unto the Lord for his church and cause.

HEADING THE month long drive were Kurt Meyer and Ed Grim, co-chairmen; Elmer Ruhnow, advance gifts chairman; Al Drewes, special gifts chairman; and George Rateike, general teams chairman. More than 275 members took an active part in the drive as solicitors.

At the conclusion of the campaign on Friday evening, the committee and solicitors presented the Pastor, the Rev. Robert O. Bartz, with a deep-freeze in appreciation of his acting as director of 'Operation 156'.

The congregation expects to break ground for its new million dollar project including church, school, administration building, and activity building on Sunday, June 14.

Good Adventure Stories Popular

In an age when frontiers are constantly expanding, the demand for good, true adventure stories continues to be high. According to Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian, the Arlington Heights Memorial Library has received many fine titles recently to help satisfy this almost insatiable demand.

Of high interest at the moment is "Nautilus 90 North," Commander William R. Anderson's account of "Operation Sunshine," the under-the-ice North Pole crossing. Anderson tells of his training for this unique command of an atomic submarine, all the secrecy surrounding it, the team work of the crew, and the great adventure itself.

Activities during the International Geophysical Year have brought a heightened interest in the South Polar region. "The Crossing of Antarctica," by Sir Vivian Fuchs and Sir Edmund Hillary, provides armchair explorers with the same sense of shared adventure as accounts of the Everest scaling. Despite characteristic British understatement and playing down of heroism, the excitement of the telling of this incredible journey leaves the reader breathless.

OF EQUAL fascination is Commander Paul Frazier's "Antarctic Assault," a simple and clearly written account of American Exploration and scientific observation at the South Pole. He devotes a major portion of his book to the American IGY expedition, "Operation Deep-Freeze II," which he commanded.

Another recently published book —a combination of flying and Arcti cexploration makes "Come North With Me," by Bernt Balchen, still another popular adventure tale. His lively book includes exploring with Admiral Byrd, scouting the area for the base at Thule, and OSS air missions into occupied Norway during World War II.

Frontiers of outer space are being topped by people like Frank Everest, author of "The Fastest Man Alive." As chief of flight testing operations for the U.S. Air Force, Everest was the first man to fly faster than 1,900 miles per hour. His account of his experience at speeds that blister the paint on the wings makes thrilling reading.

And the old frontiers never seem to lose their fascination. Books like "Trigger Marshal," by Homer Croy take the reader back to pioneer days in the west and northwest and the adventures of courageous or notorious frontiersmen.

The Arlington Heights Memorial Library can supply adventure to suit any taste. (A

Set Poppy Days In Arlington Heights

Poppy Days will be held in Arlington Heights on May 15 and 16, according to Elaine Allison, campaign chairman for the annual sale.

The poppies are replicas of a small crimson flower that grows in "Flanders Field" and they are symbolic of the reverence for soldiers who died in battle.

Disabled veterans made the poppies and receive pay for their work. A)

Pancake Commands Spotlight Saturday

by LOIS SEILER

The pancake lore reliable but seldom glamorized s into the spotlight this Sa with the Aunt Jemima Pa mboree.

Aunt Jemima e at the Arlington high school cafeteria baking and serving pancakes to all comers from 7 in the morning until 7 at night.

Sponsored by the Little League, proceeds of Saturday's Jamboree will benefit the League's program during the coming year.

WITH JUST a little planning, you, too, can have a pancake festival at your house. There are almost as many recipes, both plain and fancy, for pancake dishes as three are days in the year. Serve them for breakfast, Sunday night supper or when guests drop in.

Emphasis may be put on either the topping you serve for your pancakes or the filling. The old sidekicks — ham, bacon or sausage — also come in for their fair share of sparkle with pancake recipes.

To make a sure-fire hit with your family, try these Pancake Sausage Roll-Ups. Prepare pancakes according to directions for Aunt Jemima Pancakes or Buckwheats. Roll each baked pancake around a pan-fried pork sausage link and serve them topped with warm applesauce.

ANOTHER delightful flavor combination for luncheon or supper is to spread steaming hot pancakes generously with cottage cheese. Top with another pancake, sandwich style. Then spoon fresh strawberry sauce over all.

A delicious pancake dessert is apple Roll-ups with Frosting. This delightful dessert appeals to young and old alike.

Make your Aunt Jemima perfect pancakes according to the directions on the package. Then make Apple Filling and Frosting, following these directions:

Apple Filling

4 cups sliced raw apples
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup water

Combine all ingredients and cook until apples are just tender. Place 2 spoonfuls of hot filling across each hot baked pancake; roll up.

Frosting

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup lemon juice
1¼ cups confectioners sugar

Place pancake rolls in a shallow baking dish in slow oven, 325 degrees, for a few minutes to keep warm until serving time.

For frosting, combine all ingredients and dribble this over pancakes.

Just For Fun

Baton Twirling, Marching Featured in New Program

by JOEL CARTER

(Carter is superintendent of recreation for Arlington Heights park district.)

Baton twirling and marching is one of the new and unique activities which will be in the park district's summer recreation program. With classes being held on playgrounds throughout the village, girls from age six to 14 can have the fun of learning a glamorous and exciting skill. What little girl has never, accompanied dad to a football game and come away without a secret desire to lead the band in a majorettes tights?

The new activity is a result of the district's emphasis on enjoying doing as well as playing. Casual play is fine and necessary and provided by our playground facilities, but, for lasting satisfaction, there is nothing like using the summer's idle hours to develop a new talent.

A talent like baton skills can open many doors to new enjoyment and achievement. A girl who takes up baton twirling this summer might some day lead a Big Ten band at halftime. Very likely some of the girls will grow into Arlington High School's award winning Cardettes.

THE PROGRAM will be directed by "Miss Jennie," Mrs. Jennie England, who coaches the Cardettes. Judy Schmoyer, a Cardettes trouper and daughter of the local high school bandmaster will assist her.

"Miss Jennie" is a speech and hearing therapist in nearby schools and formerly director of Northwestern university's pom pom corps. She conducts a twirling school in Arlington Heights and several other suburbs.

Miss Pennsylvania of 1957, the attractive "Miss Jennie" has appeared in Miami's Orange Bowl, reigned as Queen of the National Baton Twirling Jamboree, toured with the USO, and won many awards for her talents and teaching personality.

THE BENEFITS of baton work are more than recreational. It can be a strenuous physical activity which develops coordination, muscle tone, poise, and rhythm.

At the end of the summer the girls will present part of the Gymnarama, a spectacular of tumblers, dancers, and twirlers. Every regular participant will perform in the show.

A recent issue of the Arlington Herald carried a story about a new type of playground which is highly popular in Denmark. It is essentially a junky ard. Surprising as it sounds, the idea is basically sound. Young children's play is mostly imaginative and includes fascination for the big and distant things of the adult world — trucks, machines, half finished buildings. Play is preparation for life; should it not include the real materials of the world?

THE DANES have placed old automobiles, odd pieces of metal and fiber, bricks, timbers, wheels and the like in an enclosed lot on many playgrounds. They first remove any safety hazards and then strew the gear about and let the kids do with it what they will. The children flock to it and invent countless diversions.

The Arlington Heights Park District isn't planning any junkyards in our nice village. There are too many problems, scenic and otherwise, but it is an interesting thought. Recreation is an art and better techniques are always being developed.

A MAN HAS ONLY ONE MOTHER

No wonder that millions of men attend church on Mother's Day who are not very regular other days. It is a gesture of honor and thanksgiving. On this day, American churches defend the ideals for which she gave her life. On this day, our church decorates its oldest mother in honor of all mothers.

Prison Camp Play Slated For Three Performances

"Short-lived, but successful," is the description given the two-weekend, three performance policy in effect with the opening this week of "Stalag 17" at Arlington high's Little Theatre. The all-male comedy is scheduled for May 8, 9, and 16 at 8 p.m.

The one-year policy of having the plays on two weekends was put into effect this year to give the players more experience. Rehearsals are resumed after the two performances the first weekend, then the show is presented on Saturday of the following week. Although satisfactory, the experiment is being abandoned after this year to relieve the problem of finding enough weekends to schedule the many high school activities.

WELL-KNOWN by movie-goers, "Stalag 17" was originally presented on Broadway in 1953, directed by Jose Ferrer, for a run of five hundred performances.

"Stalag 17" has as its scene the prison camp which once held its authors, Donald Bevan and Edmund Trzcinski, for 15 and 25 months near the end of World War II.

Hunger, boredom, and resistance to the German captors occupy the lives of the American prisoners. Wisecracks and horseplay provide the men with their best method of release from boredom until they become aware that a spy has been planted among them to betray their secrets, their escape plans.

Suspected of treachery by the men is cynical Albert Sefton, played by Randall Bolsinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bolsinger, 514 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect. As the barracks leader and security man are Philip Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Smith, 210 E. Golf rd., Mt. Prospect, and Fred Bedford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bedford, 1302 W. Sigwalt, Arlington Heights.

PROVIDING comedy as the barracks clowns are Frank Gaides, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gaides, 914 Nawata, Mt. Prospect, and Jerry Pinkham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Pinkham, 6 Audrey lane, Mt. Prospect.

Charles Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orion Morris, 409 We-Go Trail, Mt. Prospect; Jim Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Sherman, 633 S. Beverley, Arlington Heights: Jay Busse, son of Henry Busse, 210 N. Pine, Arlington Heights; Wallace Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mitchell, 916 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights; Stephen Colvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Colvin, 1319 Watling rd., Arlington Heights play Americans occupying the same barrack.

Others playing American prisoners are J. Michael Woodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woodworth, 616 Sha-Bonee, Mt. Prospect; Tom Haworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Haworth, 108 Wilshire lane, Arlington Heights; Donn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Edward Smith, 221 Wilshire, Arlington Heights; and Arthur Nyblin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nyblin, 2406 Wing, Rolling Meadows; Mark MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDonald, 606 Wilshire, Arlington Heights; Vince Bartle, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bartle, 501 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights; Charles Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mills, 402 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

AS THE RULING Germans are Wayne Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, 226 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights; Michael Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Q. M. Lambert, 519 S. Pine, Arlington Heights; Kurt Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Zimmerman, 105 S. Vail, Arlington Heights.

Alternating in the role of the one civilian in the play are James F. Bower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bower, 13 Leon Lane West, Prospect Heights; and Leslie Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gallagher, 647 Newbury place, Arlington Heights. Alternating in the role of a German guard is Terry Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Conner, 1117 W. Burgoyne, Arlington Heights.

"Stalag 17" is being presented by students of Arlington and Prospect high schools. Reserved seats are available from cast members or by phoning either of the schools for reservations. Tickets are available for May 8 and May 16. The performance of Saturday, May 9 is now sold out except for 20 seats which will be sold at 7:30 on the night of the performance. (ACM

TENSIONS MOUNT to the breaking point as Randall Bolsinger (second from left) is accused of betraying his own men by Frank Gaides in "Stalag 17," spring production of Arlington high school groups. Others pictured are Jerry Pinkham, Mike Woodworth, Steve Colvin, and Phil Shaw. The lusty comedy of World War II prison life opens May 8.

NAZI INTERROGATION methods as demonstrated by Kurt Zimmerman wielding the butt of a rifle on orders from German captain Wayne Meyer as Mike Lambert assists in questioning barracks leader Phil Shaw in "Stalag 17," the all-male show scheduled for performances at Arlington high school May 8, 9, and 16. The play is directed by Douglas Murphy, dramatics instructor.

Water Case To Be Heard On May 18

The week of May 18 has been circled on the Supreme court calendar for oral arguments over suburban rights to Lake Michigan water.

Arguments will be heard on the motion of Illinois Atty. Gen. Latham Castle for permission to file a complaint in the high court itself for a declaratory judgment against the six midwest states attempting to block the water diversion move.

FOR WISCONSIN, Minnesota, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and principally Michigan have objected to the plan whereby the Tree Towns water commission (Elmhrust-Villa Park-Lombard) would tap Lake Michigan at Glencoe to replace water supplies in falling wells.

A contemplated 25-mile pipeline costing more than $18,000,000 would also supply Elk Grove Village, Bensenville and Addison.

The Tree Towns commission was preparing to sell $17,750,000 worth of water bonds last October to build its water system when the attorney general of Michigan wrotes its officials threatening proceedings to prevent such a plan.

Castle—in his brief—contended that this action and similar action by other Great Lakes states' attorneys general effectively blocked sale of the bonds.

THE ILLINOIS attorney general stated that a decision is urgently needed so that the bonds can be put on the market and the new water diversion plan implemented.

He claimed that tapping of the lake would "be so insignificant that its effect on the levels of the Great Lakes cannot be measured."

The high court also invited the United States solicitor general, J. Lee Rankin, to file a brief and participate in the oral arguments.

IN A CASE recently involving metropolitan Chicago's use of Lake Michigan water for domestic purposes, Rankin recommended that the high court reject the demands of the same six states for restriction on the city's use of the water.

It has been pointed out that the suburban plan for acquiring adequate water supply would serve a population of 100,000; the system is designed to meet anticipated needs until the year 2000. (B-8

Must Rebuild Tennis Team

—For the first time in 29 years, Northwestern university's tennis team will be under the direction of a new coach when it opens its season against Wisconsin at Evanston Friday.

The new Wildcat coach is Clare Riessen, formerly of Hinsdale High School, who has replaced the late Paul Bennett who had been coach of the team since 1930. Bennett died of a heart attack last January.

Riessen takes over Northwestern's tennis helm after a successful career at Hinsdale where his teams have won the Illinois state championship the past three years.

The new coach faces a big rebuilding problem in his first season as a result of the graduation of three lettermen from last year's team that placed fourth in the Big Ten.

Riessen will fashion his first team around three lettermen, Vandy Chistie, Gay Messick and Steve Hibben. Chritie, a senior, held down the No. 1 spot last year but is being hard pressed by Mesick, a junior, for the top position this spring. Both were top ranking players in high school and will provide the Wildcats with capable contenders in the No. 1 and 2 singles positions. They will also team up in doubles.

Hibben who played No 6 singles last year will probably move up to the No. 3 spot this spring. He won two matches in his division in the Big Ten championsnips last spring. Behind Hibben is Shin Torii, a junior from Kawanishi, Japan who is making his first appearance on the team. Other candidates, all new additions, are George Hitler, a senior, and Steve Bard and Tom Johnson, juniors.

9 Southern Grid Tilts

—A nine-game schedule has been approved for Southern Illinois university's footb all team.

Only newcomer to the slate, announced today by the SIU athletic department, is Bowling Green, Ohio, University. Southern will entertain the Falcons of the Mid-America Conference Nov. 7.

The Salukis, who compiled a 7-2 mark last fall, will be coached for the first time by Carmen Piccone, who was named to the post last winter. Some 65 candidates are now working with Piccone in spring practice.

100 St. Colette Women In Unique Pilgrimage

by HELENE BRISTOL

Demonstrating their firm belief that the good fortune of St. Colette Catholic parish in Rolling Meadows was a direct result of the many prayers and spiritual intervention of the Poor Clare Colettine nuns of the cloistered Monastery of the Immaculate Conception in Chicago, a pilgrimage of almost 100 members of the St. Colette Catholic Women's club was made recently to the monastery.

In spite of the distance between the Rolling Meadows parish and the Poor Clare monastery at 5245 S. Laflin, Chicago, there are close ties between the two religious groups. It was at the suggestion of the Poor Clare nuns that the local parish was named St. Colette by the late Cardinal Stritch.

St. Colette, termed a great reformer of the Poor Clare order and a contributor to the end of much religious unrest in her time, is highly cherished by the Chicago Poor Clare nuns who follow the Order of St. Clare, Reform of St. Colette.

The recent good fortune of St. Colette parish, which serves Plum Grove, Rolling Meadows and south countryside areas, in gaining an order of sister to operate a grammar school is attributed to the prayers of the parishioners and the Poor Clare nuns by Rev. James F. Halpin, pastor. In addition, the teaching order — the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary — has announced plans to build a Catholic girls high school on the St. Colette parish property. The high school will be built by the order without cost to the local parish and will serve many surrounding communities as well as Rolling Meadows.

LEADING THE pilgrimage to the Poor Clare monastery was Fr. Halpin, pastor of St. Colette. Fr. Halpin, who had visited the monastery many times in childhood, said his second mass as an ordained priest at the Poor Clare chapel 26 years ago. At the close of the pilgrimage Fr. Halpin said his first Benediction since his assignment as pastor of the new St. Colette parish. Regular Benediction services are not held at St. Colette church since masses are held Sunday mornings in a public school and no site is available for afternoon benediction services.

At the benediction service in the monastery Fr. Halpin made a public announcement regarding the reason for the pilgrimage, paid homage to the Poor Clare nuns for their help and publicity thanked the monastery sisters for their many favors.

The group of women were conducted through the public sections of the monastery since only cloistered nuns are allowed to enter within the cloister areas. A group of extern sisters of St. Clare greeted the visitors and conducted the tour. Colored slides were shown of the life within the cloister and coffee was served to the visitors.

HIGHLIGHT OF the pilgrimage was the audience given the women by Rev. Mother M. Philomena, abbess of the monastery. Living within the cloister, the mother abbess normally only sees members of her immediate family three times during the year. The address and the audience with her was to be considered a high privilege by the members of St. Colette, Fr. Halpin stressed.

The mother abbess spoke on the life of St. Coletta, stressing the many miracles attributed to her and her devotion to mothers and little children. She pointed out St. Colette was considered a patron of expectant mothers and newborn infants. She also pointed out the value of cloister life, the type of women who most successfully made cloistered nuns and the "great happiness" which prevailed within the cloistered community contrary to many popular misconceptions.

The Order of Poor Clares is designated as an order of austerity and penance but "not harsh rigidity," she indicated. Among exterior penances practiced by the community are fasting, perpetual abstinence from meat, rising at midnight for matins and lauds, going barefoot, silence and the common life. These demands on human nature "liberate the inner spirit," leaving a feeling of "joyous liberty" for the close observance of the Gospel, the mother abbess emphasized. Booklets and religous medals regarding St. Clare, St. Coletta and the Poor Clare order were given to the women by the mother abbess.

THE CLOISTER nuns of the Chicago monastery since June, 1919, have held Perpetual Adoration of the blessed Sacrement. A constant "chain" of praying nuns maintains a vigil before the Host in the Monstance in the chapel—a continuous watch over the exposed "Body and Blood of Christ" in Catholic theology.

A donation of $200 was given to the monastery by Fr. Halpin and the club members, The order lives entirely on alms from the public and has no resources of its own.

The pilgrimage was organized by Mrs. Charles B. McCormick Jr. Two buses, as well as several supplementary private cars, took the women to the south-side monastery. (B8

A "COFFEE BREAK" for the almost 100 members of St. Colette Catholic Women's club was held during the recent tour of the Poor Clare monastery, 5245 S. Laflin, Chicago. Serving the coffee to the visitors is one of the young postulants of the order. A series of colored slides showing all phases of life within the cloister was a highlight of the pilgrimage, made to offer appreciation and tribute to the Poor Clare nuns who not only suggested the name of the parish but have continually supported the parish program in their prayers.

Kindergarten Registration Set May 7

Registration and round-up days have been set for kindergarten enrollment in Arlington Heights public schools.

Most of the parents have been notified, but the school system asks those who have not received instructions and registration blanks to call at the school their child will attend.

The dates are: May 18, North School; May 19, Ridge; May 21, Dryden; May 22, Park; May 25, Windsor, and May 26, Westgate.

To be eligible for public school kindergarten next fall, a child must be 5 on or before Dec. 2, 1959, and to enter first grade next year, a child must be 6 on or before Dec. 2, 1959. A)

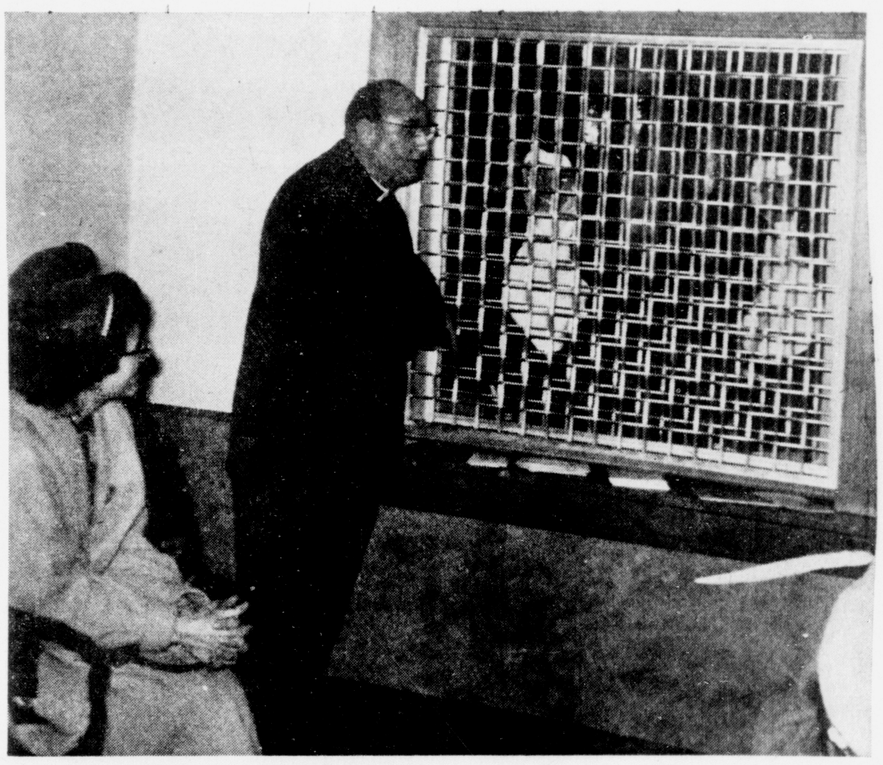
By the time a family acquires a nest egg these days, inflation has turned it into chicken feed.

REPLACING THE BLESSED Sacrament in the Monstrance above the altar in the public chapel of the Poor Clare Monastery, Rev. James F. Halpin draws Benediction service to a close. The Monstrance leads through to a cloistered chapel altar where the Poor Clare Nuns maintain Perpetual Adoration. The benediction service was the closing highlight to a recent pilgrimage of 100 members of the St. Colette Catholic Women's club to the south-side Chicago monastery. (K



THE RARE PRIVILEGE of an audience was given by Rev. Mother M. Philomena, abbess of the Poor Clare cloistered monastery, to visiting members of the St. Colette Catholic Women's club. The pilgrimage by almost 100 women was made to pay tribute to the cloistered nuns who are credited by Rev. James F. Halpin, pastor, with the naming and the success of the new parish. With Sister Bernadette (right) the mother abbess addressed the visiting women and Fr. Halpin on the cloistered life, on St. Colletta and on the importance of a happy home life.

SISTER CLARE, an extern Poor Clare sister, poses beside the shrine to St. Francis of Assisi in the public section of the monastery garden of the cloistered Monastery of the Immaculate Conception in Chicago. Sister Clare was one of a group of extern Poor Clare nuns who acted as guides to members of the Rolling Meadows St. Colette Catholic Women's club who recently visited and toured the monastery to pay tribute to the assistance given the parish by the Poor Clare nuns. He Won't Talk About His 'Heavy Earnings' --- Yet

Brian Locke, 1090 S. Haddow, Arlington Heights, makes more money per hour now than he possibly ever will the rest of his life — in fact, more than most men can ever hope to make. But just try and get him to talk about it.

It's not easy in his case, because while he can understand a good deal of what goes on, he's at a loss for words, or at least enough to put together a coherent sentence.

You see, Brian is one of Patricia Stevens favorite models, and while most of that company's employes are streamlined, elegant looking young ladies standing over 5'6" tall, this miniature blue-eyed, blond haired beauty is only 18 months old and stands only 32 inches high in his bare baby feet.

HIS SPOKESMAN, confidante and special bodyguard is Arnold Locke, owner of the Locke Patrol service and Detective Agency with offices in Palatine. As far as Brian is concerned of course, it's the father role, not the detective part that's important.

Brian's modeling career actually began about three months ago from a conversation at the Chez Paree.

His father, who was on a case which took him to the nightspot, was having dinner with Jack Eigen, well known MC and interviewer and George Liberace, brother of the famous pianist.

THEY BEGAN talking about kids and Locke, proud father that he is, whipped out some pictures of his son.

"That boy ought to be a model," said Eigen. Sitting at a table nearby was an executive of the Patricia Stevens modeling agency. Eigen, who knew the man, called him over and showed him the pictures.

The executive told Locke he thought the boy had "it" and to bring him down to the studio.

They did, and the company found that the 23 pound babe was a "natural."

He isn't camera shy, he'll work with anyone, but most important, he goes into natural poses at the urgings of a prompter, and doesn't attempt to show off.

When a child knows he's in the spotlight, he usually attempts unnatural poses which would make him useless to a modeling agency.

MOST OF BRIAN's work so far has been for advertising posters and magazine layout. His parents are not allowed to remain in the same room where the pictures are being snapped, and it's a rare child who won't react to this in some way.

For his effortless efforts, Brian is handsomely compensated at a rate of $15 for the first hour, and $10 per hour for the second two hours if that much time is needed. If he "works" one minute over one hour, it's an additional $10.

He poses on an average of twice a week for about two hours each time. A child that age can pose at most about three hours a day, but no studio will let a baby work that many hours.

THE CHECKS made out directly to Brian, are going into U.S. Savings bonds. Brian's mother Gloria, who incidentally looks like a model was asked if she would model as a housewife. She turned the offer down however, preferring the actual chore to the pretending.

That old joke about my kid being two years already and laying around the house all day like a bum just doesn't apply in this case.

Soph Nine Wins Three In Conference Play

A new pitching find and the squad's ace right handler combined to hurl three straight victories for Arlington's sophomore baseball team as "Bus" Ormsbee's nine moved up in the WSC standings.

The mound discovery was Dick Palmer. The ace was Gregg Beckway.

Palmer turned in two victories over Riverside and Downers Grove, the former a hitless performance for six innings, and Beckway set Glenbard back, 6-1.

PALMER FANNED eight and walked none in the 13-0 decision over Downers last Thursday and also collected four hits in four trips to the plate. Arlington countered a trio of runs in the second, fourth, fifth, and seventh frames and initiated proceedings with a single tally in the first.

Fred Empkie and Keith Voigt each pounded three hits for the young Cards and Bill Zadel and Don Boedeker added two each to the 16 hit attack. Fred Froyd contributed a key triple.

Beckway fanned ten in the impressive 6-1 win over Glenbard Friday. Gregg hurled shutout ball after allowing a first inning run.

EMPKIE AND Zadel had two hits each for Arlington to pace the six run attack.

Monday Palmer hurled no-hit ball for six innings before a streak of wildness necessitated relief work by Beckway. With no outs in the seventh Riverside's Dan Ulrich tagged Beckway for the loser's first and only hit.

Gary Erwin with a double and two runs batted in sparked Arlington and Voigt added a double. Once again, Zadel was a leading sticker with two safeties.

75 Boys Turn Out For Park District's Recreation Relays

Over seventy-five boys entered the Arlington Heights Park District's Recreation Relays last Saturday. The informal track meet took place at Recreation Park with events held in three divisions. Boys in the third grade and under competed in the junior division, fourth, fifth and sixth in the intermediate division, and seventh and eighth in the senior division.

Winners were given small loving cups. In the junior division the winners were: broad jump, Lee Brown, 9' 3"; 50 yard dash, Larry Mueller, 7.5; broomstick javelin toss, Bill Von Boeckman, 45'; and hop, step, and jump, David Schatt, 13' 10".

IN THE intermediate division first places were made by: broad jump, Bruce Holst, 11-6; 100 yard dash, Mike Brazean, 14.0; shot put, Ralph Morriselt, 21-5; distance run, Scott Brown; broomstick javelin toss, Mike Williamson, 48'; hop, step, and jump, Don Grate, 15' 11".

Senior winners were: broad jump, Larry Corrado, 12' 8"; 100 yard dash, Joe Mueller, 13.5; shot put, Garry Kuffer, 33' 4"; distance run, Jim Freiyer; 220 yard dash, Bill Roasch, 35.5; hop, step, and jump, Frank Wittor, 17' 11".

School for Retarded Children Is Re-Named

Clearbrook School (for retarded children) is the new name selected by the directing group of the old Community school for Retarded Children in Rolling Meadows.

The new name was accompanied by the election of a new slate of officers headed by Robert Weed as president. Other new officers are Mrs. William N. Senofsky, vice president; Mrs. W. R. Lamb, secretary; and Mrs. Arthur Krause, treasurer.

THE SCHOOL, now in its fourth year of operation, is currently working on a building program. Interested individuals are invited to join the governing parent group. In addition the group is developing a Board of Directors of businessmen from the area to aid in the school building program.

The school is currently held in space donated by the Community church of Rolling Meadows for a three hour period each day. Children attending the school come from the entire area, with students ranging from Wheeling to Hoffman Estates and as far as Fox River Grove. (AKP

Gifted Child Program

William Fritsche, curriculum consultant for district 25 schools, and Richard Hetke, chairman of the gifted child steering committee and principal of Ridge school, will speak at 8:15 p.m. May 12 in the cafeteria of South Junior high school. They will review their newly-prepared manual, "Gifted Child Program Handbook." There will be a question period following. This is the last meeting of the year to be sponsored by the Exceptional Child Study group.

Bundle Days

Today and tomorrow are Bundle Days when the annual collection of discarded but useful clothing is made at each school. Save the Children Federation is the recipient.

TV Tips

Edward L. Morris, director of development for Channel 11, WTTW, Chicago, pointed out that parents' greatest weapon in securing the best in television, books, movies and magazines is the use of indirect persuasion, in his talk at South Junior high. Curiosity and excitement can be controlled by parents though the young adult cannot be coerced into good habit patterns. Channel 11's goal is to make education absorbing and interesting.

Panel leaders summarized group discussions after buzz sessions. Parents were in agreement that homework took preference over TV viewing. While it was generally agreed that censorship of TV and movies is a parental responsibility, there was feeling that movie theaters could do a better job of presenting wholesome movies and that a column in the Arlington Heights Herald suggesting the better programs for TV viewing might be helpful.

America Underselling?

Speaking as a social scientist, Miss Wilma Lux of Roosevelt university said at Westgate's meeting she is concerned for Americans and their inferiority complex. She feels we are underselling our culture and educational system.

During her stay in England as an exchange teacher, Miss Lux was able to examine the English educational system closely. Since 1945 English children are able to attend school up to the age of 16, an increase of four years. Most learning is by repetition. School libraries are rare and considered to be a goal toward which to strive. Other objectives are reduction in class size from 50 to 35, a raise from pitifully low teacher salaries, and the relaxing of Latin as a college requirement.

In conclusion Miss Lux said that Americans should be proud of their educational standards; there is nothing in English systems worthy of our envy.

Growth or Gifted?

Individual differences defined in terms of rate of growth must be understood before they can be treated effectively and fairly, said Dr. Arthur Oestreich of the Kenilworth schools at the combined Windsor-Miner PTA. There is a current insistence on grouping in the elementary level which he feels is unfair and undemocratic and which may result in serious mental harm in years to come.

While Dr. Oestreich believes there is a place for grouping through the various subjective and objective methods of testing, tests should be used as indicators of a state of development rather than a cut and dried definition of final potentiality of the student.

We have to do a better job of challenging those youngsters with special talents. Students should be aware of their differences, potential, and ability and given opportunities for further exploration under proper guidance Dr. Oestreich refuses to use the term IQ and cannot conceive that while physical development is ever changing until we reach maturity, mental development is sometimes regarded as stationary.

Mother's Day Program Sun. At Faith

This Sunday, in honor of Mother's day, the kindergarten department of Faith Lutheran church, under the supervision of Mrs. Lois Michaels, will sing special songs during the Sunday school period and each child will be given a begonia plant to present to his mother.

Mrs. Wilma Keiser, head of the primary department, has announced that parents are invited to the Sunday school period and a program will be presented. Second grade children will have recitations, first grade children will sing special songs and one of the teachers will present the Sunday school lesson. In this department, too, each child will receive a plant for his mother.

HENRY Schroeder superintendent of the school and department head for the junior, intermediate and senior departments will have special hymns and prayers.

At the regular 8 a.m. early service the Junior choir will sing an anthem appropriate to Ascensiontide; "If With All Your Hearts" by Mendelssohn. During the 10:45 a.m. worship service the Faith Senior choir will sing a prayer and the Children's choir will sing a children's hymn "He Who Once On Mother's Knee." Rev. Edgar H. Behrens is pastor, Patrick Boots, vicar; and George A. Schrader, minister of music. (A

Slate Hearing On Street Work

An informal hearing concerning the advisability of improving portions of Beverly lane, Hickory, Marshall, and Hawthorn streets will be held by Arlington Heights board of local improvements Thursday, May 14, 8 p. m. in the village hall.

Property owners abutting Beverly lane and Hickory st. from Frederick st. south to Euclid ave., and those abutting Marshall and Hawthorn streets between Beverly lane and Hickory st. are invited to attend the hearing and express opinions concerning the paving, and installation of curbs, gutters, and sidewalks, where missing, for the streets in question.

SHOULD BOARD members determine at a formal hearing the advisability of continuing with the project, it will be financed by property owners either by private contract or special assessment.

In its April 30 meeting the board adopted a resolution for the paving of the eastern half of Yale st. from Oakton st. north to Thomas st. The resolution went to the village board for action.

In other board of local improvement business Secretary Harold Klinger submitted his resignation last week along with board member John Hoover, a former village trustee.

Dance Friday Night

The Prospect chapter of DeMolay will hold a formal dance at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights Friday night.

A combo from the Nike base will furnish the music for dancing and the Choraliers will sing. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. and tickets will cost $1.50.

Profits from the dance will be used to buy equipment for DeMolay degree ceremonies. (B8

Art Center Slates Talk By University Teacher

Herman Graff, an instructor at the Chicago Art Institute and a lecturer at Indiana university, will be featured at a meeting of the Arlington Art Center tonight at the Pioneer Park fieldhouse.

Graff's appearance marks the first time a non-member has been the featured lecturer.

His presentation will be in two parts, the first a showing of slides taken on his last trip to Europe and the second a discussion of picture composition. He will explain how to compose a picture in terms of design in relation to the camera, the relation between the image of the real world and its transference onto the two dimensional plane of the photograph, and the analogy between painting and photography.

GRAFF CURRENTLY is teaching in the dwsign department of the Art Institute and previously taught a composition and a design course at the Chicago Color Camera club.

He has a rich and varied background. He holds B.A.E. and M.A.E. degrees from the Art Institute and also has studied at DePaul and Northwestern. In addition, he studied abroad a year at the Accadimia di Belle Arti Lieo di Artistico in Florence, Italy.

Graff has traveled extensively. In 1951, he spent four months studying and exploring primitive ruins in the Uucatan Peninsula and in 1956 visited England, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, Spain and Africa.

The meeting of the Art Center tonight will start at 8 o'clock and is open to any one in the Arlington Heights area. Camera "bugs" are invited. (ACM)

Wedgewood Terrace

Thusday evening Mrs. Robert Marchetti entertained the sewing club. Present were Mrs. James Salisbury, Mrs. Leo Becker, Mrs. Robert Oswald, Mrs. George Krizek, Mrs. Tom Merritt, Mrs. Henry Combs and Mrs. Clyde House.

Another sewing group met at the home of Mrs. George Lauterer Tuesday evening. Among them were Mrs. William Sevilla, Mrs. James Deal, Mrs. Adam Kwiecinski, Mrs. Ken Reed, Mrs. Joe Heckenback, Mrs. Ken Bedo and Mrs. Frank Bedo.

Mrs. Richard Sachtschale spent the weekend at Champaign visiting her son, Jimmy. It was Mother's day at the University of Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lauterer and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedo spent Saturday evening bowling.

A kaffee klatsch was given for Mrs. Les Schnieder Monday at the home of Mrs. Clyde House. Helping her celebrate were Mrs. Robert Oswald, Mrs. James Sailer, Mrs. Henry Combs, Mrs. Louis Sylvester, Mrs. Robert Marchetti and Mrs. Emlie Grawemeyer.

MRS. GENE Melvin has just returned home from a week stay in the hospital. She is up and feeling fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kwiecinski, Mr. and Mrs. George Lauterer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Heckenback and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Reed attended the bowling banquet from St. Alphonsus league Thursday night. The banquet was held at the Elks lodge in Des Plaines. Adam Kwiecinski received an award for the highest increase in an average for the season.

Mrs. Gene Melvin and Mrs. Harold Bowlin attended a bridal shower in Chicago given for Mrs. Bowlin's intended daughter-in-law, Joan Comoniti.

The May meeting of the Triangle club will be held Tuesday, May 12, at the home of Mrs. Louis Sylvester. Mrs. Clyde House will be co-hostess.

A poker party was held at the home of Ernie Lundstrom Friday evening. Attending were Louis Sylvester, Les Schnieder, Bill Marchetti, Henry Combs, George Krizek, James Salisbury, Clyde House, Howard Peterson, and Art Ciscewski.

Thanks to six men from Wedgewood, damaged shrubs at the park were replaced Sunday morning. (AM

Women's Tennis Is Scheduled

A morning tennis class for women will be offered by the Arlington Heights Park District beginning on Monday. It will meet at the Recreation Park courts each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 10 a.m. for a period of four weeks.

The instruction will be given by Joe Carter, the parks' superintendent of recreation, and will be primarily for beginners.

The class will teach the basic skills to enable a novice to play the game well enough to enjoy it. Advanced instruction will not be offered, but experienced players are welcome if they desire a review.

Players must furnish their own racquet. Balls will be furnished by the parks for which a $2 fee will be charged. Women may enroll at Pioneer or Recreation park or by telephoning Cl 5-8850. (A

Plan Special Services For Mothers on Sunday

Special Mother's Day services are planned by the St. Peter Lutheran church in Arlington Heights. The services will be held at 8 a.m. and 10:45 a.m.

There will be a special litany and meditation with the pastor, Rev. Robert O. Bartz, delivering the message.

A special mention and honor plus a plant will be given the oldest living mother and member of the congregation.

Walther League, the church's youth organization, will present each mother attending the services with a small potted plant.

THE REV. L.C. Bernthal will deliver the Mother's Day message in the German service at 9:30 a.m.

Also on the calendar at St. Peter are Ascension Day services. They will be held today, May 7.

The services commemorate the ascension of the Lord and are celebrated as the homecoming of of Christ.

Special German services will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. Vesper service with the observance of Lord's Supper will begin at 7:30 p.m. A)

Eastwood Events

On Sunday, April 19 Gerald Scott Lane and Karen Christine Stueber were christened by Pastor Peterson at Our Saviour Lutheran church. Gerald is the 3½-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane, 309 N. Brighton. Parents of 4-month old Karen are Mr. and Mrs. William Stueber, 414 N. Beverley lane.

After the christening ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Stueber entertained Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hutchinson and their children from Northbrook.

After spending a month in Resurrection hospital, George Farrell, 754 N. Hickory ave., returned to work last Monday. Mr. Farrell, who suffered a heart attack on March 1, has been convalescing at home for the past two weeks.

HOSTS FOR Eastwood bridge last Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. B. Scully, 213 N. Brighton ave. Their guests were June and Bruce McBride, Linda and Bob Lane and Frances and George Moore.

After the final performance of "Mr. Roberts" which was produced by Village Theatre of Arlington Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pownall, 722 E. Euclid ave., attended a cast and crew party Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lobenhofer in Rolling Meadows. Mr. Pownall was in charge of all music and sound effects in "Mr. Roberts."

At the First Presbyterian parish 14 meeting Sunday afternoon, Curt Kenyon of 313 N. Brighton, performed a ventriloquist act assisted by his friend, Woody Birch. Since Woody was made by Charlie Mack, the same man who created Charlie McCarthy some 35 years ago, Woody claims to be a distant cousin of Charlie's. Woody's performance Sunday was a sort of coming out party since his near death in the basement floods of two years ago. After practically disintegrating in the water, he was sent away to South Chicago to be repaired by Frank Marshall who took over Charlie Mack's original business.

Mr. Kenyon has just recently become associated with All-State insurance co., who have just moved into new offices at 110 N. Evergreen ave.

GUESTS AT THE Norman Esthus home, 315 N. Lincoln lane, were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Esthus of Des Moines, Iowa, who were enroute home after a two-months' stay in Florida. Twice the Esthuses took their guests to dinner at the Normennenes Singing club in Chicago. They were joined there by the L. C. Esthuses daughter who teaches school in Evanston, and who wanted to visit the Norwegian club as she is planning a trip to Norway this summer.

Fourteen ladies from the Wheeling Home Bureau met for lunch and the day Monday at the home of Mrs. Gus Anderson, 614 N. Beverley ave. The ladies spent the day making geraniums out of fiber wood, either for gifts or for their own use. (A

Cardettes Organize Contest Corps

Arlington high school "Cardettes" have recently formed a contest corps under the direction of "Miss Jennie." Eight of the outstanding members were selected and will complete in twirling contests throughout the area. The contests will be sanctioned by the National Baton Twirling association or the United States Twirling association.

Last week, the "Cardettes" Contest Corps competed in an area contest and received first place award for senior twirling assemblies. The girls are now rehearsing for a USTA sanctioned contest in La Grange. In addition to the corps entry will be a solo by Carol Oja, duet by Carol Oja and Judy Schmoyer, and strutting solo by Nancy Anderson. The twirlers are trained by "Miss Jennie." (A

'Pops' Concert Slated Friday

A "Pops" concert will be presented by the music department of Prospect High School at 8 p.m. Friday night in the school's Little Theater.

Featured will be the sophomore mixed chorus, the sophomore girls chorus, the freshmen girls chorus, and the concert band.

Directors of the groups are June Leick, Martin Dahlberg and F. C. Schmoyer. There will be no admission.

The popular tunes to be presented include compositions by Gershwin, Rogers and other modern day artists.

The concert band will play "Block M" concert march, "Fantasy On American Sailing Songs," "Trombero," "El Dorado," and "Amparito Roca."

The freshmen girls will sing "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," "The Night Has A Thousand Eyes," "Rustle of Spring," and "Everybody Square Dance."

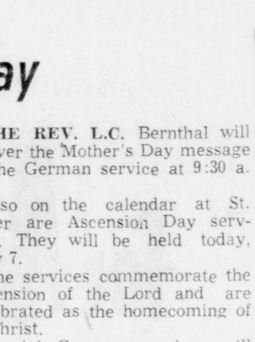
the HARRIS huddle



GEORGE HARRIS

Here's "Old Dad Harris" coming at you with a bit of philosophy. I hear lots of fellows say, "I haven't taken a vacation in 5 years; lots of nonsense, actually you don't need one." All I can say is that I make my living, basically, filling prescriptions, but if more people would take that well deserved vacation I'd have lots less prescriptions to fill, because rest and laughter will sometimes do more good than all the medicines in the world.

Take that everlovin' family of yours on a vacation this summer, see some scenery that is different, meet new people and get a new slant on life. While you're away, take along a camera so you can capture all the beauties and thrills of a wonderful vacation, so that you can relive all those thrilling moments this winter. Naturally, Harris Pharmacy has cameras and plenty of films available. Be sure to take plenty of color film, so you'll really capture the beauty of nature.

That's about all from Dad Harris, "Your Friendly Philosopher" this time, but remember, when vacation time rolls around, hit the road, get out and have fun. LIVE A LITTLE.

Arlington Rebounds, Tops York in Makeup Tilt, 4-1

Recovering effectively from Monday's fiasco with Riverside, Arlington's varsity nine turned back York Tuesday afternoon, 4-1, in a makeup game at Recreation Park.

Right hander Gene Dahlquist hurled creditable ball, scattering four hits over the last four frames, in picking up the mound decision.

After the 11-6 loss to R-B Monday, Arlington needed a game to pick up its stock and the York win may have served in that capacity. The Cards only committed two errors and only one proved to be harmful.

COACH DICK Kinneman's club, readying itself for district play, an early lead Tuesday with Fred wasted no time in jumping off to Boedeker counting after leading off with a triple.

York knotted the score in its half of the fourth when Chuck Adams singled with two outs, stole second, and came in on an error off the bat of Caruso.

Arlington added the decisive runs in the fourth, that pushed over an insurance marker in the fifth.

LEE MAGNUSON and Jim Blake tallied in the fourth without the aid of a base hit. An error and a sacrifice fly brought the pair in after Magnuson had got on by a walk and Blake had sacrificed and reached base on an error.

Magnuson's triple sent Boedeker home with the final run in the fifth. Fred reached first on an error, stole second, and waited there until Magnuson delivered his shot.

Arlington was slated to travel to Glenbrook Wednesday of this week for a non-conference game.

Because Tom Bartik was ill with the flu when the St. James Cub pack gave out their awards at the last pack meeting, his den mother, Mrs. Demmert, brought him the neckerchief slide he won for selling the most tickets for the recent Scoutorama. He is the son of the John Bartiks, 643 N. Kaspar.

The Jon Kozokaris, 916 N. Chicago, went back to Libertyville April 19 to the Serbian Orthodox monastery, where they were married and hwere their son, Peter, was christened to have their infant daughter, Leana Mary, christened. The priest who married them officiated at the christening and Mr. and Mrs. Florian Woger of Racine, who stood up for them at their wedding and who are Peter's godparents, also acted as Leana's godparents.

Leaving the monastery, joining them for dinner at home were Mr. and Mrs. Florian Woger, Mr. and Mrs. D. Elieff, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Rightmire, Mrs. Anna Adam and the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Traikoff.

Friday evening Dick and Helen Bulinski, 725 N. Kaspar, were guests of his co-worker, Hal Quinn, for dinner at Weller's restaurant in Morton Grove.

ALTHOUGH BILLY GROH made his first communion at St. James church Saturday morning, the celebration came the following day when 17 relatives came for dinner. His godparents, Wally Miczek and Mrs. Jean Rietzke, were there too. Billy's parents are the William H. Grohs, 912 N. Chicago.

Over the weekend, the George W. Lurtzes, 909 N. Patton, attended the wedding of his cousin, Gail Hummel, to Larry Plunkett in Chicago. Afterward they were guests for dinner in Park Ridge in honor of the newlyweds.

Saturday was a big day at the E. H. Merges home, 834 N. Harvard. John made his first communion at St. James, after, which 18 relatives and the six in his own family joined in a party for him. He took the frosted chalice off the top of his cake to save for next year.

Get well wishes are extended to 4-year-old Meg Gaenzle, daughter of the Burt Gaenzles, 1016 N. Harvard, who is recuperating from burns on her arm and leg and from chicken pox.

There was a family party at the John Donahues', 831 N. Kennicott, Saturday after Paddy made his first communion at St. James.

MRS. DONALD Kiehl, 732 N. Kaspar had the privilege of attending the preview of "The Diary of Ann Frank" in the loop recently. She and her hostess had dinner at the London House before the movie, which both acclaimed as excellent.

There was a double celebration at the B. F. Battaglia home, 904 N. Kaspar, Saturday. Jimmy was one and his sister, Barbara, made her first communion at St. James church. A few friends came for refreshments in the afternoon to celebrate the occasion.

The Raymond Doyles, 828 N. Kaspar, celebrated son, Greg's, first communion at St. James Saturday with a family party afterward.

Saturday evening the Lawrence Geislers, 816 N. Ridge, went to the Rose Ramble dance in Northbrook given by the George Benjamin post. Sunday they spent the day with her family in Chicago.

Marie and Al Kluesing, 905 N. Salem, went into Chicago last week to see "Gigi." After the movie, they had dinner at the Blackhawk restaurant in celebration of Marie's birthday.

The Robert Hetzeys, 913 N. Harvard, have a new addition, a son, born April 16 in Resurrection hospital. Joseph, who weighed 8 pounds 8 ounces, was baptized at St. James Church Sunday. John McGrath and Mrs. Noella Lynch were godparents. There was a dinner for friends and relatives afterward. Joseph's sisters and brother are Barbara Jean, Mary Jo, Margaret, Susan, Theresa and Robert.

RELATIVES FROM Seattle made the weekend especially nice for the Andrew G. Lofquists, 910 N. Kennicott, when they stopped to spend the night with them on their way home from Washington, D. C.

When the Jack LeBeaus, 906 N. Yale, went south for their vacation this year, they made New Orleans their first stop. They found the eating places delightful, as well as the tour of the city, which included the famous French Quarter. From New Orleans they went on to Florida, where they stayed at Sanibel Island. A unique feature about this island is that its only connection with the mainland is by ferry. Their days on the island were filled with swimming, fishing and collecting shells along the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Black, 812 N. Kaspar, are back from a weekend in Louisville, Ky., where they were gusts of former Arlington Heighters, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Goehe. Because there were several parties on the docket, they found it much simpler to watch the derby on TV. The Goehes hope to visit here in July.

There is good news at the Merwyn Reises, 722 N. Ridge. Their oldest son, Allen, and his family are moving here from South Bend. News from their son, Jim, is quite exciting. Stationed at Clark air force base near Manila, he recently made a 5-day trip to Hong Kong, where he and a few of his friends went sightseeing. He has been there since last fall and has even been swimming in the China sea.

IT'S A GIRL at the Robert Kays, 1008 N. Kaspar. Margaret Marie was born April 29 in Resurrection hospital, weighing 7 pounds 10 ounces. She came home to 2 brothers, Stevie, 3½, and Larry 1½.

The R. A. Beckmans, 812 N. Fernandez, had a surprise visit from their daughter, Mrs. Gladys Soderborg, and her children Sunday afternoon. The Soderborgs live in Flossmoor.

After returning from California on the new 707 jet plane, the W. R. Shrivers, 1004 N. Harvard, are confined that is the only way to travel. The trip to San Francisco from O'Hare took only four hours and 20 minutes, so they had plenty of time to see the sights there before leaving for Los Angeles, where they visited his sister and brother-in-law. They also did a bit of sightseeing before boarding another jet plane for their flight home.

Saturday night Shirley and Roy Winkelman joined Claire and Bill Remer for dinner at Old Heidelberg and a movie afterward. The occasion was Claire and Bill's fourth wedding anniversary.

There was quite a party at the Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, over the weekend celebrating Kathy's making her first communion at St. James church Saturday. Friends and relatives were on hand to wish her well.

The Ridge Park Community association, is holding its last meeting May 14, at 8:15 p.m., at the VFW hall. An interesting program has been planned and all Ridge Parkers are invited to attend. Meetings will be resumed in the fall.

FROM SHERWOOD

Kristin Polacek, daughter of the Thomas J. Polaceks, was among the 200 children who made her first communion at St. James church Saturday. Her parents took her out for breakfast after the service and several relatives came for a dinner party in her honor later in the day.

Mrs. Robert Fernstrom had her Mother's day present a week early this year. They went down to Bradley university, in Peoria, where their son, Robert, is a freshman, and enjoyed Mom's day. His fraternity had a dinner for the parents and to top off the evening there was a panfra sing for them. (A

LYNNWOOD NEWS

Last weekend was an important one for a group of Lynnwood children receiving their first communion. Father Stier officiated at the sacrament Saturday at St. James Catholic church.

Steven Sesterhenn, 1501 N. Wilke rd., returned home from the ceremonies to find 40 friends and relatives gathering to wish him well.

First communicant Victoria Janda, 1402 Lynnwood, was feted by a gathering of 65 friends and relatives Sunday.

Linda Steinocher, 1606 N. Yale st., spent her communion day visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Wheaton and daughters of Arlington Hgts.

Other first communicants were Tommy Borley, Cheryl Janko, James Jensen, Karen Quirk, Clifford Sherman and William Steiner.

SATURDAY EVENING Aileen and John McAdams, 1521 N. Chicago ave., played poker and ate pizza with Tom and Shirley Mullally and Ski and Herme Wille.

Mrs. Ellen (Bunny) Janda, 1402 Lynnwood, was elected corresponding secretary for the St. James Womens guild April 28.

It's been two years since Gloria and Stuart Remus, 1431 Lynnwood said "I do," and they celebrated the date Sunday with Stuart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Remus, and Barbara and Dr. Florence Hart, all of Oak Park. Gloria's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biederstadt, Prospect Heights, sister, Julie, and boyfriend, Kenny, and brother, David, also joined the celebration.

Millie and Hank Schneider, 1814 N. Verde ave., entertained Millie's brother Jim Happe and family of Northbrook Sunday.

Friday Barbara and Carl Couve, 1509 N. Chicago ave., visited Ted and Eddye Koerner in Des Plaines for bridge. Saturday they went to the Fin and Feather club, Dundee, with Win and Jeanette Jones of Barrington to see Win's art exhibit. Later they went to the Jones home. Sunday Barbara and Peggy, her daughter, and Mrs. Forrest Couve and Mrs. Clarence Scott attended the mother and daughter affair of Our Saviour Lutheran church.

CONDOLENCES ARE extended to Mary and Duke Lopata, 1702 N. Yale st., on the death of their niece, Vicky Lynn Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer of Milwaukee.

Newcomers to Lynnwood are the J. Cosgrove family, 1614 N. Yale, and the R. Hula family, 1508 Lillian st.

Saturday and Sunday were busy days for the Jensen family, 1505 N. Yale, and exciting for James. Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Julius J. Jensen of Alta, Iowa, grandmother, Mrs. Emily De Smidt, Chicago, aunt and uncle, the R. Siatkowskis, Chicago, great aunt and uncle, the E. Lustigs of Whiting, and Ray and Janet Olson of Crystal Lake all enjoyed the dinner and wished Jimmy well.

Altho neighbors hate to see the Ray Anderson family, 1205 W. Palatine rd., move from their home Saturday, they wish them the best of luck in their new home in Tucson, Ariz.

Jim and Joan Rowader and three boys will move into the Anderson home Saturday from Wheeling.

Beverly and Harold Black, 1701 N. Chicago ave. had her folks Mr. and Mrs. Hollister of Villa Park visiting them Saturday.

HELEN AND BILL Borley, 1500 W. Thomas st., served dinner Saturday to the William Judge family of Tinley Park. Saturday evening the Borleys attended the play "Good News" at Notre Dame high school, Niles.

With the end of April there were a few birthdays. April 24, Kathy Brodnan was 5; April 29, Mary Elizabeth Mullally was 2 and Julie Ann Borley was one; April 30, Wayne Klopfenstein, 12; Carol JaQuet, 15 May 7. (A

Frosh Track Team Swamps Glenbrook

Arlington's freshman track team won all but two events Friday at Glenbrook in a smashing 85-28 dual meet victory over the young Spartans.

John Latta paced the triumph with two wins in both hurdle events, covering the highs in :18.9 and lows in :23.5.

Other Cardinal victors were George Renner in the 880; Jim Peters in the shot; Anderson in the 440; Rog Frederickson in the mile; Roger Owen in the 220; Bruce Andrise in the shot put; Dick Liebenow in the broad jump; John Burgermeister in the high jump; and Tom Flynn in the pole vault.

High hurdles — won by Latta (A); 2, Jacob (G); 3, Laughlin (A). Time :18.9.

100 yard dash — won by Jacob (G); 2, Hyde (G); 3, Wolf (G). Time :11.7.

880-yard run — won by Renner (A); 2, Kahle (G); 3, Coey (A). Time 2-:17.4.

440-yard relay — won by Glenbrook. Time :49.2.

Low hurdles — won by Latta (A); 2, Blade (G); 3, Jacob (G). Time :23-.5.

Mile run — won by Frederickson (A); 2, Vaughan (A); 3, Hendricks (A). Time 5:07.

220-yard dash — won by Owen (A); 2, Anderson (A); 3, Tokoph (A). Time :27.7.

Pole vault — won by Flynn (A); 2, Simonsen (A); 3, Jones (G). Height 10-0.

'Clean-Up' Days Slated In Arlington

Been wondering how to get rid of all that junk accumulated over the winter months? Then take note that clean-up day for Arlington Heights northsiders is Monday, May 11. For southsiders it's a week later, May 18.

On these two days a garbage disposal truck will make the rounds, picking up all rubbish piled at curbs.

THERE IS NO limit as to the amount that will be taken. All rubbish, however, must be placed in containers at the curb, and large items neatly stacked. Dirt, concrete, building materials, tree branches, and ashes will not be taken.

The village will bear the cost of the service with no expense to the homeowner.

Maine Wins Dual Meet, Dundy Sets School Mark

Maine's dominance in the field events and two relays victories proved to be the difference Friday as the Blue Demons hung a 68½-49½ pasting on Arlington in a dual meet on the Cards' track.

Outscoring the hosts 36½-8½ in the five field events, Maine more than made up for the deficit incurred in the running events. In addition, a dropped baton and pulled muscle added up in two Arlington defeats in the 880 yard relay and mile event.

Bob Neuman of Maine was the meet's top point-getter with firsts in the shot and discus; a tie for first in the pole vault; and thirds in the 100 and 220.

ARLINGTON'S MIKE Dundy totaled 11 points on two firsts and a third, including a record-breaking 2:00.7 clocking in the 880. Dundy broke the old school mark established by Norb Rohlwing in the late 1920's of 2:01.4.

Rich Bader of Arlington turned in his best outdoor clockings in the dashes with times of :10.2 and 22 flat in the 100 and 220. Charley Yager grabbed two seconds in the sprints.

Maine's Doug Nelson copped both hurdle events, edging Arlington's Ed Whitelaw and Bob O'Neil in the highs in the excellent time of :15.1 and then coming back for an impressive :20.7 and victory in the lows.

New Music Studios Are Opened Here

BERNICE E. CANDELARIA

Mrs. Bernice E. Candelaria, M. Mus., has recently opened music studios at 10 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. She has taught for six years in the village.

The director of the Musical Arts Studios received her bachelor's and master's degrees, studying under such renowned artists as Alexander Tcherepnin, composer, whose recent symphony was performed by Fritz Reiner and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Dr. Leon Stein, head of the DePaul graduate music department; Dr. Arthur Becker, dean of the school of music; Herman Shapiro, and Magdalen Massmann.

Mrs. Candelaria has made frequent appearances as soloist and in ensemble, and has arranged numerous compositions for advanced students. (A

Seek to Form New Blue Bird Groups Thurs.

Mothers of first grade girls from all Arlington Heights public and parochial schools are invited to attend an organizational meeting, today, Thursday, at 9:30 a.m. in Pioner Park field house, to form new groups of Blue Birds for the 1959-60 season.

Girls who will be 7 years old or in second grade at the beginning of the fall term are eligible for the junior program of the Camp Fire Girls.

AT THE PRESENT time, there are 19 groups of Blue Birds and five groups of Camp Fire Girls in Arlington Heights, with a combined membership of over 400 girls and leaders.

Representatives from all schools will be in attendance at the mothers' meeting and a display of Blue Bird handicraft will augment the Camp Fire story as presented by Mrs. Robert Nicol, group organization chairman.

For further information regarding the formation of new groups, as well as placement in existing groups, those interested may call Mrs. Nicol at CL 3-8868. (A

New Officers

Officers have been elected by the Arlington Heights barbershop singing chorus.

Dan Krebsbach of Arlington Heights was elected president; Chuck Tesar of Arlington Heights, vice president; Fred Smelter of Hatlen Heights, secretary; Harold Henry of Arlington Heights, treasurer, and Jack Music of Arlington Heights, delegated.

The new officers were installed at a special meeting May 4.

A Correction

Paddock Publications would like to emphasize that the trotting track legislation discussed by Rep. Paul Simon on last week's editorial page refers only to trotting tracks, and would not extend the operating time of other horse racing tracks. (AMP

Season Passes For Pool on Sale Monday

Season passes for the Arlington Heights park district swimming pools will go on sale Monday, May 11, at Recreation park on E. Miner st. and at Pioneer park on S. Fernandez st.

The park district operates a large, modern pool at each of these locations. The pools will open June 10 and passes will be honored at either pool.

Ticket prices will be the same as in 1958. Wading pool passes for children under seven will be $2. Swimming passes will be $5 for children and $7 for high school students and adults.

A SPECIAL family pass will admit parents and any number of children for $14. Daily admission tickets will continue to be sold at the pools at 25 cents for waders 50 cents for children, and $1 for adults.

Season pass subscribers will be given an aluminum token to be sewn on their bathing suit and shown for admission.

The park district urges swimmers to buy their passes early and avoid the waiting in line which generally occurs as the pool opening draws near. (A

MURRAY B. WOOLEY, 132 N. Phelps st., Arlington Heights, tells C. Russell Compton, Chicago area representative of The Great Books Foundation, the plans for the forthcoming leader training course that will be given at the Des Plaines Public Library, 841 Graceland ave., Des Plaines, the last two weekends of May. The course is free, and there are no educational requirements. The six-session course begins 8 p. m., Friday, May 22, 1959. Registration can be made at the library or by contacting The Great Books Foundation, 37 S. Wabash ave., DEarborn 2-5870.

United Motor Coach Asks ICC for Fare Hike Okay

The Illinois Commerce Commission has taken under advisement a request by the United Motor Coach company for an average 20 per cent fare increase.

Rising costs of operation and declining passenger revenue were the main reasons given by an official of the company in support of the request.

Leonard E. Manuel, vice president of the line which serves 24 northwest suburbs, said the company lost $47,000 in 1958 and $34,700 in 1957.

UNITED IS seeking to raise its 10 cents to 80 cents zone fares an additional nickel and its 85 cent to $1.65 zone fares an additional dime. It is also requesting a two and a half cent a ride hike for its student fares.

At a hearing before ICC examiner Forrest B. McElroy, Manuel said that the line carried 12½ per cent more passengers 10 years ago than it does now while the cost of one bus has risen from $10,000 to $25,000 in the same period. He said the company has purchased 24 new buses in the past four years.

United carries an average of 21,000 passengers a day on its 66 buses.

The only objection to the fare increase was made by Bernard Harrison, Skokie village attoney. The local service in Skokie would be increased from 15 to 20 cents a ride under the line's fair hike request.

United, with headquarters in Des Plaines, in Chicago serves Rogers Park on the north side and also the northwest side area between Edison Park and Jefferson Park.

SUBURBS served by the line include Evanston, Lincolnwood, Skokie, Morton Grove, Niles, Old Orchard, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Inverness, Barrington, Dundee, Algonquin, Meadowdale, Elgin, Cary, Crystal Lake, and Big Foot Prairie.

It has been testified at earlier hearings that the higher fares would allow United to make a profit for the first time in years. Its last general fare increase was in 1954. (BB

55-Acre Santa's Village to Open

A Never-Never Land is becoming a reality on 55 rolling and beautifully landscaped acres near East Dundee.

At this location — the junction of routes 25 and 72 — the new Santa's Village, a million-dollar family fun town for children from 2 to 92 is rushing toward its May 30 Memorial Day opening.

Figuring to be a major attraction for Chicago residents and tourists from throughout the midwest, Santa's Village will be open 364 days a year, giving Santa a day of rest after his arduous task of delivering toys on Christmas Eve.

CREATED WITH a deep reverence for the tradition of Santa Claus and the childhood fantasy associated with him, it has been called "wishes in solid form."

Visitors to Santa's Village discover with delight the moment they step inside the Welcome House that they are entering another world, the world of childhood wonder. Heretofore, this world has been only imaginary. Now in an atmosphere of whimsy, illusion becomes real. The Village interprets fantasy in colors which intrigue the adult mind and enchant the child's.

Housed in permanent buildings and nestled among tall evergreens will be Santa's Home, the Wee Puppet Theater, Mrs. Claus' Kitchen, the Doll House, the Gingerbread House, the Mill Wheel Workshop, the Reindeer Barn, the Chapel of the Little Shepherd, the Toy Factory, the Jack-in-the-Box refreshment building and the Pixie Pantry.

THEN THERE is a real, ice-cold North Pole that never melts and a large Tree House in which youngsters may climb and slide back down to earth on the long chute.

Dozens of fascinating small animals, including goats, lambs, sheep, burros, geese, deer and ducks make their home at the Village and are on hand as a constant reception committee to wecome visitors. Children may feed these animals by obtaining milk bottles from a traveling milk cart, pulled by a goat.

Santa has a large herd of real Arctic reindeer at the Village, and his large 20-passenger sleigh, pulled by a team of these reindeer, is one of the most popular of several unusual rides that wend their way through the greenery. (BB

Kelter Real Estate Opens Prospect Heights Branch

The firm of Arthur C. Kelter Real Estate, 940 E. Northwest hwy., Mt. Prospect, recently took three strides forward in enlarging its sales staff and branching out with an office in Prospect Heights.

Due to a marked increase in their business and optimism for the future it was necessary to add three people making their sales staff a total of six.

Mrs. Bessie L. Wright who has been with the firm since its inception and a top producer in Real Estate sales in this area for the past six years was appointed Sales Manager. She and her husband Wayne live at 402 West Lonnquist blvd., Mt. Prospect.

Joining the sales staff are Bernice Mendelson, Robert Shawhan and Louise Kaunzinger. Miss Mendelson was formerly with Purdy and Co. and resides at 1008 N. Illinois st., Arlington Heights. Bob Shawhan, his wife Ruth and three children live at 732 N. Dryden st., Arlington Heights. Louise Kaunzinger was formerly with C. M. Behrens and Co. She has been active in real estate sales the past two years and lives with her husband Bill at 206 S. School lane in Prospect Heights.

In addition to serving Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine the firm has set sales records in the Prospect Heights area. Art Kelter resides at 307 E. School lane in Prospect Heights and has the utmost of confidence in this highly desirable community. The branch office location is in the shopping center at McDonald and Elmhurst roads.

In addition to being members of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors it also is a member of the MAP Multiple Listing Service and utilizes the nationwide advertising and promotional services of the Arms Institute. Kelter is a Director of the Realtor Board and President of the MAP Multiple Listing Service.

To Mail Gas Heat Permits

Gas house-heat permits will be mailed to about 41,500 residential customers on the Northern Illinois Gas company's waiting list about May 4, according to Edward D. Sheehan, executive Vice President of the utility.

Sheehan's announcement followed Illinois Commerce Commission approval Thursday of the company's plan to construct a 140-mile pipe line from East Dubuque, Ill. to Des Plaines, final approval on April 24 by the

THE ICC action came after Federal Power Commission of Northern Natural Gas company's petition to furnish 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily to Northern Illinois Gas at its East Dubuque terminus.

Sheehan said that construction on the pipeline will begin early in June and that the job should be finished "in plenty of time to deliver the gas before next winter."

The permits to be sent out May 4 will take care of Northern Illinois Gas' house heating waiting list for individual new homes — homes not occupied when appliations were made through November 7, 1957, and for existing homes through February 27, 1958.

Golden Point Hamburgers Same Size Coast to Coast

"The hamburger we serve our customers in the Golden Point Drive-In in Mt. Prospect, is the same size, has the same flavor, and is of the same top quality prime beef as a Golden Point hamburger served in Maine, California, Florida or New Mexico."

To achieve this, according to Charles A. Rukoldt, manager of the Mt. Prospect drive-in at 810 E. Northwest hwy., the Golden Point system established a unique and unusual quality control system.

AS A RESULT, he said, all food and beverages served at Golden Point drive-ins are identical in size and quality, no matter where they are purchased.

This was achieved, he explained, by instituting a central purchasing system. He added:

"The Golden Point corporation purchases and distributes all the food and beverages used throughout the Golden Point chain, and supplies are sent directly to us and other operators from a company warehouse. This central control of the entire food operation guarantees that uniformly high quality will be standard procedure in every Golden Point Drive-In."

ALL HAMBURGERS sold at Golden Point, he said, are pure prime beef from Swift and Company. Coffee is served in plastic-lined cups to insure the same flavor it would have in a china cup. Shakes are dispensed directly from an automatic machine into the containers in which they are sold, thus assuring sanitary handling. All food items are served in individual wrappings.

In addition to the Swift beef, Golden Point Drive-Ins serve only nationally known products, including Wonder Bread buns, Maxwell House coffee, Kraft cheese, Hunt's catsup, Icelandic filet of sole, Coca Cola, Orange Crush and Old Colony root beer.

THE GOLDEN Point building is unique in design and appearance. The exterior of the building is porcelain enameled steel. The vermillion roof is topped by a 21-foot golden tower, and an unusual system of outdoor floodlighting has been installed.

Ruckoldt said the Golden Point chain expects to have 1,000 drive-ins throughout the country within five years. (BB

Hasbrook Names New Sales Chief

Jim Welch was announced as the new sales manager of Hasbrook Construction Co., Inc., Arlington Heights, by Albert E. Riley, president of the firm.

He will be responsible for all selling activities of the $10 million subdivision, including advertising, sales promotion and public relations.

Welch, 36, was formerly president and sales manager of the gift division of Charlotte Charles Specialty Foods, Evanston. He had been employed with the company since 1955.

Before that, Welch spent four years with the FBI in various parts of the country. He was one of the agents working on the Bobby Greenlease kidnapping case in St. Louis in 1952.

HIS PAST employment also includes three years as district sales manager of the Peter Fox Brewing Company, and two years as advertising and sales manager of Food Retailing magazine.

His wife, Marie, now semi-retired, was one of the "Bennett Sisters," a vocal group which appeared frequently in nightclubs and on TV and radio.

A native Chicagoan, Welch is a graduate of DePaul university and a Navy veteran. He now lives with his wife and two children in Palatine. (BB

American Airlines Plans To Double O'Hare Flights

American Airlines will double its 707 Jet Flagship service at O'Hare International Airport on May 17, and will inaugurate jet-powered (turboprop) Electra service between Midway airport and both Boston and Dallas on May 24, Chicago district sales manager Clarke Ferguson announced.

He said that further expansion of both 707 and Electra service is being planned for June, and flights probably will be transferred from Midway to O'Hare next month to connect with the jet services. However, details are not firm yet.

ON MAY 17, two more daily 707 jet flights will be started in each direction between O'Hare and Los Angeles. These will be in addition to a daily jet flight each way put into service last Sunday (April 26)1 and daily jet service that has been operating since March 22 between O'Hare and San Francisco and New York. American introduced "pure" jet service in Chicago and the midwest with the March 22 707 schedules.

The new Electra flights beginning May 24 will provide the fastest air service ever offered on the Chicago-Boston and Chicago-Dallas routes. They will trim 20 minutes from the present fastest Chicago-Boston, Chicago-Dallas and Dallas-Chicago times, and will cut 35 minutes from the fastest Boston-Chicago schedules. (BB

Q. Will you please explain the proper manner of eating soup?

A. Dip the farther edge of the spoon into the soup and direct it away from you and towards the outer edge of the plate. Do not fill the spoon to the brim. Put the side of the spoon into the mouth, not the point. And remember, sip it as silently as possible!

Q. When someone whom you have just met says, "I am so glad to have met you," isn't a smile in acknowledgment sufficient?

A. No; this would seem to have a condescending air about it. It is much better to accompany the smile with a "thank you."

Q. Is it proper for the bride to carry the bridegroom's wedding ring to the altar with her?

A. The maid or matron of honor usually takes care of this ring and hands it over to the bride at the proper moment during the ceremony.

Q. When two men and a girl are getting into the back seat of a car, how should they proceed?

A. One of the men should open the door for the girl, who enters and sits at her right, while the other goes around the car and takes the seat at her left.

Q. Is it permissible for a dinner guest to ask for a second helping of some dish?

A. Not unless eating with relatives or good friends. The hostess should see that her guests' wishes are fulfilled without the necessity of their asking.

Catholic Charity Appeal Is Sunday

The Catholic Charities collection scheduled for Sunday in local parishes comes at a time of urgent need, says Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent W. Cooke, charities supervisor for the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago.

The collection will benefit 89 Catholic Charities agencies in Cook and Lake counties. Last year, these agencies served 462,486 local men, women and children at a cost of $9,085,386.

Monsignor Cooke said that the failure of the Community Fund to meet its 1958 goal has resulted in a 9 per cent decrease in the Fund's 1959 allocation to the Catholic Charities. He added that increasing numbers of people are seeking assistance or service from the Catholic Charities agencies.

"WE ARE faced," he said, "with a truly serious problem in financing the day-to-day operations of the Catholic Charities. The maintenance of our services and their necessary expansion to meet new needs, means that the Mother's Day collection taken up among the two million Catholics in the Archdiocese of Chicago is more important than ever before."

He pointed out that Catholic Charities serve Catholics and non-Catholics in every local community — especially through programs for the physically and educationally handicapped. (BB

Post Office Declares War On Mail Order Filth Firms

Postmaster Mrs. W. F. Dodge appealed for public support today in the intensified war Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has declared on the "ruthless mail order merchants in filth who are violating the homes of the nation in defiance of the national government."

Using one of the nation's most cherished privileges to carry on their smutty trade — the uncensored letter — "barons of obscenity" today are sending unordered lewd materials into our mail boxes, much of it directed to teen-age youngsters, Postmaster Dodge explained.

THE MATERIALS offered for sale include filthy films and books, and dirty pictures, slides and related filth, advertised in highly objectionable circulars that are being sent indiscriminately to homes here and all over the nation, she said.

Postmaster General Summerfield has advised the local postmaster that $500,000,000 is being taken in annually by large mail order dealers in pornography and obscenity. Postal authorities here, as well as those over the nation, receive complaints from many groups. Nationally, complaints are reported from leading clergymen, school groups, newspaper editors and alarmed parents.

During a recent 12-month period, the local postmaster was advised, postal inspectors conducted 4,000 investigations on obscene and pornographic mail and caused the arest of 293 persons dealing in this filth. This is an increase of 45 per cent over the previous year, and an all-time high, according to the Postmaster General. Moreover, Mr. Summerfield has emphasized to local postal officials that the threat is increasing.

INDICATIVE of the extensive operations of the filth factories that are invading the homes of the nation with their suggestive advertisements and dirty materials, Mr. Summerfield noted that within the past few weeks simultaneous raids by U. S. Marshals and Postal Inspectors in New York City resulted in seizure of 15 tons of dirty films, slides, photographs and other smut, and a mailing list, used nationally, containing 100,000 names.

Another raid in recent days yielded huge quantities of filth from the premises of a Santa Monica, Cal., dealer in especially objectionable films and photographs.

"No longer do dealers in smut surreptitiously serve only a few adults," the local postmaster explained. "They brazenly solicit our children, sending their material indiscriminately and without conscience into our home mail boxes.

"FOR example," Mrs. Dodge noted, "the Postmaster General has advised me of cases where teen-agers wrote away for auto parts and received later 'sex instructions' advertisements; of new graduating classes whose names were taken from newspapers by filth merchants who circularized every member of the class; of youngsters who wrote in for model airplane catalogs, or a set of stamps, and later received materials on films portraying sex and preversion."

Complaints are also being received in increasing numbers over the nation involving solicitation from filth factories of innocent teen-age girls, housewives, and even Cub Scouts, the postmaster noted.

"The Post Office Department is diligently trying to clean up the mails." Postmaster General Summerfield explained recently to Congress, which is considering new measures to deal with this growing national threat. "But," Mr. Summerfield added, "the Post Office Department has been subjected frequently to attack and ridicule by those who hope to profit personally from unrestricted mailings, or by those who — confusing liberty with license — unwittingly give them assistance."

"THERE APPEAR to be two basic reasons for the increasing volume of filth in the mails," he continued. "First, the tremendous profits that are realized from a relatively small capital investment, and, secondly, the very broad definition of obscenity handed down by certain courts — including those in certain Metropolitan Areas — notably Los Angeles and New York."

These rulings, he concluded, "have established virtual sanctuaries." From these sanctuaries, he explained, filth dealers have operated with impunity in developing their huge business in filth, flooding this community and others with materials which constitute "one of the most serious moral and social problems in the United States today." Polk Bros. Open New Garden Shop

Purchase of 280,000 separate items of "green and growing things" including shrubs, plants and trees, marks Polk Bros.' entrance into the field of Garden shop merchandising.

"We are making this move in response to the tremendous growth of the number of new home - owning families in the Chicagoland area who join their neighbors in seeking to beautify their homes outside as well as indoors," stated Sol Polk, president.

GARDEN SHOPS have been set up in five of Polk Bros. seven retail stores. In addition to a large selection of shrubs, plants, trees and seeds, Polk Bros. Garden Shops are stocking garden tools, fertilizers, insecticides, plant food, outdoor furniture and barbecue equipment.

Free shrubberty dollars redeemable for full cash value toward the purchase of shrubs, plants and trees in Polk Bros. Garden Shop will be given with purchases from Polk Stores.

The students, who are completing the first year of the two year course, received caps to signify the end of preliminary work and the beginning of clinical work. Each girl will receive her cap from a member of the June graduating class.

At Blackburn

Miss Loretta Denemark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Denemark, 4N252 Church rd., Bensenville, was selected as a member of the queen's court for Class day exercises at Blackburn college, Carlinville, May 2. To be invited to be a member of the royal court is one of the highest non-academic honors at Blackburn.

The Class day program this year will for the first time be a part of the activities for Parents' Weekend, held traditionally on the first weekend in May. (CC

At Indiana

Fred Steingraber, 314 Drury lane, Arlington Heights, received an Outstanding Junior Certificate signed by President Herman B. Wells and Robert H. Shaffer, dean of students, at Indiana university.

Sixty-one juniors were honored with the certificates at a Junior Week coffee hour. They were given on the basis of scholarship, athletics, activities and general contributions to the university.

The coffee hour was a part of Junior Week which was climaxed by the junior prom Friday.

Erie Jones On Illinois Workshop

Erie Jones, director of community relations, Kimball Hill, Inc., Palatine, is one of the visiting workshop staff members who will attend a special course in school plant planning at the University of Illinois.

Planning school buildings for most efficient use of staff in terms of educational program will be studied in two College of Education workshops in the University of Illinois 1959 summer session, June 23 through July 17.

Programs are planned for practicing and experienced superintendents and principals and for prospective and beginning school administrators. Both groups will participate in a workshop June 23 through 26 with visiting specialists as well as university faculty with special competence in this area.

Beginning and prospective administrators will spend three additional weeks working intensively on individual problems of school plant planning with Illinois faculty. Credit is allowed for the four-week program. (CC

At Carthage

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Freeman, 1510 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, have accepted the invitation from Carthage college to attend Parents Weekend, May 9 and 10.

The Freemans' son, Eugene, is a sophomore at Carthage college.

Visiting parents and their sons and daughters will be guests of the college at a breakfast Sunday morning, May 10. As a highlight, parents can attend a modern version of the famous play, "Antigone," to be presented in the college auditorium.

Other activities include a doubleheader baseball game Saturday afternoon and a display of student and faculty created art exhibits on the college gallery. (CC

At Eastern Illinois

One person receiving scholarship honors for the winter quarter at Eastern Illinois university was Janice K. Smoltz of Arlington Heights.

To be considered for scholarship honors, a student must carry at least 14 hours of academic courses. High honors are awarded to those earning a grade-point average of 3.75 or more, and to earn honors, a student must make a grade-point average of at least 3.40 but less than 3.75. (CC

"You may obtain state help to prepare for teaching," president Robert G. Bone advised high school seniors today.

"If you rank academically in the upper half of your graduating class, be sure to ask about the state awards which save each holder from $540 to $680 in fees over a four-year period.

Local students of north DuPage county who are attending Illinois State Normal university with the aid of state scholarships are: Patricia Werner, a freshman, 237 Iowa, Addison; Marina Fabbri, a sophomore, 428 S. Grace, Bensenville; Jo Lynn Jones, a freshman, 1009 Hillside, Bensenville; Charlotte Lofstedt, a freshman, 359 Hawthorne, Bensenville; Judith Ann Teufel, a sophomore, 405 Walnut st., Bensenville; and Bonnie Nerge, a freshman, 32 Woodworth, Roselle.

"Illinois needs good teachers, and every year we are glad to say more and more students take advantage of the state scholarships designed to help them prepare for teaching."

Lists of students whose records make them eligible are supplied by high school principals to county superintendents. Names then are certified to the state superintendent. Awards not used by any school become available to students from other schools.

At Blackburn

Geraldine Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Olson, 240 E. Colpax, Palatine, was selected to serve on the Blackburn all student work committee as janitress head.

She was selected for this position by the out going 12 member work committee. This is one of the highest non-academic honors attainable at Blackburn.

The Blackburn work committee is responsible for the assigning of work to each of the 350 resident students of the college. In addition they plan all of the necessary work of maintaining and operating the college by dividing the total number of work hours between the 12 departments.

At Blackburn each student is required to work 15 hours a week which enables the college to greaty reduce the cost of room and board. The students under the direction of the work committee do all of the cooking, serving of meals, firing and janitor work. In addition they operate the college bookstore, student center, laundry, assist faculty members and maintain the physical plant of the college.

Besides the regular work, the students with the guidance of one professional engineer recently completed work on the F. W. Olin Science building, and are currently working on the new Carl Graham dormitory which when completed will house 50 men students. (CC

At Valparaiso

Brenda Rudolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rudolph, 421 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, has been cast in the role of Lalume, the Wazir's favorite wife, in Kismet, an adaptation of one of the most popular plays of this century to be produced by the Valparaiso university theatre during the university's Spring Festival, May 6-9.

Miss Rudolph is a freshman at the Lutheran university and is majoring in music education.

Mt. Prospect Man Awarded Fellowship

Robert C. Kemman, 305 WaPella, Mt. Prospect, has been awarded a fellowship to attend the Colorado college summer science institute in Colorado Springs.

The 8-week institute is being conducted at the liberal arts college for the fourth consecutive year, with the support of a grant from the National Science foundation.

Institute fellows will receive expenses and a stipend under the terms of the grant. The 61 fellowship winners have been selected from several hundred applicants.

Kemman teaches at Prospect high school. He will be a member of the general science section of the institute. (CC

At Beloit

Visiting trackmen from at least six states elected a coed queen to reign over the 20th anniversary Beloit relays May 2.

Five Beloit coeds, selected by members of the college "B" club, served as a "royal court" for the relays and handed out medals and trophies to winning athletes. One of the five was crowned queen after balloting by more than 250 participants.

Coeds vying for the title of queen included Barbara Russell of Arlington Heights.

Miss Russell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Russell, 628 Bristol lane, Arlington Heights. A senior member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, she has served as co-chairman of Beloit's prospective student weekend, as a staff member for the college newspaper and magazine, and as a member of the sociology club and participant in the annual Inter-fraternity council variety show.

At Virginia

In elections held recently by social fraternities at the University of Virginia Douglas A. Brown Jr., 1323 W. Sigwalt, Arlington Heights pledged Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

At Valparaiso

Chester Krage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Krage of 194 North ave., Addison, was recently elected to office of the Theta Chi fraternity at Valparaiso university.

Krage, a junior physics major, was elected president.

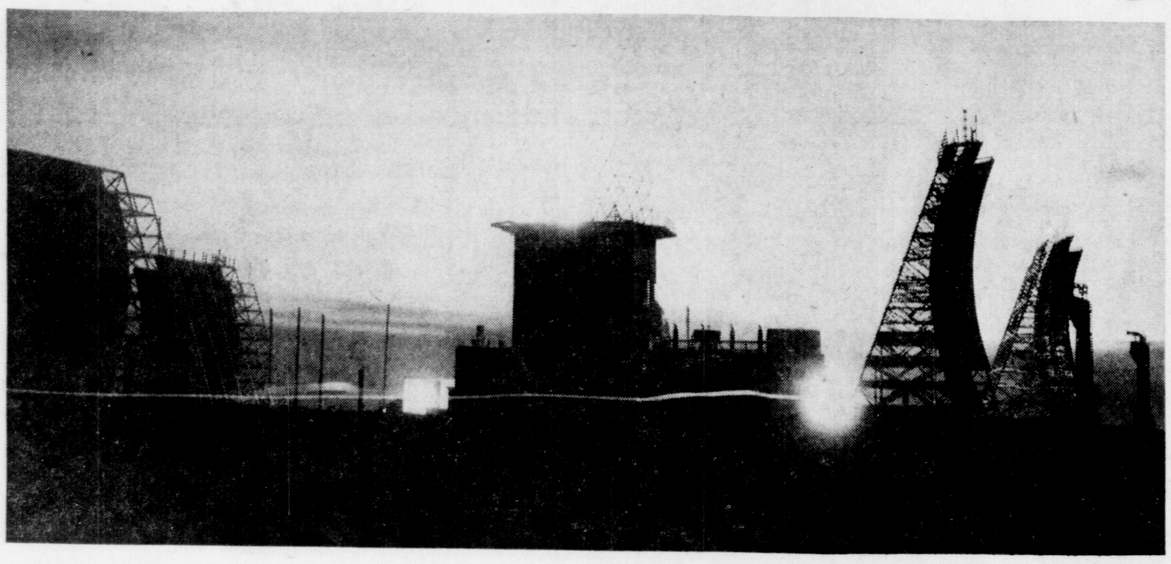
DEW-Line Extends to Aleutian Tip



ALEUTIAN DEW-LINE site makes interesting silhouette against a salmon-colored sky at close of long northern day. Lights inside plastic radome prevent formation of ice. Huge antennas on either side of composite building, tie Aleutian DEW-line to mainland warning system via the White Allice communications network.

This month, as the Air Force officially adds the Aleutian Distant Early Warning Line to its lineup of radar defenses in Alaska, northland builders can give themselves a well deserved pat on the back. In near record time, they've successfully completed a construction project that ranks among the toughest of all time.

Monuments to their ruggedness and ingenuity now stand in the following out-of-the-way places: Port Heiden, Port Moller, Cold Bay, Cape Sarichef, Driftwood Bay and Nikolski. And they are monuments as utilitarian as the genius of Twentieth-Century man can devise.

"PROJECT STRETCHOUT" the Air Force dubbed it, and the name is a clue to the system's purpose. In essence, the new Dewline extends Alaskan Air Command's radar detection capability from the Alaskan mainland the length of the Aleutian Island Chain.

It will "complement and strengthen" the northern Dewline, which stretches across Alaska's Arctic slopes from its northwest coastal corner to Baffin Island.

In addition, Stretchout buttresses AAC's Aircraft Control and Warning Network, units of which are scattered throughout interior Alaska and the length of the 49th State's Bering Sea perimeter.

AT ITS Westermost point on the Island of Umnak, Stretchout will tie into a detection system operated by components of the U. S. Navy. The latter, with its surface vessels and "flying radar stations" provides coverage between th Aleutian Islands and various North Pacific outposts.

Stretchout is linked to the Alaskan mainland at King Salmon Air Force Base, located at the foot of the scenic Alaska Peninsula.

Dewline stations are spotted at intervals of approximately 100 miles from King Salmon to the system's terminus at Nikolski, on the Island of Umnak.

THE ALEUT Indians have a name, Birthplace of the Winds, for the treeless islands they call "home." And wind, born and grown to gusty manhood in the islands, proved a continuing nightmare to construction officials charged with meeting Stretchout building deadlines.

Winds up to 120 mph were encountered with distressing frequency. Along the Chain, inhabitants call these sudden fierce storms "Williwaws" and tender them the respect which is their due. Site workmen, however, could ill afford to be so charitable. Instead of "holing up" after the fashion of the Aleuts, they ignored the blasts until wind velocities reached 60 mph.

On occasion, the blows snapped ½" bolts used to secure plastic radomes. It is interesting to note, however, that the radomes remained undamaged. According to observers, the gales failed to elongate a single bolt hole in the unbelievably tough plastic shells.

ANOTHER hallmark of Aleutian weather is the near perpetual blanket of fog, caused when warm ocean currents from the North Pacific collide with those spilling southward from the frigid Bering Sea.

When an "unknown" is sighted anywhere in the vast Alaskan aircraft control and warning network, an alarm is flashed via ISCAL's "White Alice" that alerts the entire system. At Alaskan Air Command Headquarters, near Anchorage, the threat is evaluated, and, if circumstances warrant, North American Air Defense Command Headquarters, in Colorado Springs, is notified immediately by "hotline" telephone.

NORAD, which controls forces in both the U.S. and Canada, can just as quickly place the entire North American continent in an alert status.

KEEPING AN electronic eye on the Arctic airplanes is a job for professionals, and one which may yet serve to deter an agressor from launching the strike against North American that would inevitably touch off Worth War 3. And if a strike should come, the alert that saves the free world may well be sounded by an Alaskan Air Command technician, hunched above his radar scope at an outpost in the Aleutians, Birthplace of the Winds. Itasca Air Reserve Ends Duty

Air Force Reserve Officer Captain James F. Coughlin, 326 S. Elm st., Itasca, has completed a 2-week tour of active duty at the Chicago Air Procurement District.

Assigned as Production Officer, Capt. Coughlin occupied an essential position in the District's responsibilities for administration of 1200 Air Force contracts in the Illinois and Iowa areas.

A safety engineer by profession, Coughlin is the manager of the Inspection and Engineering department of the Yorkshire Insurance Company, 175 W. Jackson blvd., Chicago, Ill.

At Newport

Navy Ens. Charles P. Gibfried, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibfried, 50 W. Comfort st., Palatine, was among the 709 new officers of the 42nd class of the U.S. Navy's Officer Candidate school which graduated May 1 at ceremonies held at the Naval Station, Newport, R.I.

Within a month following graduation, the new officers will report to a wide variety of assignments in addition to shipboard duty. Some will report for training as naval aviators while others will undertake further training for engineering and staff corps duties.

The 18-week course at Newport included intensive training in naval orientation, leadership and related professional subjects.

Group to Pick Beauty Queen

Members of the North West Suburban Detachment of the Marine Corps League with headquarters at 1331 Brophy ave., Park Ridge, are sponsoring a beauty contest on the northwest side of Chicago and suburbs.

The beauty contest will be judged June 13 at a farewell dance in honor of Chief Warrant Officer Harry Timm at the Glenview Naval Air Station. The Northwest Detachment will also celebrate its 10th anniversary on the same date. The dance will be held at the newly refurnished Tahitian room in the recreation building.

Rules governing contestants are: age 18 to 25 and unmarried, contestants will be judged on beauty and poise as well as feminine pulchritude. The winner will be named "Miss Illinois Marine for 1959." Finals will be selected and judged at the State Convention at Mt. Vernon July 18.

The winner will receive a free trip to the State Convention at Mt. Vernon, Ill., on July 18 at which time Miss Illinois Marine will be selected. In addition to the above there will be other valuable prizes. Entrants can send their photo and other pertinent data to N.W. Suburban Detachment Marine Corps Laegue, Box 182, Park Ridge. Contest entries close on June 1.

Teacher Aviation Course Program To Be at DeKalb

The Illinois Wing of the Civil Air Patrol is currently seeking teachers in the elementary and secondary schools to participate in the Teachers Workshops during their summer vacations. The Workshop is open to all teachers and school administrators who desire an understanding of aviation with sufficient background to confidently bring aviation into the classroom. Flight instruction is optional.

Through the cooperation of the Illinois Wing of Civil Air Patrol, a number of scholarships are available to help defray fees and expenses of the workshop. There are no formal academic prerequisites for this workshop. No technical, vocational, or flight experience is necessary. The purpose of the program is to develop a basic understanding of aviation theory.

In order to receive credit, the student must meet all the requirements for admission to the university. Three semester hours of undergraduate or graduate resident credit in education will be available to those who successfully complete the Aviation Education Workshop program.

The schedule for the Northern Illinois University at DeKalb is from June 29 to July 17. The National College of Education at Evanston is from August 3 to 14. Persons interested in participating in this program can write to Major Joseph E. Day, 105 W. Adams st., CAP headquarters, Chicago 3.

Q. Does a person really have to give a reason for declining an invitation?

A. This would seem much better than an abrupt "no." If one were merely to say, "No, I can't come," it would indicate a lack of appreciation of the invitation, and even annwillingness to continue the friendship.

ROBERT SCHNEIDER

Army Recruit Robert Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Schneider, 261 N. Elmwood ave., Palatine, completed advanced individual training April 10 with the second infantry division at Fort Benning, Ga.

Schneider is a member of a group which trained together as part of Company A, second engineer battalion, under the army's packet training system.

He is scheduled to depart soon for Germany with his unit under Operation Gyroscope to replace a like unit in the third infantry division, a major element of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

The 17-year-old soldier entered the army in October 1958. He attended Palatine township high school.

Horse Scores Low On Intelligence

If a thoroughbred had to depend on his brain instead of his brawn, he'd be a sure loser.

Not that a horse is stupid, mind you. But in a list of the 10 most intelligent animals, the horse scrapes bottom. Even the pig is more of an intellectual.

Of course, the pig can't boast a pedigree that goes back to the princely steeds of Araby. According to The World Book Encyclopedia, all thoroughbreds can be traced directly to three Arabian stallions — the Darley Arabian, the Godolphin Barb and the Byerly Turk.

European horsemen crossed these fast, sturdy horses with their own breeds. The resulting thoroughbred is faster than his forebears . . . but he's also more of a weakling.

THIN-SKINNED and sensitive, the thoroughbred can't live off the land like the cow pony. And he can't carry the amount of weight in proportion to his height that other breeds carry.

But thanks to contests like the Kentucky Derby, he is praised and petted, curried and coaxed. And in return for an occasional swing around a track, he can expect to retire when he is still in his prime.

In all fairness, however, this treatment isn't half so tender as that enjoyed by a horse of another era. Incitatus, owned by the Roman Emperor Caligula, lived in an ivory manger and drank wine from a golden pail.

About A.D. 40, the "mad emperor" made him a priest and a consul. (B8

Q. When a man is in the elevator of an office building, and a woman acquaintance enters, should he remove his hat?

A. He should lift his hat in greeting, but etiquette does not require that he remove his hat in a business elevator.

At Camp Pendleton

Marine Pvt. Jeffery G. Kobi of 609 S. Wille, Mt. Prospect finished four weeks of individual combat training May 1 at the Marine Corps base, Camp Pendleton, Cal.

The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications and advanced schooling on weapons.

Trainees learn that all marines are basically infantrymen, whether they serve as cooks, typists, truck drivers or with aviation units.

Salesman Is Winner of Merit Award

Herbert J. Ruther, 407 Bob-O-Link rd., Mt. Prospect, local sales representative of Bestwall Certain-teed Sales corporation, has been awarded a Certificate of Merit from the company's Bestwall Gypsum Training School in Paoli, Pa.

Ruther was selected to attend the one week school for advance courses in Bestwall's extensive line of gypsum products and their application in industrial and building fields.

THE school and its graduates were cited by Carl E. Berzelius, sales vice-president who made the award to Ruther, as integral parts of Bestwall's new expansion plans. He noted the extensive use of gypsum products in residential and commercial building and in such diverse industries as missiles, glass, medical and agriculture, and challenged the graduates to keep pace with the rapid growth and technological advances of the company and its many customers.

Ruther was born in Oak Park and attended Butler university, Indianaspolis, and the University of Illinois. He is park commissioner for the Prospect Meadows Home Owners association, Mt. Prospect. A recipient of the Purpose Heart, he served as staff sergeant with the U. S. Army during World War II. He is married and has two childen.

Tax Increase Is Unnecessary

by: REP. PAUL SIMON

In his budget message, Governor Stratton proposed a $270 million bond issue for higher education and for welfare. It would be voted on at the general election in 1960.

There is no question about the needs for these two purposes, but there are several reasons to believe this is not the proper approach.

The most obvious objection is that a similar proposal was turned down at the polls last year (for $248 million) and there is no reason to believe this new and larger proposal would fare any better. The people did not vote against meeting these needs, but they did oppose — and I think properly —meeting them other than on a pay-as-you-go basis.

WE CANNOT continue to postpone these needs "until the next bond issue passes." These needs are real and pressing and they should be met now.

Even should this proposal carry, it would not be put into effect for another two years. Then approximately five years would be used for actual construction. That means a seven-year period is involved — even if the bond issue carries.

If this $270 million were divided into a seven-year period now and we tried the sure method of a pay-as-you-go basis, it would mean spending and additional $38 million per year.

THE ADVANTAGES of doing this are several.

1. We start meeting the problem now instead of postponing it.
2. We would save roughly $135 million in interest. In a bond issue this would be money down the drain. We have much better uses for $135 million than subsidizing a few big banks and bonding houses.
3. The pay-as-you-go method is certain. The governor's proposal was turned down in 1958 and it may be turned down in 1960.
4. The bond issue is to be backed by a state real estate tax which will be levied if necessary. Property taxes are already too high and the possibility of further increases of taxation on property is not one which will please the public.
5. Once you start financing needed state projects by bonds, you start a snowball that will be extremely difficult to stop. It would take real courage for a future governor to call a halt to this type of thing. Once it starts, chances are excellent that each succeeding governor will follow the same pattern and each year the state will be paying more and more money for interest instead of spending its money on buildings and needed services.

THE BIG question in all of the above is: Can $38 million come out of current state revenue?

First of all, if a slight tax increase of some kind would be necessary to meet this on a sound basis, I would favor it.

But I have spent considerable time during the past several weeks going over the costs of our state government and I am convinced that an additional $38 million per year can be saved from our present state budget of approximately two and one half billion dollars without great difficulty.

I think anyone — Democrat or Republican — who spends some time studying the expenditures of our state government would have to come to the same conclusion.

NEXT WEEK I hope to go into some detail as to where there can be substantial savings in our present governmental operation.

In the meantime I hope the ranks of those will grow who want to meet the costs of government now, rather than to postpone and enlarge our difficulties. (FP

Doughnut Days Set In Northwest Area

Official permits to hold "Doughnut Day" in Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, and Wheeling on Friday, June 12, have been granted to the Salvation Army.

In separate actions, Village Managers H. G. Appleby and L. A. Hanson and Clerks Marie Hard, Ida F. Zimmerman, and Evelyn Diens respectively notified "Doughnut Day" headquarters of the approval, reports Mrs. G. Reed Basinger of Oak Park, suburban area chairman.

ON "DOUGHNUT DAY," local residents serving as volunteer taggers will sell the little doughnut-shaped tags that have become familiar symbols of the Salvation Army's help for the distressed. The five northwest area communities will be among 150 suburban communities in the greater Chicago metropolitan area.

"Doughnut Day" contributions will help support the comprehensive social welfare program maintained by The Salvation Army for the unfortunate in the greater Chicago area.

This assistance includes such services as a home and hospital for unmarried mothers, family welfare service, help for homeless men, a day nursery, emergency canteen service at fires and other disasters, fresh air camps, a homemaker service medical and dental clinics, youth and character building programs, and many other services.

"WITH THE expected curtailment of welfare services by many agencies, the demands upon The Salvation Army will be greater than ever, and the value of a tagger becomes correspondingly greater," said Mrs. Basinger. "Only two hours of a volunteer's time could mean food and shelter for a desperate person. We must have $160,000 and we will need 12,000 women to reach that goal."

Volunteers, both individuals and club groups, are invited to sign up soon for tagging assignments at "Doughnut Day" headquarters, 8 S. Dearborn st., Chicago; telephone FInancial 6-1080.

Suburban Commuting in Jet Age Is Feature of Show

Suburban commuting in the jet age will be dramatized at the Second Annual Northwest Home and Garden show at Arlington Park Jockey club, Friday, May 22 through Sunday, May 24. According to Bernard Kuzan, advertising manager of Joliet Airmotive, Inc., Joliet Municipal airport, a helicopter will demonstrate commuting to the job by air in the not-too-distant future.

The helicopter program will open with an air-sea rescue from the lake in the middle of the race track at Arlington Park, Wilke rd. and the Northwest hwy. George Seyter, 2906 Thrush, Rolling Meadows, president of the Rolling Meadiws Jaycees, has volunteered to be the man in distress. He will be hoisted from a raft into the air and flown to safety. In a demonstration of the maneuverability of the helicopter, Jody Devitt, 46 S. Elm, Northlake, Queen of the Northwest Home and Garden show, will lead the whirlybird on a leash as if she is taking her dog for a walk. The final event on the helicopter show will be the use of the airship in commuting.

Headlining the entertainers appearing at this largest suburban living festival in the midwest will be singer Tommy Leonetti and Terry Bennett of ABC-TV's Jobblewocky Place and Shock Theater.

Mothers Day Is Losing Rosy Sentimentality

by RICHARD C. HOFFMANN

Convicts in Texas have attributed a special significance to "Mother's Day" since 1912.

This was the first year that the governor of Texas pardoned prisoners out of deference to the occasion.

For what else could instill such sentiment among hardened penal administrators than their remembrance of maternal things past?

Not too surprisingly, however, such sentimentalizing appears to be waning.

For while "Mother's Day" was conceived in America, this is also where the cult of "Momism" was first described in the vehement terminology of Philip Wylie.

Whereas "Mother" conjured up the imagery of the gentle but competent hands tucking you in and the master of hot biscuit magic, "Mom" has become that "Ugly American" mixture of smothering affection and possessive poison.

BUT REGARDLESS of whether the mothers are considered with messianic devotion or misanthropic disgust, the fact remained that this coming Sunday — May 10 — will be their day.

It has been, on a national scale, since May 10, 1913, when the conscious-stricken Congress of the United States passed a resolution establishing the second Sunday of May as a national holiday for the observance of Mother's Day.

Even before that, this compassionate salute or conspiracy (depending on your psyche sentiments) was taking form.

It all started when Mrs. Anna Jarvis' mother died in 1906.

Mrs. Jarvis, of Philadelphia, confided to a friend the next year that she would like to do something in memory of her departed mother.

The idea caught on; by 1907 many persons to whom Mrs. Jarvis had spoken were endorsing the plan. Civic organizations as well expressed interest in the proposal to honor Mom.

On May 10, 1908, the city of Philadelphia officially observed the first Mother's Day.

The idea spread with missionary zeal, and Mrs. Jarvis became the instrument for dispersing the creed as she addressed letters and remarks throughout the country.

By 1911, two years before Congressional sanction, the notion of bestowing annual accolades on maternal householdheads had been exported to Latin America and the Orient, where women have long held a sort of chattel prestige somewhat equivalent to cattle.

JUST BEFORE the Congress of the United States acted to give national recognition to mothers, the state of Pennsylvania made the observance a state holiday.

The custom also arose of wearing a pink carnation to church if your mother was still living, a white carnation if she was dead.

So mothers — along with fathers, flags, poultry, and sundry others among a multitude of people and things —has a special day reserved for her.

But anthropologists will tell you that for the feline of the species it has always been so. Unearthed figures of pregnant mother-gods point to the days of a dawning civilization when a matriarchal society existed in which the women ruled.

And there are still some cultures where mother-right, including property and parental-raising preferences, predominate.

And the struggle between male and female for supremacy, as reported in the annals of mythology, is apparently never-ending.

For the emancipation of the women in this country meant a newfound freedom in some fields; but it also meant that the respect once afforded the mother of the kitchen has been evaporating.

SOME STUDENTS of social problems have recently been decrying in vociferous voices the absolutes of authority being exhibited again by good old Mom.

They point to the trend on television in commercials and situation comedies in which Dad is portrayed consistently as a boob while Mother is seen as the omniscient guardian of the family welfare.

Without Father Authority, the trend toward increasing delinquency will not abate, they fear. (TV's pitch to the ladies, incidentally, focuses on the purchasing power of the weaker sex.)

But regardless of the psychological, anthropological, sociological and logical-logical probes of Mom's motivating resources, it remains that the second Sunday of May is still her day, by reason of legislation and loving children.

AND BEFORE WE get too critical, let us remember that Father's Day isn't too far off. (B8

Last-Minute Gift Buying for Moms

It's about the same this year as it always is, Mom; they're waiting till the last minute to get you a gift.

The vast majority of your closest kin, husband, father, son and daughter will buy your gift tomorrow or Saturday.

Main reason for this is that they simply can't decide on what to get till the last minute.

WHATEVER, the final decision is though, it's a pleasant surprise and usually thoroughy appreciated.

More and more it seems, from talks with salespeople, offspring and mothers, the trend is toward the practical gift, and not the sentimental rememberance. This can be construed by some as a sad trend, but that's the way it is, mainly because mother wants it that way.

Lingerie of all types is a tremendous seller for this holiday.

According to a female buyer at Crawford's department store in Rolling Meadows, Mother's day is like Christmas for the lingerie department.

MEN, SHE SAID, feel that they can't go wrong in the purchase of lingerie because of its practicality and easy to fit sizes.

Colors selling more than any other are pastels, particularly the new shades of yellow and green.

An interesting fact is the men will almost always buy something more expensive and frilly in lingerie than their female relations will buy for themselves.

Another big Mothers day seller is the purse. It's almost like Christmas in May for this item, with no particular style color outstanding.

With the purses go gloves. Other very large sellers are hosiery, colognes and jewelry.

A furniture dealer at the Arlington Market said most of his items are sold at the very last minute, and these are mainly lamps, small tables, pictures, ashtrays and a few chairs.

ONE OF the traditionally favorite gifts for mothers day is a plant of some kind.

There is no real noticeable difference in the items men and women are buying for their mothers, and there are no real differences in the type of gifts being bought this year as compared to other years.

There isn't much difference in timing either, so don't feel let down if you don't see the gift till Sunday morning. They're thinking about you. (SS

Lower Taxes but Increase Services Is Hue and Cry

By REP. JOHN W. CARROLL

We have been witnessing a one-man filibuster in the House of Representatives at Springfield which dramatically points up the present mood of the taxpayer. As the saying goes, the taxpayer has just about had it. He wants relief from high taxes -- and I'm with him 100 per cent.

But, let me tell you what's happening behind the scenes.

One half of my mail is from citizens who want taxes lowered, while the other half is from citizens who want higher appropriations for schools, welfare and other social problems.

OTHER LEGISLATORS report the same paradoxical situation.

Obviously, we can't do both.

I've got to go along with the lower tax group, because I believe taxes are too high. Our state budget likewise is too high, and we're hoping when it runs the gauntlet in the House, we can cut the budget.

But at the same time we cannot impair our educational facilities, and many of our welfare services by drastically cutting their requests. What we can-and will do — is to screen and study more than ever before each and every item, to the end of removing all the fat in government spending.

INCIDENTALLY, the man who has been conducting the filibuster is a farmer-legislator from Kansas, Ill., who carries the impressive name of Abe Lincoln Stanfield. He has insisted, in his protest against higher taxes, that every bill be read in detail. This has slowed up the House drastically.

No bills were passed in the House last week.

The effort to place a state-imposed tax rate lid on the City of Chicago failed in the House by two votes. The proposal to limit taxation to 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation had the backing of the Civic Federation of Chicago. But, it was defeated when the Democratic downstaters lined up with their Chicago colleagues, nullifying the GOP votes.

CHICAGO, OF course, is the only city with carte blanche power in the matter of tax rates. Up until 1955, a tax rate limit had been imposed, but through a fluke development in handling legislation in the 1955 sessions, the limit was lifted. It was charged on the floor at the latest hearing that taxes skyrocketed in Chicago.

Before I depart from this tax theme, I'd like to ask readers to let me know your thoughts on the question of taxes today. We're all in this together, and I believe we should have economy in our government as we do in our business or our private lives. Feel free to write me and wherever possible, I would like to publicize your thinking in this column from time to time. With your permission, of course.

WE have one bill in the hopper which may help take some of the financial burden off public schools forced to educate children from trailer parks—for free. I introduced a bill (House Bill 867) which would license trailer park coaches. The bill has the support of my colleagues, Rep. Simmons, Peskin and McConnell and other legislators.

However, I'm not too sure whether we have the right answer yet, although this is a step in the right direction. In search of all possible solutions, I have written to authorities in Ohio, Wisconsin and other states to learn how they have handled the trailer park problem with respect to making these trailer citizens pay their fair share of the education tax bill.

Some of our communities, such as Skokie, Lincolnwood, and Morton Grove, do not have this trailer park problem. But, it is causing concern in Elk Grove and in Niles, too. (B8

Arlington High Debaters To Compete in Tourney

Funds provided by an anonymous donor will send Arlington high debaters to the National Forensics League Tournament, June 22-26, at Coral Gables, Fla.

Because this tournament takes place after the close of the school year, it could not be directly sponsored by school authority. However, school officials granted their consent when an anonymous benefactor donated money for transportation and contest expenses.

SYLVIA PFEFFER, 403 MacArthur, Mt. Prospect, and Jim Sherman, 633 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, will represent Arlington in the debate section of the contest; Sherman will also compete in dramatic reading and radio speaking, while Miss Pfeffer will participate in extemporaneous speaking. Two alternates will make the trip to Florida, Virginia Bussert, 8 S. Louis, Mt. Prospect, and Jan Rogozinski, 1219 Woodford, Arlington Heights. Both were members of the team which won the Illinois State Debate Championship at Urbana on April 11.

This is the first national competition for any Arlington forensic or speech team. Bernard Brock, Arlington debate coach, will accompany the students.

New Trier high school will also take part in the national tournament as a result of a victory in the District National Forensic League contest. Other Illinois schools competing at Coral Gables are Elgin, in extemporaneous speaking, and Thorton-Fractional, in oratory.

WSCS Election To Take Place At Luncheon

Mrs. George Pope, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, will preside at the annual election of the organization next Tuesday afternoon at the church.

Program of the 12:45 p.m. luncheon meeting will feature Mrs. Elmer Carlson, a former missionary and now a resident of Prospect Heights. She will accompany her talk with the film "South of the Clouds." Set in Lebanon, this film shows how Christianity has changed the status of women.

MRS. ROBERT Higgins will be the narrrator at the pledge service when members will dedicate their gifts to the financial program of the society for next year. Mrs. Warren Black, contralto, and Mrs. Richard Bronwell, soprano, will sing a duet as part of this service. Mrs. Oliver Auer will be the accompanist.

The luncheon is being planned by Mrs. G. William Lebsock, Mrs. John Boehner and Mrs. George Sturm. Mrs. Sturm, CL 3-7260, is accepting reservations. (AM

Marchers Needed For Mentally Ill May Fund Appeal

The neighborhood fund appeal to raise funds to "Aid the Mentally Ill" will be conducted throughout the month of May.

Hundreds of people have been flooding the offices of the Greater Chicago Campaign for Mental Health with calls asking to do their small part to help this wonderful and needy cause. However, there is still a desperate need for many more marchers.

MRS. H. C. Bronars of Bensenville, Mrs. D. W. Kostner of Addison, Mrs. J. R. Walsh of Arlington Heights and Mrs L. W. Snyder and Mrs. W. S. Wolodkin, both of Mt. Prospect, are only a few who have volunteered to canvass their neighborhoods.

Those who can are urged to join forces, even if they can only spare a half-hour of their time, by contacting the campaign headquarters with a collect call to AVenue 2-3272. (A13

Mother's Day Cards Still Sentimental

BL BILL DULANEY

"Even Llamas have mamas," and while this and similar observations have tripled the sale of "sick" Mother's Day cards this year, the old standby is still a sentimental bit of verse.

Of the more than 240 million Mother's Day cards given Sunday, 85 per cent will express the traditional "We love you dear mother" thought, according to Vincent Vayda, regional sales manager for the American Greetings Corporation.

The other 15 per cent will be "sick," "slam," or "highbrow" cards, as they're variously called. The popularity of this type card, says Vayda, has extended to every holiday and occasion.

The conventional Mother's Day card, though expressing the same sentiment as in former years, has evolved into a less ornate, less maudlin card, according to Paul Vogel of the Paul R. Vogel company, publishers of Charm Craft cards.

"MOST OF THE verse used or sentiment expressed has a more sincere ring than that used 10 years ago. Card givers like to send a card that looks as if they might have written the message, not something that originated with a 19th century poet," says Vogel.

Vayda notes that the trend of Mother's Day cards is toward smaller, neater looking cards with better art work. Parchment cards, though more costly, are big sellers, as are cards with a religious emphasis.

While the sale of all types of greeting cards has boomed in the post-war years, Mother's Day cards in particular have become increasingly popular. Their retail sale amounts to $60 million yearly, according to Vayda, and Vogel notes that his company's sale of Mother's Day cards has doubled since 1951, while the sale of all cards has risen only 20 per cent.

VOGEL ATTRIBUTES a large portion of the sales increase to "other mothers." There are Mother's Day cards for new mothers, mothers-to-be, grandmothers, a friend's mother, a sweetheart's mother, aunts, mothers-in-law, and "to someone like a mother." There is even a Mother's Day card for parents so father won't feel left out. In fact, says Vogel, "other mother" cards count for a third of Mother's Day card sales.

As for the "sick" card trend, some publishers are already expressing concern over where it will end.

"We feel such cards are in bad taste, but carry the line because of competition," says a representative of one large company.

ANOTHER CLAIMS that such cards appeal primarily to young people. But young or old, habitual card senders are generally lonely people, says an executive of a publishing firm.

Psychologists have made the observation, he says that many people who regularly send cards do so in the hope of receiving one in return. Many are older persons with little family life, and receivinbg a card gives them a sense of belonging, he says. (SS

PVT. JAMES M. KENT and his mother, Mrs. Quentin M. Lambert, 519 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, are shown taking advantage of the facilities at the depot reception center at the San Diego, Cal., marine base. Mrs. Lambert traveled to San Diego to be present when Pvt. Kent graduated April 23 from 11 weeks of recruit training. Kent, who enlisted at the Marine Corps Recruiting sub-station in Evanston for a 4-year period, will be stationed at Camp Matthews, San Diego, for temporary duty with the weapons training battalion after a 15-day leave.

Women of Moose Hold Fish Fries

Members of Barrington Women of the Moose recently served as escorts at the installation of officers of the local Moose lodge. Those attending were Mesdames Rose Batz, Alvera Freitag, Bernice Kath, Alice Stanek, Helene Jones, Kay Phillips, Barbara Hanes and Beverly Nightingale. Pianist was Mrs. Marie Steif.

The women have completed a project of sending a doll, clothes and a doll trunk to a child at Mooseheart. Mrs. Elizabeth Brommelkamp, homemaking chairman, was in charge.

The Barrington chapter reminds families of this area that fish fries are held every Friday evening from 5 to 8 at the Barrington Moose hall.

Choir Members United In Arlington Church

An Arlington Heights couple was united in marriage March 21 in Faith Evangelical Lutheran church by Rev. Edgar Behrens. The former Irene Birr, daughter of the William Birrs, 1231 N. Dunton, and Robert Walter Hornbostel, son of the Walter H. Hornbostels, 815 Burton pl., were married in the church in which they were both members of the choir. George Schrader, choir director and organist of the church, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Promise Me."

The bride wore a princess style wedding gown with a lace bodice trimmed at the neckline with sequins and a silk mist skirt with lace inserts. A crown of orange blossoms held a fingertip veil in place, and the bride's bouquet was of white camellias and stephanotis. She also wore a single strand of pearls with earrings to match.

HER CO[illegible], Mrs. Mildred Holmes of Lombard, served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Jean Grundt of Chicago and Miss Karen Glade of Mt. Prospect. All the attendants were gowned similarly in dresses of white over powder blue taffeta with a wide powder blue cummerbund. They wore matching blue pillbox hats with short veils and carried crescent bouquets of pink camellias.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Raymond Hornbostel, and ushers were John Schroeder of Arlington Heights and Patrick Boots, vicar of Faith church.

A BUFFET supper for 120 guests was served following the ceremony in the church hall. The couple then left on a week's honeymoon in the Ozarks and are now at home at 523 S. Rammer, Arlington Heights.

The bride is a graduate of Luther high school and is employed by the Illinois Agricultural Auditing association in Chicago. The bridegroom is an Arlington graduate and works for Liedtke Bros. Co., printers, also in Chicago.

TOPS Elects New Leader

Mrs. William C. Klingenmaier of Arlington Heights, was elected leader of the Mt. Prospect chapter of TOPS club, which serves the Arlington-Mt. Prospect area, at the group's April 26 meeting held in the home of Mrs. George Baumet in Arlington Heights. New co-leader of the organization is Mrs. Bill Strickler, also of Arlington Heights.

Secretary of the group is Mrs. George W. Rezner of Arlington Heights; Mrs. Albert L. Bouffard of Mt. Prospect is treasurer; Mrs. Robert P. Smith of Mt. Prospect and Mrs. John W. Noerenberg of Arlington Heights, recorders; Mrs. Donald E. Hirsch, public relations.

TOPS Club, Inc. is a non-profit organization of weight-conscious people with a membership of more than 15,000 who "take off pounds sensibly" through club group therapy that gives free to every member, an unlimited supply of will power.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Back to Togetherness

Back to togetherness. Sometimes I wish I had never learned to read. Either that or, I wish I could avoid being influenced by what I do read. Sooner or later what I peruse gets me, right here.

And, when I am got, I act. Like deciding that this practice of eating in front of the television is undermining our homelife. So, for a couple of times, I have dinner at the table so we can communicate with one another all over the place.

Which we do. I get to know what girls are going with what boys. I find out which are steady twosomes, which are transistory, which are on the verge of breaking up and which fellas are living dolls. I find out which teachers are angels and which are the other kind. Seems to depend on grades given.

All of this information leaves me a little cold and quite a bit skeptical. Likewise my encounters with the man who reads the meters, the man who delivers the diapers, the man who fixes the washer doesn't seem to edify them either. It is right about here that communications sort of break down and everyone runs to the living room to catch the last of Gunsmoke.

Togetherness in traveling also seems to leave a lot to be desired. I keep thinking that if we had a larger car, it would solve some of our troubles. Of course, we have a full size four door sedan, but I'm thinking of investing in a school bus. Maybe then there would be room in the back seat for three girls and ninety two crinolines. I love full skirts on girls but mine seem to carry the fullness to the point of the ridiculous. Each girl by herself becomes a mile wide and they just don't seem to make autos like that.

So, conversation from the back seat runs to complaining about the amount of room each must have to be comfortable, neat and happy. There isn't that much. They are, perforce, uncomfortable, mussed and mean.

How much would a bus cost?

Altar vases and baskets of white snapdragons decorated Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine, for the May 2 wedding of Carole Eve Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav P. Hahn, 203 Plum Grove rd., Palatine, and Henry L. Vessell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vessell of Keewatin, Minn. The service took place at 6 p.m. with Rev. R. C. Sauer officiating.

Miss Joyce Clow, a friend and former classmate of the bride, was soloist and sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because." A. R. Petrowsky was organist. Pews of the church were marked with white ribbons, carnations and baby mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly-type lace fashioned with sweetheart neckline accented with sequins and pearls. The skirt of the gown was made with panels of lace in front with tiers of lace and tulle ruffles in back. Her headpiece was a coronet of lace and pearls with fingertip veil of silk illusion trimmed with lace. White baby roses and stephanotis around a purple and white orchid, formed her bridal bouquet.

MISS MARY Wise of Chicago was maid of honor and wore a lavender silk organza harem-skirted gown scattered with bows. Her flowers were yellow baby roses. Bridesmaid was Miss Nancy Johnson, also of Chicago, who wore a gown in yellow silk organza, fashioned identically to the maid of honor's gown. Her flowers were also yellow roses.

The service was followed by a reception in the church school where Mrs. Hahn received in a grey lace dress over pink taffeta and a corsage of deep pink baby roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy silk dress with corsage of pink baby roses.

JIM ASHFIELD of Chicago was best man and ushers were Richard Hahn of Arlington Heights and Kemeth Hahn of Palatine.

The new Mrs. Vessell was graduated from Palatine high school and Walther Memorial hospital. She is now employed at MacNeal Memorial hospital. The bridegroom attended Minnesota schools and is now with Danley Machine Specialties, Inc. The couple is residing in Cicero.

Announce Engagements

Mary Meineke

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth A. Meineke of Palatine announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lucinda, to Lee Schwabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel Schwabe of Milwaukee.

Miss Meineke is a senior at the University of Wisconsin and Mr. Schwabe was graduated from the same university last June.

Myrna Kuhn

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gahan of Dundee rd., Palatine, announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrna Jane Kuhn, to Donald T. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Nelson of Cedar Lake, Ind.

Miss Kuhn was graduated from Southern Illinois university where she became affiliated with Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority. She is presently teaching kindergarten in Kankakee. Mr. Nelson received his B.S. degree from Ball State Teachers college in Muncie and his M.S. degree from Southern Illinois university in Carbondale. He is affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity, several professional fraternities and in 1957 was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Presently, Mr. Nelson is teaching in Dyer Central high school, Dyer, Ind.

The wedding date has been set for June 20.

Jean Tarr

A fall wedding is being planned by Miss Jean Clare Tarr and E. J. Worley Jr., son of the senior E. J. Worleys, 1320 W. Lincoln, Mt. Prospect. The couple's engagement was announced at Christmas by Miss Tarr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tarr of Chicago.

Mr. Worley is stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. at present.

Joyce Addy

The engagement of Miss Joyce Addy to Ronald G. Gittings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel V. Gittings, of Prospect Heights, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Addy of Arlington Heights.

Miss Addy will be graduated from Arlington high school June 4. Her fiance was graduated from Bateman high school, Chicago.

The couple has not set a wedding date.

Stork Feathers

Parents of their first child, a son, Robert John Jr., are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Pionke, 107 S. Gibbons, Arlington Heights. The baby was born April 26 in Resurrection hospital and weighed 9 pounds 8¼ ounces. The baby's only grandparent is Leo G. Pionke of Chicago.

A 9 pound 4 ounce son, Lew Charles, was born April 18 in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Bischoffer, 1546 S. Benton, Palatine. The baby has two sisters, Linda, 6, and Cindie, 2½. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bischoffer of Norwood Park and Mrs. Esther Bierman of Des Plaines are the baby's grandparents.

Sorority Activities

Phi Mu

The May 11 meeting of the Phi Mu Northwest Suburban Alumnae club will be held at 8:15 p.m. in the home of Mrs. T. W. Spillman, 641 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights. A party has been planned by the local club for members of the north suburban alumnae unit of the Chicago Phi Mu Alliance and the West Suburban Phi Mu Alumnae club.

Reservations for this meeting can be made by calling either the hostess, Mrs. T. W. Spillman at CL 5-2476 or Mrs. R. L. Stauder of Arlington Heights at CL 3-3321. All Phi Mus in the Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect area are invited.

AT THE APRIL meeting Miss Patricia Sholder gave a report on the seventh annual Phi Mu Illinois State day, held April 11 at the Old Spinning Wheel in Hinsdale. Speaker of the day was Mrs. William Lynch, a Phi Mu who is in charge of the Americanization program for the Chicago Board of Education. Mrs. Lynch's topic was "Lighting the Way For Our New Americans."

Every Tuesday morning in Chicago a number of immigrants become American citizens. Traffic is stopped while they march from the court house down the street to a reception. One boy scout, after taking part in the parade and reception, told Mrs. Lynch he wished that he was an immigrant so he could become an American citizen, because he could see how much it meant to them.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Tam O'Shanter country club will be the setting for the spring luncheon of Northwest Alumnae association of Kappa Kappa Gamma. This event, to be held Tuesday, May 12, at 1 p.m., will be the last of the group's activities until fall.

Officers for the coming year will be installed. In charge of luncheon arrangements are Mrs. William Manbeck, Mrs. Philip Tone and Mrs. Walter St. Denis.

All Kappas in the area are invited. Any who have not been contacted and who would like further information, may contact Mrs. Douglas Thomson, CL 5-4793.

Fashion Show Theme Is 'One Summer Day'

May 20 at 8 p.m. the Parkside school gym in Roselle will be the scene of "One Summer Day," this year's annual fashion show sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian service of the Roselle Methodist church. A cast of models will give the audience a "sneak preview" of what will be worn come summer by the career woman, homemaker, friend, husband or member of the younger set.

A highlight of the event will be a summer wedding scene, sure to interest brides-to-be and renew memories for those who fondly recall their own weddings.

Refreshments will be served and surprise entertainment will be given during the intermission.

Fashions for this evening are being provided by Reid's Apparel, Tioga Toggery and Kiddie Korner shops, all in Bensenville.

Tickets will be available at the door. The show committee promises an evening the whole family can enjoy.

Plan Flower Show School; Convention for Garden Clubs

School time is approaching again for hundreds of Garden club members all over Chicagoland and Illinois who will attend the nationally accredited flower show school. Mrs. J. Edward Vandivere, president of the Garden club of Illinois will open the school Wednesday, May 20, at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. E. F. Simpson of Memphis, Tenn., will then present a lecture in flower arranging. Pictures of her work have appeared in every type of publication, both local and national. She has given lecture demonstrations, taught Flower show schools and judged all through the Mid-West and from Boston to Houston. She will lecture from 9:30 until 11:30 and again from 1 to 3 p.m. Thursday, May 21, from 9:30 till 11:30, covering the course on "Flower Show Practice," will be Mrs. James R. Searles of St. Louis. Mrs. Searles is a charming and very capable instructor in flower show practice and horticulture. She has been active in Garden club and Flower show affairs in district and state for many years and at present is writing a column as East Central district horticulture editor for the Sunday Globe Democrat. She is chairman for flower arrangements at the National Convention of State Garden clubs in St. Louis, May 10 through 14.

The purpose of a flower show school is to raise the standard of the community shows, the local flower shows which do so much to stimulate interest in horticulture in the various localities. The Flower show school provides accredited judges so the shows will be fairly judged and teaches exhibitors of the show how to grow and exhibit their plant material in the best possible manner. The School is open to all who are interested, whether members of a garden club or not. There is a fee for the full course of lectures or for a single lecture. Tickets are available at the Garden club office, 36 S. Wabash, Chicago.

The examinations, which are optional, will be held Friday, May 22, in the Club room of the Art Institute.

Mrs. David Elam of Roselle is a member of the Flower show school committee.

The 13th annual convention of the National Council of State Garden clubs, Inc., will be held May 10 through May 14 in St. Louis, Mo. Headquarters for the convention will be the Chase-Park Plaza hotels and the hostess, the Federated Garden clubs of Missouri.

The theme of this national Convention, "Vision Into Reality" could well be applied to the Garden Club of Illinois. We've truly seen visions become realities with so many of our projects such as the Lincoln Memorial Garden, the River garden, the launching on Arbor day of the landscaping of the Illinois tollways, Nationally honored Flower Shows and a conservation school for juniors.

The dedication of the permanent home of National Council headquarters will be the exciting opening of the Convention May 10. Among the highlights of the convention will be:

Dr. R. McArdle of Washington, D.C., Chief, United States Forest Service, speaking on "Gardening—Large Scale"; Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant for both General Motors and American Trucking association will speak on "Open the Garden Gates." The story of Johnny Appleseed, a pageant, will be presented; Car Buchheister of New York, senior vice president of the National Audubon society, will be the speaker May 12; Donald S. Welles of Pennsylvania, world famous photographer and lecturer, will present "Gardens, Hither, Thither and Yon"; A special performance of the world famous St. Louis Zoo Chimpanzee show; Dr. Edgar Anderson, research director of Shaw's garden, author and internationally recognized botanist, will speak on Adventure and Research and Edith B. Evans, editor in chief of "Living for Young Homemakers" and Margaret Hutchinson, color stylist, will present "Colors and Flowers for Living."

Lorraine Meyer

Miss Lorraine Meyer and her fiance, William J. Engelhardt, of Chicago, are planning a June 14 wedding. Miss Meyer's mother, Mrs. Fred R. Meyer, 315 W. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights, has announced the couple's engagement.

The bride-to-be teaches third grade in the Mt. Prospect school system and Mr. Engelhardt is employed with Gallaher and Speck in Chicago.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Fashions for Suburbia

Dear Peg:

Usually, fashion shows leave me cold. The clothes are either too expensive, too extreme, or just not suitable for suburban living (the kind of suburban living we do). If the models are professional, they maneuver their reed-slim, well-corseted figures through the audience swiftly and assuredly, occasionally making a crisp turn to give the ladies another view of the costume and a practiced smile through the "pancake" and mascara—and you're the last person you can imagine wearing the clothes they're showing.

If the models are "some of your own girls" there are likely to be mixed feelings: (a) with all that make-up and clothes, which are definitely not their type, you'd hardly recognize them (b) you would have refused, of course, but why didn't the chairman of the models ask you to do it?

As I said, "fashion shows usually leave me cold," however, I saw one recently that was without a doubt one of the most unusual and prettiest I've ever seen. Our church guild held its annual fashion and luncheon at the Rustic Manor in Gurnee, Illinois. Heins department store in Waukegan gave the show and did a very good job. Although the models were professionals from the store, they made a nicely varied group including a young career girl type, several young mother types, two lovely women in their middle years and a very pretty, slim, silver-haired Grandmother with a quick smile and bright blue eyes. The clothes they wore not only suited them, but also the women watching who were near their ages. The clothes were surprisingly low-priced and everything from sportswear to cocktail dresses were shown, with a preponderance of black and white especially fashionable this spring and summer.

An amusing feature of the show was "the lady next door." She opened the show dressed in her typical morning ensemble; hair in curlers, husband's old plaid bathrobe and slipper sox. This was the dress of your neighbor—you, of course, would dress in something fresh and pretty such as the outfits worn by the models who followed her. When marketing "the lady next door' wears her husband's old army shirt and blue jeans with her hair still in curlers tied with a bandana. You would be neat and attractive wearing your matching cotton blouse and skirt or (if very slim) colorful peddle-pushers and matching jacket, or perhaps the favorite of suburban ladies— the shirtwaist dress.

The "lady next door" preceded each segment of the show (her cocktail dress was a riot—"something left over from college days"—red velvet top and black net skirt—hair still in curlers, but so chic tied up with a piece of black net), and closed the show looking every inch the pretty matron in a simple black sheath and jacket.

My love,
Pat

SMILING OVER SUCCESSFUL results of their work are these members of the membership committee of the Northwest Community Hospital Women's auxiliary, shown finishing the decorations and name tags that welcomed the new members of the auxiliary at the April meeting. The auxiliary membership drive held in April resulted in 150 new members and 60 former members who re-instated their membership in the auxiliary. Seated are Mrs. J. T. Gannon, Winston Park, Mrs. L. W. Bowen, Palatine, Mrs. R. E. Lee, Mt. Prospect, and Mrs. W. Guintoli, Mt. Prospect. Standing, Mrs. J. Schumacher, Plum Grove Estates, Mrs. R. Provart, Palatine, and Mrs. D. Teenager Creates Menus, Prepares All Food Herself

Miss Barbara Gall chosen as bride of the month at Dirigo

A beautiful display of Rosenthal china, Tiffin crystal, and golden-hued Dirilyte, the tableware choices of Miss Barbara Gall and Mr. David Hoffman, may be seen at Dirigo Fine Table Appointments, 170 N. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling, where Miss Gall has been named Bride of the Month.

The May 16 wedding of this popular Wheeling couple will be the first to be held in the new edifice of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church in Prospct Heights; it will also be the very first at which Pastor Paul F. Goetting has officiated. Barbara and David met at Arlington Heights high school soon after the C. J. Hoffman family moved to Wheeling to establish their cement and garden ornament business. David is active in the family business, and Barbara contributes her talent for painting to putting the finishing touches on the delightful lawn ornaments. Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rebholz, recently purchased the Haven Motel in Palatine; her great-aunts, Miss Ella Hiller and Mrs. Mary Berndt, are the well-known proprietors of Art's Log Cabin Restaurant in Wheeling.

DIRIGO, INC., provides a registery for wedding gifts from an unusually wide selection of fine table appointments. Shopping is convenient, and there is ample parking space. Business hours are from 9 to 9 daily; 9 to 6 Saturdays; 1 to 9 Sundays. Telephone LEhigh 7-1978.

by LOIS SEILER

It takes a teenager to know what other teenagers enjoy. This is certainly true in the realm of foods, and the youthful cook we are featuring today not only planned her thirteenth birthday party, but she also prepared all of the food!

This young miss is Paula Krueger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Krueger of 14 N. Yale, Arlington Heights.

Paula has been interested in cooking since she was seven years old, and her family will testify that she has become quite an expert in the culinary department.

HER FAVORITE book to cook from is "Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book for Juniors." From this book she prepared three of her favorite recipes for her first party as a teenager.

To the 12 girls who attended her luncheon Paula served Barbecue Burgers accompanied by potato chips and relishes. The barbecue consists of ground beef, onion, chicken gumbo soup, catsup, mustard and seasonings. These ingredients are simmered together then spooned onto buns. The barbecue is ever so tasty and appeals to adults as well as young folks.

For the beverage, Paula prepared Tutti-Fruiti-Ice-Sparkle. This festive punch is made by heaping tall glasses with various flavored ice cubes and filling the glasses with a carbonated beverage. It is a refreshing and colorful summer drink.

TO TOP OFF the luncheon, Ice Cream Pops were served. A clever party idea, the pops are made of squares of vanilla ice cream. A wooden spoon is placed upright in each square and a guest's name is written on each spoon. Then the ice cream squares are coated with milk chocolate and chopped nuts. They are a delicious and delightful party treat.

If you are planning a party for youngsters, you are sure to have success with Paula's recipes. She followed her luncheon with a scavenger hunt, which is always fun for the young.

An active seventh grader at South Junior high, Paula is a member of the Junior Cotillion and is secretary-treasurer of the Luther League at Our Saviour's Lutheran church. She also attends confirmation class.

Barbecue Burgers

2 tablespoons fat
1 pound ground beef
2/3 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon catsup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Cook meat and onion together in hot fat until meat is lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients.

Cover and simmer gently over low heat for 30 minutes. Spoon into 8 buns.

Titti-Fruiti-Ice Sparkle

1 one-ounce package each of orange, lime and cherry summer drink powder

Mix each flavored drink with 2/3 cup sugar and 4 cups water. Pour into separate ice cube trays.

To serve, put one cube of each flavor into a tall glass and fill each glass with lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Other beverages such as 50-50, 7-up or ginger-ale may be used.

Ice Cream Pops

4 wooden spoons
1 pint vanilla ice cream (brick)
1 5-ounce bar milk chocolate
¼ cup shortening
½ cup chopped nuts

On the handles of the wooden spoons write the names of the children.

Cut the ice cream in 4 square pieces. (Ice cream should be very hard.)

Stick a wooden spoon into each piece; place in a shallow pan and freeze until very hard.

Put 2 inches of water in the bottom of a double boiler. Melt the chocolate and shortening in the top. Mix. Cool until warm. Spread chocolate on one side of the pop. Dip into nuts at once. Repeat on other sides and bottom.

Store in freezer.

—John Barrymore.

YOUTHFUL COOK Paula Krueger has been interested in cooking since she was 7 years old and recently on the occasion of her 13th birthday, she prepared a complete luncheon for 12 girls. Paula is shown serving barbecue burgers to Jackie Kleinofen and Gerry Dezonna. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Krueger, of Arlington Heights, Paula is already regarded as an expert in the culinary department.

Meadowdale's spectacular new Wintergarden Restaurant

Everything to your liking and nothing lacking

Indoor ice-skating rink is just one of many attractions at the new Wintergarden Restaurant, located in the Meadowdale Shopping Center (on Highway 25, 3 miles north of the Illinois Toll Road).

Dining at the new Wintergarden Restaurant is wonderfully different.

Just picture you and your family in this terraced and beautiful restaurant. Almost anywhere you're seated, you have a clear view of the colorful indoor ice-skating rink. Begin your dinner by ordering a beverage from the amply stocked St. Moritz Bar. Select your favorite food from a menu unusual for its variety. All quality foods, cooked expertly and served with courtesy.

Planned for family dining

As you look around, you'll know immediately that here is a restaurant that's ideal for family dining. You can see that it was carefully planned that way, from the wholesome atmosphere of winter sports to the modest prices. You can order a delicious full-course dinner for only $1.95.

But whatever the price, every dinner is prepared by a highly skilled chef of long experience. It's cooked in an ultra-modern, all-electric kitchen. Done exactly the way you like it because electric cooking gives perfect control of temperature. The good, natural juices of meats and vegetables are always retained.

Take your family to Wintergarden this week. We'll bet you make it a habit.

Sidewalk Cafe directly overlooks rink. Full-grown birch trees, trimmed hedges add to the outdoor atmosphere.

Snick Snack Bar for shoppers in a hurry. Good food served immediately.

All-electric kitchen, and, as you can see, one that's kept spotlessly clean, serves patrons of the new Wintergarden Restaurant.

For men only—the clublike room called "The Captain's Table." Big, comfortable chairs, man-sized tables, rich wood paneling. Fine menu, everyday prices.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

by DOLORES HAUGH

A Hobo's Hay Day Party

Has the wonderlust of spring hit you? Do you have the urge to travel? No money? Well, don't hop the nearest freight and bum around the country, bring the country and the bums to your home for a Hobo's Hayday.

Teenager's parents: this would be a natural for the kids. First of all, accept the fact that teens are people. Maybe you don't remember, but we probably did things that were considered "strange" too so give the teenagers this Hobo Hayday party, treating them as adults and plan ahead. As long as the boys and girls don't separate, you are all right, but let the boys congregate downstairs while the girls titter and giggle in little groups and you are lost. Start out with plans, mix 'em up, a fast start puts your hobo party in orbit.

Invitations

Invitations can be mailed out on the back of bean labels (save the tin cans) or in the form of hobo sacks using skewers for the sticks. If you decide on the latter, outline the hobo sack on double fold, red, construction paper and with India ink or crayon make a few marks simulating the bandana kerchief markings. Inside, or on the bean label, the following verse can be used: This party is also easily adaptable for a child's birthday party.

The Hobos are a happy lot,
Come join us and you'll see.
The food they eat, the way they live,
It's footloose, fancy-free.
Come to the HOBO HAYDAY
Don your oldest pair of jeans,
Be sure and bring a pie pan.
Cause we'll split a can of beans.
Sew patches on your sweater,
And wear your oldest shoes
For at the Hobo's Hayday
We'll loose Spring Fever Blues.

Give instructions to bring the pie pan mentioned, an empty tin can and an old spoon in their bandana handkerchief hobo sacks. Ask each one to wear some unusual item that will blend in with their costume, such as one earring or a daisy. Keep a list of the items requested for a mixer game of Hobo Treasure Hunt to start off the party.

Preparing the Food

The serving, of course, will be informal. A suggested buffet supper menu would be Farmer Brown's fried chicken, Hobo baked beans, spring onions and radishes, fresh stolen apple pie, milk or coffee, if an adult party.

If you serve outside or in the family room, pack the hobo packs in the kitchen, use the fried chicken, or sandwiches, potato chips, cookies, fruit, candy a bottle of coke, and anything else that can be packed without leaking. Tie up the sacks, replace the sticks and let the hobos march around the room. This is a good time for costume judging too.

Decorations

Prepare the room by removing all chairs, tables or any other luxuries unheard of in a hobo jungle. Pin newspapers over all draperies and use wooden crates, planks or tree stumps for chairs. String a line of laundry, place buckets with dippers and signs on rough pieces of wood stating "Free Chow," "Fresh Water," etc.

Leave all light bulbs exposed and have a fire with a coffee pot cooking over it; a flashlight covered with crumpled, orange, flameproof crepe pape and covered with kindling gives the needed effect. If you use a table, cover it with newspapers, sprinkle with branches of forsythia, any wild flowers or daisies. Make an arrangement of them using a tin can for the container.

Everyone has his own dinnerware: the pie pan, spoon and cup and the tin can. If you serve hot beverages, however, put paper cup liners in the cans as they do heat up. Use tin for snacks or ash trays. Any pin up pictures from magazines or old newspapers add color and interest to the walls.

For seating and tables, you can use bales of hay if you have a source of supply. A scarecrow in a corner gives the illusion of the outdoors and is a welcome prop.

Games

Of course, travel games are a natural for hobos. Use subjects like trains, travel or any other pertinent theme. Start the festivities with the Hobo Treasure Hunt which is merely distributing a list of the items you requested your guests to wear as part of their costume. When composing the list make sure you can fill in on any which might be forgotten. The guests must locate the person wearing the items listed and have him autograph the list. Set a time limit; the winner is the one with the most autographs.

Wrap all prizes in road maps obtained from any gas station. Some suitable prizes would be a one way ticket to the loop on the North Western railroad, matched luggage (three shopping bags of varying sizes), United States puzzles for children's parties or candy in tin cans just to mention a few.

IF YOU NEED help with games, or any party arrangements call CL 3-3996 for low-cost party counseling assistance.

Award the prizes for the oldest, craziest hat, most unusual pants or "holiest" shoes.

Community singing around the fake fire can wind up the Hobo's Hayday. If you really want to have a BUM party, have one now and every hobo invited is sure to have a Hayday!

Smorgasbord to Climax Year For Mt. Prospect Juniors

Mt. Prospect Junior Woman's club will climax the end of its club year at a smorgasbord banquet to be held May 13 at Old Orchard country club. The newly elected officers, Mrs. Robert McCullagh, president; Mrs. Kenneth Odmark, first vice president; Mrs. Jack Piper, treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Jones, program chairman; will be installed by Mrs. Louis Imber, past president of the seventh district Illinois Federation of Woman's clubs.

After the ceremony, Joseph Fasulo, handwriting analyst, will entertain members and their guests.

The club is a service organization which actively supports local and civic projects. It has made contributions to the Northwest Community hospital, Rolling Meadows School for Retarded Children, Northwest YMCA, the Wheeling school for the blind and many others of local and statewide interest.

THE CLUB SOLD Halloween candy for the Brain Research foundation; made and packaged 216 bags of cookies and candies for the Chicago State Mental hospital; and contributed money, clothing, scrapbooks and magazines to veterans hospitals and TB sanitariums.

This year the main civic project was the improvement of the Chicago and North Western railroad station in Mt. Prospect. As a result of the club's efforts the railroad has promised to refurbish the station this year. The club also purchased a 54 volumn set of "Great Books of the Western World" which the Mt. Prospect public library has needed for several years.

The club wishes to publicly thank the many merchants and residents who supported the card party-fashion show and fall dance which helped the club realize a profit of over $800; and, therefore, enabled the club to make donations for the benefit of the entire community.

Toastmistresses Change Meeting Place to L&O

When members of Midtown Toastmistress club get together for their May 11 meeting, they will be in new and different surroundings—the meeting room of the Lauterberg and Oehler Funeral home, 800 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m., and one of the main events on the agenda will be the nominating committee's presentation of its slate of officers for the coming year. There will also be a report of the council meeting held in Chicago April 18, where Midtown's contestant, Mrs. Carl A. Petersen, Palatine, won the speech contest.

MRS. JAMES Kulze, Arlington Heights, will be toastmistress for the May 11 program, which will include speeches by Mrs. Walter Marsh and Mrs. Robert Bruhnke, both of Arlington Heights. Table topics will be under the direction of Mrs. Harold Edwall, Mt. Prospect.

Guests are invited. Prospective members are urged to bring their filled-out membership applications.

Adoption Agency Seeks Applications

The Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society is encouraging applications from childless couples who would like to adopt a baby, it was announced this week by Lois Wildy, executive director of the Society.

"Although we have no more than the usual small number of children who are available for adoption," said Miss Wildy, "we must have a wide choice of families from which to select the right parents for each baby."

"Regrettably, we cannot help everyone who applies," continued Miss Wildy, "but we inform applicants within a reasonable length of time if we have the right baby for them so that those whom we must disappoint can make other plans."

THE SOCIETY maintains no "waiting list" and has no rigid "requirements" which prospective parents must fulfill. Couples who want to adopt a baby should be happy, contented people who could accept and love an adopted child as their own. They should have meen married long enough to be adjusted to living together, and should have made medical investigation of their inability to have a child of their own. Also, she said, they should be able to add a member to the family without undue financial strain.

For more information, interested couples may telephone the Society's adoption intake caseworker at WHitehall 4-3313, or write the Adoption Division, 1122 North Dearborn st., Chicago 10, Illinois. The Society is one of the oldest and largest child-placing agencies in Illinois. It is privately supported by contributions. (Soc

Announce Plans For Auxiliary Of New Hospital

Announcement is being made this week of the formation of a woman's auxiliary of Holy Family hospital which will soon be under construction at Golf and River rds., Des Plaines. Heading the membership committee in the areas served by Paddock Publications is Mrs. Alfred Ball, 6 S. Louis, Mt. Prospect.

A meeting of officers and the board of directors was held with Rev. Mother Aloysius, provincial superior of the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth, April 20. New president of the group is Mrs. Jack Berdell, while vice president and treasurer are Mrs. William Ross and Mrs. William Lundmark Jr., all of Cumberland. Recording secretary is Mrs. Frank Opeka, also of Cumberland.

Mrs. Roger Speigler and Mrs. Edward Villadonga of Mt. Prospect are members of the ways and means committee. (S

Heights Woman On Ravinia Committee

Mrs. Arthur Franzen of Arlington Heights has been named as one of the chairmen of the coupon book sales committee for Ravinia's 24th festival season. Performances will include six appearances of the New York City Ballet Co., modern jazz artist Gerry Mulligan and his musicians, the Kingston trio and two evenings devoted to "The Story of the Blues."

The Chicago Symphony orchestra will furnish the basis of the season with concerts under the baton of world-famous guest conductors.

An extra treat is in store for committee chairmen and workers when they lunch at the Casino next Tuesday. They will hear Walter Hendl, Ravinia's new artistic director, gives a musical preview of the season's program.

Clubwomen To Attend 64th IFWC Confab

The 64th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will be held May 5, 6 and 7 in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago.

Delegates from the Arlington Heights Woman's club will include Mrs. Herman L. Berthold, president of the club, Mrs. Donald L. Wheeler, Mrs. Joseph E. Lohr, Mrs. Everett M. Nelson and Mrs. Ben F. Carns.

The club's prize-winning scrapbook will be on display at the press book exhibit during the convention. The Arlington Height book won the blue ribbon at the seventh district contest last month.

Canteen to Aid New Lutheran Hospital

Three Mt. Prospect women, Mrs. Walter Kirchhoff, 118 S. Owen, Mrs. P. W. Peterson, 701 See-Gwun, and Mrs. A. W. Swanson, 102 N. Elm, are among the chairmen of a new canteen to benefit the Lutheran General hospital now under construction.

The canteen has been set up in the nursing school building of the hospital, Dempster st. and Western ave., Park Ridge, to serve the tradesmen working on the $6,250,000 project. To open within a few days, proceeds of the endeavor will be used to help finance the 326-bed hospital as well as the nursing school building for 100 students.

An information meeting has been set for 8 p.m. May 19 in Maine township high school for all women interested in the hospital's volunteer organization, the Service league. (S

Resurrection Auxiliary Plans Spring Luncheon

When the women's auxiliary of Resurrection hospital holds its annual sping luncheon at 12:30 p.m. May 21 in Elmhurst country club, Miss Lois McManus, noted fashion designer and commentator, will narrate the fashion show following the luncheon. Dinner and cocktail clothes as well as sportswear, furs and accessories will be shown by professional models.

Mrs. Kenneth Woodworth, 615 Sha Bonee trail, Mt. Prospect who has been a member of the auxiliary since her return from the east several years ago, will be among those attending the installation luncheon. (S

St. James Guild Plans Fashion Promenade

St. James Women's guild will hold a "Fashion Promenade" luncheon Tuesday, May 26, at 12:30 p.m. at Meo's Villa Venice. Installation of next year's officers of the guild will take place in a brief ceremony immediately after luncheon, followed promptly by the "Fashon Promenade."

This year's fashions are presented by the Lorraine-Anne shop of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Sheehan will commentate, while guild members model the spring and summer ensembles.

SINCE THIS first spring luncheon sponsored by the guild is meeting with such enthusiastic response, the officers are hopeful of making it an annual social affair for all its members and friends.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. William Harrah, CL 3-6400, or Mrs. James Loughman, CL 3-0040. All tickets should be purchased on or before Tuesday, May 12, to assure all guests a reservation. (S

PUNCH BOWL complete with cherries proved a popular interval for young party-goers at Rolling Green country club May 1. Jenny Holmes serves Don Gerken, Roberta Taylor and Roger Bosene. Supper party was given by two graduating senior girls from Arlington Heights, whose parents offered the party as graduation gifts for their daughters.

FANCIEST OF PARTY FROCKS were worn by the young ladies when they dined and danced Friday night in Rolling Green country club as guests of two classmates, Diane Burger and Gail Isselhardt. Seated on floor of club lounge are Diane Ainslie, Nancy Baker, Judy Schmoyer and Sandra Peterson.

IDENTICAL GOWNS of black organza over pink taffeta were worn by Diane Burger and Gail Isselhardt when they were co-hostesses to 120 classmates from Arlington high school in Rolling Green country club May 1. A graduation gift from their parents, the Harry C. Burgers, 446 Banbury rd., and the Ralph Isselhardts, 516 Banbury rd., Arlington Heights, the affair was a supper dance featuring a school combo. The Mailman's Corner

Great Men Need Little Men's Aid

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

There is something within every great man that compels him to work toward a definite goal, or goals. All sorts of words are used to explain this peculiar "something." Compulsion is a good word for it; and though a great man may hurry to deny that he is in any way compelled, the fact remains that only death or disability can stop him from working toward his goal.

Every person has this something to a greater or lesser degree. It may be either a good compulson, or a bad one; it may be a number of compulsions, each pulling in a different direction, and the strongest one winning. Every time you feel an urge to visit a friend; to learn to play a musical instrument; to call a girl for a date; or to go for an automobile ride, you are experiencing a compulsion—or perhaps in these cases we should call it an urge; and when you have several such urges which are insisting on satisfaction, you are sure to end up by submitting to the most compelling one.

THESE URGES are little brothers to the real drive that compels men with great ambition to struggle against all sort of obstacles, to endure all things, even hunger, sickness, bitter cold, scorching heat, the risk of death and sometimes death itself, to attain their goal.

It is these compulsions that lead men to seek to reach the poles; to climb mountains; to become presidents of great companies; to seek high political office; or attain great power and wealth. Men driven by such compulsions are the inventors of the world; the great scientists; and the heroes. They are also the gang leaders; the crime syndicate heads; the rapists and murderers. What, and how great the compulsion decides what, and how much, you will accomplish.

GREAT EVANGELISTS, like Billy Graham, lead thousands to Christ and a new life; great military leaders have built empires; and though the rank and file of people, like you, perhaps, and me, have little compulsions which lead to little lives. They may nevertheless be rewarding lives; and without little you and me, great men could never reach the heights they do; or if they did, would appreciate them much less, for they would long for the acclamation and praise, loyalty and faith of the common man, for which they strive.

Q. When a hostess passes cigarettes after a meal in her home, isn't it permissible for a guest to refuse her offer and smoke one of his own cigarettes if he prefers to do so?

A. No; the guest should accept the cigarette offered by his hostess.

Q. Is one supposed to mail out the wedding invitations with or without the tissues that accompany them from the printer's?

A. With the tissues in place.

Village Theatre

Slick Staging of War PlayMakes Hit with Audiences

Community theatre, which has suffered severe growing pains for many years, has finally come of age — at least, in northwest suburbs.

There was a time when a village production implied something akin to hometown talent shows, complete with musical-comb players, birdy semi-sopranos trilling Victor Herbert melodies, and the inevitable baton twirlers from a local dance studio. This was acceptable entertainment for an era of simple times, but hardly suitable for today's more sophisticated audiences created by improved media of communication, advanced education, and carefully cultivated tastes.

An excellent example of community theatre's maturation was provided northwest suburban theater-goers last weekend with a Village Theatre production of "Mister Roberts."

NEAR-CAPACITY houses filled Prospect high school Little Theatre to delight in a commendable rendering of the Thomas Heggen-Joshua Logan play of life aboard a U.S. Navy cargo ship in the closing days of World War II, a ship which "sailed from apathy to boredom with a sidestop at monotony."

"Mister Roberts" has enjoyed great popularity, both as a play and as a successful motion picture. It is recognized as one of the most authentic Navy stories to emerge from World War II. The authors, and the story, have been heaped with honors, tributes, and commentary since the play's introduction in 1948.

This is the story of U. S. Navy Cargo Ship AK 601, its dictatorial and insecure Captain, its courageous executive officer, and its men.

STANDING as a bulwark against complete surrender to apathy and boredom is Mister Roberts, the ship's executive officer and the crew's principal defense against an autocratic Captain. Roberts yearns for transfer to a battle ship, but his pleas are thwarted by the Captain, who compels Roberts to remain aboard the cargo ship. He resents the executive officer as a symbol of everything he covets but does not possess: polish, education, the ability to command men, and to earn in return their respect and affection.

The production was not without its flaws, there were some awkward examples of miscasting, and one or two of the performances were faintly reminiscent of those amateur shows of an earlier day. But these were only minor irritations and did little to detract from the production's overall quality.

Maurice Geye designed a superb set, once again demonstrating an exceptional talent. Surely, the professional settings which have framed recent Village Theater productions have contributed measurably to the rising standards of quality which have paralleled the group's growth professionally and artistically.

THREE performances merit special mention: Robert Hawley as Mister Roberts, Bob Randolph as the Captain, and John Lobenhofer as Ensign Pulver.

Hawley's performance was flawless. Believable at all times, his polished and professional characterization provided a rare treat for playgoers unaccustomed to such competence from an "amateur." In "real life" a loop bank executive, Hawley never dropped character during the play, left no doubt in anyone's mind that he was Mister Roberts and not just a suburbanite "play acting."

Bob Randolph was properly blustery and belligerent in the stereotyped role of the Captain.

If audience response is any indication of favor, John Lobenhober was eminently successful as Ensign Pulver. This reviewer, however, represents a minority of one in expressing disappointment at a performance which seemed too strained, too adolescent, too burlesqued for credibility. It seemed to this critic, for example, that the final scene would have been far more compelling if Ensign Pulver had been played with a little more restraint. Most likely, our complaint is not so much with Actor Lobenhofer as it is with the director's own interpretation of the character.

THAT THE opening night audience enjoyed "Mister Roberts" was proven when applause was sustained after an overly-long curtain call. Not a playgoer left his seat until the curtains parted again to reveal a startled—and pleased—cast caught unawares with the well-deserved demand for another bow.

Competent direction was provided by Don Baylor, assisted by Randy Moses. Production manager was Lynn Lobenhofer, stage manager Kay Hawley. The play was sponsored by the seventh district Junior Woman's clubs to benefit the Community School for Retarded Children at Rolling Meadows.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

We'll bet you have never taken the time to look up Noah Webster's definition of the word "Epicure", and since you will from time to time find it used in our little column, here is how "Noah" defines it: "A person who has a refined taste in eating and drinking and cares much about food and drink."

The "Old Boy" goes a little further and advises us that the word is derived from the proper name, "Epicurus" who was a Greek philosopher who taught that "pleasure" is the highest good and virtue alone produces pleasure."

Revenue Measure Merits Support in Legislature

By the time this article is printed, there will have been introduced in the Senate by the writer a proposed amendment to the Revenue Article of the State Constitution. As has been previously reported to you, this amendment has been under serious study and consideration since the defeat of the last proposal in 1956. The proposed Article introduced this week will have the support of almost all the groups which opposed the one previously submitted. And this support was not bought at any great sacrifice of the principles espoused in 1952 and 1956.

In simple language the proposed revenue article would eliminate the unworkable general unclassified property tax now prescribed under the Constitution. Property would henceforth be classified for purposes of taxation. Certain of the classifications would be specified in the revenue article; the balance would be left to the determination of the legislature.

THE PROPOSAL would establish two classifications: real estate and tangible personal property. Intangible personal property would constitute one or more classes as the legislature might determine.

The revenue articles rejected in 1952 and 1956 provided that real estate should constitute one class, with certain somewhat exceptions. The classification of tangible personal property also would have been permitted. These provisions were strenuously attacked on the ground that they would lead to the discriminatory taxation of mineral rights and of various types of personal property — such as pipe lines, inventories, farm equipment and the like. The present proposal obviates these objections in that all real estate, without exception, constitutes one class, and all tangible personal property constitutes another.

But the legislature's power to classify property for taxation is limited to intangible personal property. Even here, its power is subject to major restrictions.

THE ARTICLE provides that real estate and tangible personal property shall be taxed solely by valuation. This is intended to accomplish two results. One is to leave the constitutional provisions with respect to taxation of real estate unchanged. This obviates the charge made in 1956 that a new revenue article would eliminate such de facto favored treatment as may now be extended to residential real estate. The other purpose is to avoid the charge, made against the 1952 and 1956 proposals, that a tax by yield might be substituted for the present method of taxing real estate and tangible personal property.

Under the new article no graduated income tax would be permissible. Any other type of tax on income of non-graduated character will be permissible only upon specific approval at a public referendum.

In view of the fact that most of the groups opposing the previous articles are now supporting the one introduced this week, there is a very good likelihood that the article, as submitted to the legislature, will be adopted and that it will also be approved by the public in the November, 1960, general elections.

13 Area Drivers Lose Licenses

Thirteen northwest suburban area motorists were among those whose licenses were revoked, suspended or granted probationary permits to drive, the secretary of state's office announced this week.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier reported revocation of 198 and suspension of 474 drivers' and chauffeurs' licenses throughout the state.

In addition, 159 persons whose licenses were suspended earlier but who did not have more than a total point accumulation of 62 have been granted probationary permits to drive.

THOSE NORTHWEST area drivers affected are:

Edward Krizmanich, 516 Bernice ct., Wheeling, driving while intoxicated;

James J. Fedor, 80 S. Clyde ave., Palatine, three or more traffic violations within one year;

Richard J. Latzke, Wolf rd. and Kerr st., Wheeling, three violations;

Richard S. Mates, 415 Bristol lane, Arlington Heights, three violations;

Robert L. Smith, 1 S. Mitchell st., Arlington Heights, three violations;

John J. Van Der Bosc, 412 Shady lane, Palatine, three violations;

Milan Vikmir, 1147 E. Palatine st., Palatine, three violations;

Esra J. Walter, 904 E. Oakton st., Arlington Heights, three violations;

Wayne L. Winter, Box 107, Prairie View, three violations;

Douglas E. Peterson, 763 N. Franklin st., Palatine, displayed a license not issued to him;

Connie Canfield, 5th and Strong sts., Wheeling, granted probationary permit;

John W. McCartney, 420 S. Waterman st., Arlington Heights, granted probationary permit;

Thomas J. Polacek, 1220 N. Harvard rd., Arlington Heights, granted probationary permit.

The secretary of state's office reported that reasons for revocations were: driving while intoxicate, 175; three or more traffic violations within one year, 5; leaving the scene of an accident, 2; mental and physical disabilities, 16.

Reasons for suspensions were: driving while intoxicated, 50; three or more traffic violations within one year, 397; caused or contributed to an accident resulting in death or injury, 13; permitted fraudulent use of license, one; failed to successfully complete exam, one; displayed license not issued to him, 7; violated restriction on license or permit, 5.

Giant Art Show Slated for June

The northwest suburban area's largest art show will be held in Arlington Heights June 11 to 13.

Co-sponsors of the Mammoth exhibit will be the Arlington Heights Art center and Arlington Market Merchants association.

To be staged at Arlington Market shopping center, Foundry and Dryden rds., the show will extend through stores and under the canopy walk.

Artists will exhibit and paint at the show. Many of the paintings will be available for purchase.

INVITATIONS are being extended to all area artists, schools and clubs to participate in the giant exhibit. Top professional as well as amateur work will be featured.

The Merchants association will make awards for grade school, high school and adult artists. These awards will be based upon a "popularity vote" of exhibit visitors.

Entry forms for exhibitors may be obtained from Schneller Furniture co. in Arlington Market shopping center. There are no requisites for displaying paintings, and there are no entry or exhibit fees.

Did Robin Hood Really Exist?

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Did Robin Hood really live? Thousands of American tourists in England are shown extensive evidence that he did.

About 142 miles from London one can find Sherwood Forest. Now much smaller than it was seven-hundred years ago, there are still huge and ancient trees which remind the visitor of Robin Hood, Little John, Friar Tuck and the rest of the outlaws.

At the village of Hathersage is the grave of Little John. For centuries the cap, longbow and armor were hung in the local church as bein gauthentic possessions of Little John, then later removed to another estate in Yorkshire. The traditional grave was opened in the late eighteenth century and a man's thigh bone 32 inches long was removed. This testified to Little John's giant size.

IN OTHER PARTS of this district tourists can see Robin Hood Hill, Robin Hood Bay, Cave, Well and Village.

At a town named Kirleees the grave of the famous outlaw is alleged to lie. A gravestone there notes his death as being in the year 1247. There has always been some question as to whether Robin Hood lived in the reign of Richard 1, John, Henry III or Edward II.

His grave is tended by the Ancient Order of Foresters, and tributes of laurel and cotton grass from the Heathersage moors are still made.

Tourist guides for Americans know that they have an appreciative audience when speaking about Robyn Hoode. (B8

DEBORAH KERR attempts to penetrate the cold exterior of Russian officer Yul Bryner, who is holding up a group of travelers from Budapest seeking safety in Austria at the Prospect Theater, May 12, 13, 14. The scene is from "The Journey," dynamic drama unfolded against the suspenseful background of the Hungarian revolt. The Alby Production for MGM, filmed on location in Austria, reunites Miss Kerr and Bryner for the first time since "The King and I."

4 Square Dance Club News

New officers of the Arlington Heights club were installed last Wednesday evening at a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Brooke, 518 S. Dunton. Husband-and-wife teams share the duties of each office. Installed as co-chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Behm of Des Plaines; secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Don Pilch of Arlington Heights and treasurer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rodig of Arlington Heights. Activities chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson of Inverness; refreshments, Mr. and Mrs. Brooke, and soft drinks, Mr. and Mrs. William Weismueller of Arlington Heights.

The club's next dance and next-to-the-last one is Saturday night at Miner junior high school. Guests are welcome at these dances and club officers remind local dance enthusiasts that it's a long, long time from May to September.

Two more couples were welcomed to the new and growing round dance club Arpil 30 at the Recreation park fieldhouse in Arlington Heights where party dances will alternate with workshop sessions twice a month throughout the summer. Cake and coffee, courtesy of club officers, refreshed the dancers after last Thursday's dance and members worked out a schedule for the future to provide refreshments for the party dances.

Bing and Mary Bengson, co-instructors for the club, report that there will be room for the club to continue to grow and suggest that potential club members contact them, CL 3-8562, or Joe Battaglia, CL 5-1304.

The fourth annual Jamboree of the Palatine square dance club is coming June 7 from 2 to 5 p.m. at Paddock school in Palatine and early reports from Harvey Zimmerman, ticket chairman, indicate that the date is being reserved by many area dancers. The school hall will accommodate 35 squares, Jamboree planners say, and they are ready to make use of the spacious school cafeteria, too, if needed.

The club's regular callers, Don Finfrock and Horace Hall, will be supplemented by Frank Walker and Art Mathews. Tickets will be available at the door or they may be had before at the club's two remaining dances.

The last Horace Hall dance of the regular season will be Saturday night and Don Finfrock's dance of May 23 will bring the schedule to an end. Both are open dances and guests are welcome. (A13

Kirby Set To Direct Fall Farce

Palatine Players announced this week that Walter Kirby will direct the fall production, "Gigi," to be presented some time in October.

Last March the Players decided and voted to open their 1959-60 season with this gay and amusing comedy and were elated when the movie version won nine academy awards.

Previous to the movie, the play ran many months on Broadway and national companies toured the country. It has great appeal to all type of audiences.

Kirby has named Glen Erickson as assistant director and will set a date in the near future for casting. The tryouts will be open to the public and all are urged to come. (Bill

It's District Time For Trackmen, Baseball Teams

Three Contests At Palatine

By BOB FRISK

Prep baseball's survival of the fittest, single elimination state competition, opens Monday with Lake Park battling Maine's defending champions in the lidlifter of the Palatine district tournament.

Arlington is slated to meet the host school Tuesday at 4 p.m. with the championship tilt Wednesday.

Tourney director Earl Stutzman did not know Tuesday of this week whether the district contests would be played in community park or behind the high school.

In addition to the Palatine meet, district play all over the state will begin next week with the 112 district winners then advancing to 28 four team regionals, May 18-20. The regional winners will play in seven four team sectionals, May 25-27, and seven sectional winners and one representative from the Chicago Public League will meet for the state finals in Peoria, June 4-5.

LAST YEAR Maine swept past all competition and annexed the coveted state crown with a tight victory over Jim Phipps' Niles outfit. But the two key figures on that '58 title team, Bob Gruber and Vic Pagel, graduated and Al Carstens' nine has naturally felt the effect of that major loss.

Although Maine is not as powerful as last year it must rate the nod over Lake Park in Monday's opener. The Lancers have a good pitcher in Chuck Reeves but not the overall strength of the Blue Demons.

Carstens is expected to start either Jim Humay or Rich Peterson against Lake Park. Humay had been labeled as No. 1 earlier in the season, but Peterson got the nod in the important clash with LaGrange last week.

LEADING THE Blue Demons' offensive attack are shortstop Bill Wagner, an All-Conference selection as a soph, and left fielder Ted Pohl, a versatile senior who covered first base for the Park Ridge legion nine last summer.

Coach Mickey Lile's Lake Park club has only won once in five outings this spring but right hander Reeves is capable of a good mound performance. The senior hurler threw a 3-hitter against Barrington, 6-hitter against West Chicago, and 4-hitter against Palatine.

Catcher Steve Whipple is Lile's leading sticker but Reeves, first baseman Dennis Hanson, and shortstop Tom Smith are also capable hitters.

THE ARLINGTON - Palatine clash Tuesday will probably match Don Gerken and Jack Nelson on the mound. The Cards' Dick Kinneman indicated this week that Gerken has been bothered by an arm injury but would start if his arm is all right. If Gerken isn't able to work, Kinneman will open with junior right hander George Bork who has been turning in some excellent relief performances.

Kinneman will probably stick with the same lineup he's used in West Suburban competition, including an infield of Lee Magnuson, Fred Boedeker, Tom Broderick, and Chuck Staral and outfield of Bill McMillan, Art Tews, and Jim Blake. Al Sander will work behind the plate.

Boedeker, the senior second baseman, has been Arlington's most dependable hitter most of the season though Magnuson, an All-Conference selection last spring, has had a hot streak going in the past two conference games. Left fielder Bill McMillan has also been having a good spring with the bat.

IF ARLINGTON gets by Palatine, Kinneman plans to throw right hander Gene Dahlquist against the winner of the Lake Park-Maine tilt.

Nelson, Palatine's probable mound selection in the opener, had worked 25 innings going into this week's action without being touched for an earned run. Another possible starting hurler is Bill Coates who went through his first 16 1/3 innings of work without yielding an earned run.

Coach Claude Bailey's club has not been too potent at the plate this spring in compiling a 4-5 record. Bill Baumrucker's .291 mark is the top average, but he's the only regular over .200. Cleanup hitter Harvey Foster collected only three safeties in his first 31 trips. The Pirates boast single victories over Grayslake and Lake Park and two over Ela Vernon with losses to Notre Dame, Libertyville, Elgin, Elmwood Park, and Fenton.

Michigan Stater wrestler Jim Ferguson won the 1959 Big Ten 167-pound championship and the NAUU 174 pound title.

A CLOSE PLAY at first base finds Arlington's Bill McMillan back in time Monday in action during the Cards' 11-6 loss to R-B. Riverside scored seven runs in the third inning on only one hit.

IT'S A HAPPY and tired Mike Dundy at the finish of the mile relay in Saturday's Hinsdale Relays. Dundy competed in four events for Arlington, anchoring three victorious relay teams, and the mile relay quartet recorded an impressive 3:30.7 clocking to establish as the team to watch in the event in Evanston's district meet.

Evanston Site For Cindermen

by BOB BUCHANAN

Saturday is the day that counts as far as trackmen are concerned.

Northwest suburban track teams will convene at Evanston Saturday morning for the 1959 district tournament.

Goal of the several hundred trackmen who are entered from among two dozen high schools is to place first or second in his event or be below qualification minimums.

COMPETITION is expected to be as rough as last year at Evanston. Teams which came out of that district placed second, third, fourth and sixth in the state meet, testifying to its roughness.

Arlington, third best in Illinois in 1958, is expected to be tougher over-all but does not have anyone who can come up to Bob Mors' championship in the 440 last year.

Palatine, for the first time in a decade, has one of its most promising track squads.

NATURALLY, schools such as runner-up New Trier, host Evanston and nearby Maine will be perennial challengers.

Arlington stands its best chance to place state qualifiers in the high and low hurdles, 100 and 220-yard dashes, 880, shotput and 880 and mile relay teams.

Palatine's chief threats come in the high and low hurdles, 440, shotput and mile relay team.

FOUR BOYS, Rich Bader and Mike Dundy of Arlington and Ken Gordon and Dick Welty of Palatine, seem almost assured of qualifying based on past performances.

Bader Saturday ran a :09.9 100 in the Hinsdale Relays Saturday for his best 1959 time. A teammate of his, Charlie Yager, has run :10.2. Despite having two top men, Arlington will find it no picnic since Stu Fried of New Trier, Jim Jones of North Chicago and Welty all have gone under the :10.3 mark. Fried is a 10 flat hundred man.

Bader and Yager both have gone under the qualifying time of :22.6 in the 220. Bader's best is :22.0 and Yager's low is :22.1. Most of Bader's trouble will come from Jones who beat him in the North Shore meet. Fried also will be in contention as well as Zimmerhoff of Niles.

WELTY HAS THE area's best 440 time, :51.5, a half second under qualifying time. His closest competitors are expected to be Bud Kline of Maine and teammate Bernie Seitz. Seitz' best clocking is :52.8.

Dundy would have pressed Welty but his coach, Russ Attis, has decided to enter the Card-inal runner in the 880 where he has gone 2:00.7 and is given an outside chance of breaking McHugh's district mark of 1:59.6 set in 1950 for Evanston. He'll be running against Dave Hatcher of New Trier, Isiah Turner of

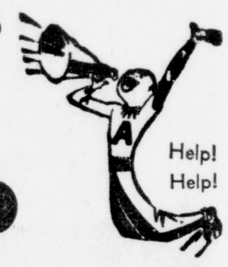
KICKIN' IT AROUND



By BOB FRISK

ARLINGTON'S MR. HANDYMAN may "take it easy" Saturday.

That is, if you call running a half mile and anchoring a mile relay team as taking it easy.

But for Junior Mike Dundy, one of the most versatile competitors ever to run at Arlington, Saturday's district meet at Evanston will represent a light load compared to his past three weekends.

MIKE DUNDY

In the Lake Shore meet Dundy finished second in the 440, third in the broad jump, and he anchored the mile relay team. In the Palatine Relays he finished second in the mile run and anchored both the mile and two mile units. Saturday at Hinsdale, in addition to the broad jump, Mike anchored three winning relay teams, two in record time.

A lot of boys compete in several events but when you pass that 220 level in the running events, a big load presents quite an obstacle. But Dundy, an All-Conference halfback selection last fall, thrives on work and competition, and his heavy load this spring has not left him any the less effective.

Two weeks ago Dundy, formerly a 440 man, ran his first competitive half mile and was clocked in an outstanding 2:01.9. Last Friday he smashed Arlington's oldest school track record when he toured the 880 yards in a remarkable 2:00.7, eclipsing the former mark of 2:01.4 set by Norb Rohlwing. If there was any question before about what individual race Mike would run in the district, that 2:00.7 certainly helped to answer things.

Dundy could probably qualify in both the 440 and 880 but a state rule on entries does not permit a boy to compete in two individual events at the quarter or above level in district or state competition. Consequently, Russ Attis had to decide between the two and he chose the half—for obvious reasons.

Now it's up to Mike and if things go according to form, he should be a part of one of the most outstanding 880 yard fields to ever assemble at Champaign for the state meet. Four of the five finishers in last year's half are back with a host of talented newcomers all capable of cracking that two minute mark, it's not hard to envision the record of 1:56.1, set by Mike Smith of Freeport three years ago, being smashed.

ON PAPER IT appears that Arlington will get a third crack at Maine's defending state baseball champions. But anytime someone starts forecasting the Cards' fortunes in district competition, he is reminded of a certain black day back in 1956 when "on paper" Arlington was a top-heavy favorite to beat Round Lake and advance to the next round.

It was May 12 to be exact, a Saturday morning in the Barrington sub-district tourney. Arlington had an excellent club sparked by the hitting of Ron Ashley, Bob Getts, and Dan Vittum and the brilliant battery combination of southpaw Johnny Sujack and catcher Ed Meinken. Round Lake, on the other hand, was considered out of the Cards' class.

Arlington didn't get off to any rocket start, but then things weren't too bad until Round Lake went to bat in the fourth. Eight walks, two hit batsmen, one misjudged fly ball, and one hit later the underdogs had eleven runs. In the fifth, Round Lake's 13-3 lead necessitated the calling of the game under state rules. That, briefly, is the unfortunate story of one of the biggest collapses in Arlington's sports annals.

We don't anticipate any similar collapse on the part of the 1959 Arlington nine, but we do point up the fact that in a single elimination of this type, there is definitely no room for complacency—regardless of the opposition!

We like Dick Kinneman's current squad. We've been tremendously impressed by its speed, particularly in the outfield. In Bill McMillan, Art Tews, and Jim Blake, Arlington has as fast a trio of ballhawks as you'll probably find in this area. And we know Kinneman wouldn't trade this threesome for any other outfield combination in the WSC.

Overall, the Cards just might have the equipment this year to turn in an impressive showing in state competition. Any way you look at it, what could be more pleasing than victories over [illegible] and Maine, two arch rivals in athletics, as steps in the right direction in the Illinois prep playoffs?

Sbarbaro Paces Card Golfers Over LaGrange

Bob Sbarbaro's four over par 75 paced Arlington's crack varsity golf team to a 12-3 win over a host-LaGrange outfit last Thursday.

Coach Ed Spacapan's Cards had little trouble with the Lions' linksmen although No. 1 man, Dave Ebert, suffered a 3-0 pasting. Ebert was off his game, firing rounds of 44-42 for an 86.

Al Kruse followed Sbarbaro with a neat 76, thanks to 38s on both nines.

Racketmen Stop LaGrange, 4-1

Dropping only one singles match, Arlington's varsity tennis team blasted LaGrange last Thursday, 4-1.

The Lions' only victor was Larry Bauer in No. 3 singles. Outside of Bauer, Arlington met other stiff competition but still came out on top.

Jim Erickson was extended to a 14-12 win in the first set of the No. 1 singles but easily won the second set, 6-1. Bob Inman had to go three sets to win No. 2 singles and both doubles teams won in straight sets but still had some trouble.

District Golf Friday

Arlington Defends '58 Crown

by BOB BUCHANAN

It's going to be much tougher to qualify for the state meet in this year's district golf tournament.

Even so, six teams are considered to have a good chance of qualifying for a trip to Champaign a week hence when a dozen teams begin district play at Old Orchard country club at 8 a.m. Friday.

Two of Illinois' top teams, minus one man or less, will be back to battle for top honors. Barrington, which was third in the 36-hole state meet last year, is back minus only its No. 1 golfer.

ARLINGTON, HOST for Friday's meet, has all five boys back from last year's squad which finished eighth on the University of Illinois golf course.

Talk has it that Arlington will be favored playing over its home course, considered an easy touch for good golfers. Expected to be right on their heels are Elgin and Wheaton as well as Barrington.

Two other schools, Palatine and Lake Park, are not considered to be title contenders but both have enough punch that they could qualify for the state meet next week.

STATE OFFICIALS have made the 1959 tournament much tougher than 1958. They have trimmed the number of strokes over par for a team 30 in 1958 to 24 in 1959. This means that because Old Orchard has a par of 71, a team must shoot 308 or lower to qualify. Each man must average 77.

Each team is permitted to enter up to 10 men in the district. The four best scores will count towards team points. The fifth man, if a team qualifies, will serve as an alternate.

Last year Arlington won the tournament with a total of 289 over the same Old Orchard course. Maine, Barrington and Elgin tied for second in 1958 with 311. Under 1959 rules, these teams would not have qualified.

THE INDIVIDUAL qualifying score has been lowered from six over par to four over par. In order to qualify individually, golfers must shoot 75 or under at Old Orchard.

Teams competing Friday include McHenry, Notre Dame, Elmwood Park, Arlingotn, Palatine, Barrington, Lake Park, Leyden East, Wheaton, Elgin, St. Edward of Elgin and Maine.

Under the present system, two golfers shooting around par can put a team downstate. Arlington has two such boys in Dave Ebert and Al Kruse. Both are capable par shooters but lately Ebert has been the one who has been most consistent.

CARDINAL Coach Ed Spacapan plans to enter just five boys. They include Ebert, Kruse, Bob Sbarbaro, a 75 shooter, and Dwight Pate and Wally Borman who have been hitting around 80.

Palatine Coach Gary Clendenny plans to enter seven men. He'll have John Campbell, Wayne Christensen, Dave Howland, John Seehausen, Jim Zamrazil, Bob Williamson and Steve Hicks on the firing line. In mid-season Clendenny brought up freshman Seehausen to play No. 3 man on the varsity. For the district, the Pirate coach is bringing up sophomores Williamson and Hicks.

Palatine golfers are hoping that their tougher ohme course at Inverness will give them an extra couple strokes which will put them within qualifying range. Lately Campbell, Christensen, Howland and Seehausen all have been shooting in the 70's.

Inman, Erickson Capture District Doubles Crown

It'll be Inman and Erickson carrying Arlington's colors in the state tennis meet May 16 in Champaign.

Junior Bob Inman and senior Jim Erickson teamed up Saturday to win the doubles title in leading Arlington to an impressive third place finish in the district meet at New Trier.

Evanston won the team title as expected with 14 points, but the Wildcats got more than they bargained for from New Trier and Arlington. The Indians piled up 10 points to gain second by one point over Ken Schaller's Cards.

ARLINGTON'S championship doubles team gained the district semi-finals in 1958 but wasn't going to settle for anything but the top Saturday. With Inman showing up at the net and Erickson in the backcourt, the duo knocked off two highly-touted Evanston outfits in its rise to the championship. In the semi-finals the Arlington entry knocked off the Wildkits' Graham and Opdycke in three sets, then whipped the Evanston pair of Ken Paulson and Skip Gage in the finale, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

Coach Schaller doesn't know how his doubles team will be seeded in the state meet, but he expects them to gain a high ranking in the consideration. "Our district is always regarded highly in the state," Schaller indicated, "so it's possible Inman and Erickson will be seeded one or two. Eight doubles teams will be seeded before the state playoffs."

ARLINGTON'S other doubles team of Tom Von Boeckmann and Paulson entry in the quarterfinals after knocking off New Trier's No. 1 duo in straight sets.

In singles Jay Wheelock drew Warren Myers lost to the Gage a bye in the first round, then dropped two 6-3 sets to the eventual champion, Bob Fitzgerald of New Trier. Bill Spomer bowed to Evanston's Wham, singles runnerup, in the first round, 6-1, 6-2.

Evanston appeared to lose a chance for the state crown when it only qualified three boys. Schaller asserted that it usually takes at least five boys to win the crown and that now he looks for Hinsdale, Decatur, and Pekin to vie for the state title.

Linksmen In Tight 8-7 Win

Grayslake threw a scare at Arlington's powerful golf team Tuesday afternoon, but the Cards, paced by Dave Ebert's 72, came off with the upper hand, 8-7, at Round Lake country club.

Ebert's fine rounds offset the 3-0 defeat administered Arlington's No. 1 man, Al Kruse. Kruse shot a good 77 but still couldn't cope with the winner's 75.

Bob Sbarbaro tied his match, but Dwight Pate toured the course in 75 for three big points as Wally Borman dropped the No. 5 battle.

Summary:

Smith (G) 36-39—75 beat Al Kruse (A) 39-38—77, 3-0.

State Champs Rock Card Netmen, 4-1

Hinsdale's defending state champion tennis team took the measure of Arlington twice Tuesday afternoon with the varsity Red Devils winning 4-1, and the sophs 5-0.

Marty Riessen, state singles champ for the past two years, topped the Cards' No. 1 man, Jim Erickson, 6-0, 6-2, but Arlington's No. 2 player, Bob Inman, captured his match 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Playing in the third slot, Arlington's Bill Thompson fell 6-0, 6-3.

In doubles the combination of Warren Myers and Tom Von Boeckmann fell 6-4, 6-1, and the duo of Bill Spomer and Steve Scheffer bowed 9-7, 6-3.

Another Big Weekend for Local Track

IT WAS ANOTHER big weekend for the track teams of Arlington and Palatine as each won big meets to follow up their Palatine Relays victories of the previous Saturday. Arlington scored 95 to top 11 teams in the Hinsdale Relays and win the meet for the third year in a row. Palatine, after finishing second or third the past four years at DeKalb, came through with a onesided win as they scored 64 points to outdistance a field of 19 schools with West Aurora at 33 and Sterling at 31 far back in second and third places.

First places in the mile medley, the two-mile distance medley, and the frosh-soph 440 yard medley topped Palatine's performance. The Pirates also were second in the low, fourth in the high hurdle shuttles and second in the 880 relay. Bill Smith threw the discus 135 feet for a third and Don Smith put the shot 49-6 for a second. Dick Welty and Don Gordon took second and third in the 100 yard dash just as they did in the Palatine relays behind the same winner, Bill Smith of Sycamore, who ran it in :10 flat.

Two Boys Run 100 in :09.9

IN OTHER MEETS this past weekend there were two of them where the 100 yard dash was clocked in :09.9. At Mooseheart, Forest Newton of Kankakee bettered :10 flat as did Ron Menley of Glenbard who nosed out Richard Bader of Arlington in the Hinsdale meet with a :09.9.

Other highlights of the weekend were a shot put of 58-1 by Ron Barbizzi of Bloom at Mooseheart and a record breaking high jump of 6-1 1/8 by Bill Johns of Libertyville at DeKalb. Ken Zimmerman of West Aurora who won the pole vault at DeKalb at 11-8½ and ran on the winning 880 relay team is the son of Ken Zimmerman Sr., athletic director at the school, who in his high school days was probably the greatest all round athlete of all time to be produced at Warren Township High School of Gurnee.

Reports on the basketball state series receipts including districts, regionals, sectionals, and state finals totals $497,000, an increase of $20,000 over last year. St. Edward of Elgin was top in the districts with $1,867.95, East Aurora had $11,333.50 to top the regionals with, North Chicago third with $10,080.00; and Hinsdale took in the most sectional money with $10,835. Arlington was fourth among sectionals with $9,126.25.

In the winter season state championships, Springfield took basketball with West Aurora second. New Trier won in swimming followed by Evanston and Maine Township. Arlington Heights took the gymnastics title followed by York and East Proviso. Thornton won in wrestling followed by Oak Lawn and Glenbrook. In spring sports the state events are a little over a week away but Bloom looms as a repeater in track and Hinsdale a possibility in tennis. Golf is a tossup with little known of team strength around the state. In baseball Proviso may be the favorite with an 8-1 Suburban League record.

Arlington Strong Golf Favorite

FRIDAY THE DISTRICT GOLF will be played at Old Orchard with Arlington the favorite and a strong state contender. Any individual shooting 76 or under gets a trip to Champaign for the state meet. Palatine's team averaged 79 in a meet with Glenbrook at Inverness last week and hopes to continue at that pace. Inverness is a good 3 to 5 strokes tougher than Old Orchard according to what we know of the courses.

Mervil Miller who has been hired as assistant wrestling coach at Palatine High has a very imposing athletic record starting with competing on a state championship wrestling team at West Waterloo, Iowa. At Cornell College, Miller won the Midwest Conference 175 pound title three years in a row and played guard on the football team three years. He captained both teams this past year. Ron Helberg of Blue Island who has been captain of Southern Illinois University track team the past two seasons will teach math at Palatine next year and assist in track and possibly football. Helberg played end and quarterback on a South Suburban champion football team at Blue Island.

Eight Records Fall, Cards Retire High Hurdle Trophy

By BOB FRISK

Eight records were broken and one tied Saturday as Arlington fought off a strong challenge by Glenbard in capturing its third straight Hinsdale Relays title.

Taking four firsts and five seconds on the 15 event card, the champions piled up 98 points to out-distance runnerup Glenbard by 13 markers. East Aurora wound up in third with 74 points while the rest of the field was spaced far behind the three leaders.

Arlington's victory was its third straight relays crown over the past three weekends. The Cards preceded Saturday's impressive win with victories in the Lake Shore meet and Palatine Relays.

RUSS ATTIS' CARDS retired one event trophy when the high hurdle shuttle team of Dennis Leonard, Mike Field, Bob O'Neil, and Ed Whitelaw covered the 480 yards in 1:04.5, two-tenths of a second faster than a mark shared by Hinsdale's 1952 quartet and Arlington's 1957 aggregation. This was the third straight year the Cards had captured the high hurdle event.

ALTHOUGH NOT equalling its time in the Palatine Relays, Arlington's crack two mile relay squad of Chuck Phelan, Jim Glidden, Bob Barbour, and Mike Dundy did eclipse the Hinsdale Relays record by almost four full seconds, racing the distance in 8:17.9 as compared to Hinsdale's '56 mark of 8:21.2. Clockings by the coaches caught Phelan in 2:03.4; Glidden in 2:10; Barbour in 2:03.6; and Dundy in 2:01.4.

Arlington's third record breaker of the warm afternoon was the mile relay unit of Tony Stavros, Phelan, Jon Hawkins, and Dundy. The Cards' foursome edged a strong Glenbard team with a brilliant 3:30.7 clocking, two-tenths of a second better than Arlington's 1958 mark. All four boys were timed under 53 seconds.

CONCLUDING the Cardinals' first place awards was the top honor taken by the mile medley team of Stavros in the 440, Rich Bader and Charley Yager in the 220's, and Dundy in the 880.

Seconds were gained by Bader in the 100; the shot put team of Dan Striegel, Darryl Phillips, Mike Shipman, and Bruce Andrise; the discus team of Striegel, John Torrens, Phillips, and Jeff Rogers; the low hurdle team of Whitelaw, O'Neil, Leonard and Al Westergaard; and the 880 yard relay squad.

BADER'S SECOND in the century was questionable. It appeared to a majority of the spectators that the fleet senior sprinter edged Glenbard's Ron Menley but the official still gave first to Menley. Boh boys were caught in :09.9. In addition, Yager appeared to capture fifth place but he was overlooked by the judges.

Seeking to retire the low hurdle shuttle relay trophy, Arlington had to settle for second behind Aurora East. The Cards easily won their heat but their time wasn't good enough for first.

The most outstanding mark of the day was the broad jump record turned in by Aurora East, a combined 89-1 for the four boys. Tom Hayden sailed 23-5 for the best effort with the other three boys recording jumps of 22-4, 21-10, and 21-6. Aurora East's mark eclipsed its 1956 standard by over five feet.

AURORA EAST also won the pole vault, setting a new record by three inches. Arlington's quartet of George Allen, Jeff Fahrner, Fred Hedemark, and Tom Flynn gained a tie for third with Leyden.

Other record breakers Saturday were Glenbard's freshman 440 yard relay team, varsity 440 yard team and varsity 880 yard unit; and Aurora East's low hurdle quartet.

Arlington's other points were tallied by the frosh 440 yard relay team, fifth; 440 yards varsity relay, third; frosh-soph 880 yard relay, third; high jump, tie for fourth.

THIS WAS THE first time Arlington's Rich Bader had been beaten at 100 yards this spring. Hinsdale's Fordon turned the trick in Saturday's relays with a :10 century in the second heat of the preliminaries. Bader came back for a disputed second behind Glenbard's Ron Menley in the finals.

Ball Checks Cards' Nine, Lions Win

A tiny lefty, Eddie Hall, turned in an excellent mound performance April 29 as LaGrange topped Arlington, 5-2, in an extra inning contest and moved into first place in the West Suburban loop.

Hall hooked up with the Cards' ace right hander, Gene Dahlquist, in a tight duel for seven innings before the visiting Lions erupted for three runs in the eighth.

Junior Bobby Bohn led off the visitors' eighth with a walk, and he moved to second when D'Ouville rolled to the pitcher. A wild pitch and fielder's choice later, both Bohn and first sacker Chuck Liedtke came home on a tremendous triple by catcher Bill Krohn. Bill Sporer fanned but Ramey singled Krohn home with the third run of the inning.

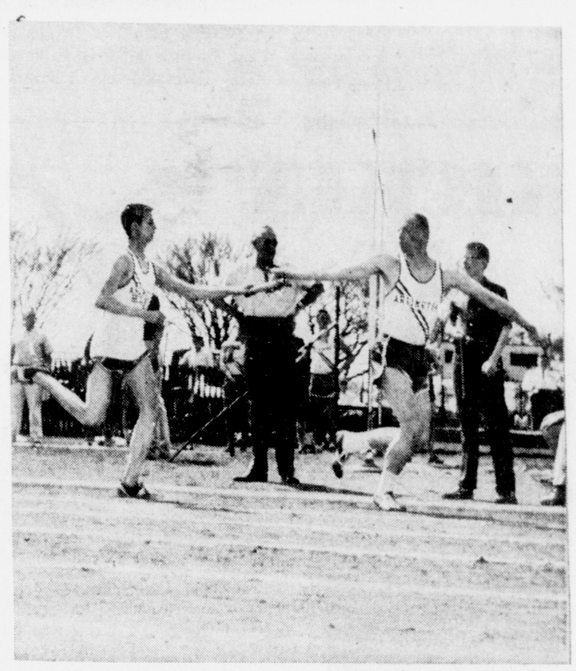
ARLINGTON went down in order in its last effort as Hall got George Bork, Dahlquist's eighth inning relief, on three strikes, Fred Boedeker on a slap to the shortstop, and Dave Zimmerman on a tap to the pitcher.

Dick Kinneman's Cards initiated their scoring in the third when with one out Al Sander singled and came around thanks to a combination of things, excluding another base knock.

Dahlquist had LaGrange pretty much under control until the fifth when catcher Krohn, a definite Major League prospect, was safe on an error, Sporer walked, Don Granato walked, and Dick Ruggles, a soph, drilled a single. It all added up to a 2-1 LaGrange lead.

But Arlington came back to tie the count in its half of the fifth. Boedeker drove in Staral after the soph third sacker had walked to open the frame and stolen second.



BOB BARBOUR, Arlington's third man on the victorious two mile relay team in Saturday's Hinsdale Relays, takes the baton from Jim Glidden and starts his leg on the record breaking quartet. The Cards covered the distance in 8:17.9, breaking the old mark by almost four seconds.

Soenksen Blanks Glenbard, 7-0

Dave Soenksen's debut as a starting Arlington hurler this spring was an auspicious one.

Limiting host Glenbard to just three hits over seven frames Friday, Soenksen blanked the host Hilltoppers, 7-0. Dave fanned three and hured hitless ball over the final five innings.

Art Tews' homer with Jim Blake aboard shot the Cards off to a 2-0 lead in the second and that was all Arlington needed to wrap up its seventh conference victory.

THE CARDS added another run in the third and Tews came around in the fourth when he was hit by a pitched ball, moved to second on a wild pitch, went to third on a fly, and tallied on an erro.

First baseman Lee Magnuson and Blake counted in the sixth with Blake delivering the inning's only hit.

Maine Routs Cards' Soph Trackmen

Blanked in five of the 14 events, Arlington's frosh-soph track team fell to Maine Friday, 80 1/6-37 5/6, in a dual meet on the Cards' track.

Maine scored sweeps in the 880 yard run, mile run, broad jump, and 220 yard dash and also won both the 880 yard relay and mile relay.

Arlington's Darryl Phillips scored a double win with victories in the shot put and discus. Mike Field won the high hurdles; Dennis "Dutch" Leonard the low hurdles; and Jeff Fahrner the pole vault.

Summary:

Arlington Netmen Blank Proviso

Tuning up for the district meet, Arlington's varsity tennis squad blanked Proviso Wednesday, April 29, 5-0, with Jim Erickson turning in easy 6-1, 6-1 victories in No. 1 singles.

Bob Inman and Jay Wheelock also captured singles wins with the doubles teams of Warren Myers and Tom Von Boeckmann and Bill Spomer and Steve Scheffer disposing of the Proviso combos.

Summary:

Erickson (A) beat Strodtz (P), 6-1, 6-1.

Inman (A) beat Benisek (P), 6-3, 11-9.

Wheelock (A) beat Schaefer (P), 6-4, 6-2.

R-B Blasts Arlington Nine, 11-6

A seven run third inning with only one hit figuring in the effort keyed Riverside-Brookfield to a surprising 11-6 victory over Arlington's varsity baseball team Monday afternoon at Recreation Park.

Fifteen errors, eight by the Cards, marred the contest as the Cards recovered enough from that disastrous third to score three times in their half of the third and three more in the seventh.

BUT OUTSIDE of those two outbursts, Arlington showed little resemblance to the team which has been fighting for the West Suburban title. In R-B's big third inning the Cards con the seventh, two hits led to four Riverside runs with errors again contributing factors.

The hosts tallied three in the third on two singles and a double, and one hit led to three runs in the seventh.

First baseman Lee Magnuson ended nine hitless trips to the plate with two safeties while Al Rezabek and Rich Jarom paced the winner's attack with two hits. Jarom, who captured the WSC scoring title in basketball, drove in three runs.

Cards Top Glenbard Thinclads

In a final tuneup before the district track meet, Arlington's varsity thinclads dumped Glenbard Tuesday, 63½-55½, in a dual meet on the Cards' track.

Glenbard's mile relay team turned in the afternoon's outstanding time with a 3:28.6 clocking, one of the top times in the state this year.

The Cards' Rich Bader avenged his 100 yard dash loss to Glenbard's Ron Menely in the Hinsdale Relays with two easy sprint victories. Running against a wind, Bader turned in a :10.4 century and :22.5 220.

THREE OTHER impressive marks were recorded by Chuck Phelan in the 880 with a 2:02.7; Glenbard's Henery in the 440 at :51.7; and Arlington's half mile relay team at 1:32.4.

Other Arlington victors were Ed Whitelaw in the high hurdles; Al Westergaard in the lows; Dan Striegel in the discus; soph Keith Grams in the broad jump; Mike Shipman in the shot and Tony Stavros and Whitelaw in the high jump.

Arlington, Downers Battle To 11-Inning, 4-4 Deadlock

Friday just wasn't a hitter's day.

Arlington and Downers Grove battled to an 11 inning, 4-4 tie with only nine hits recorded by the two teams on the diamond adjacent to the high school.

Ken Lutgens, Downers' right awkward motion, hurled five and hander with good speed and an two-thirds innings of hitless ball before catcher Al Sander reached him for a sixth inning safety.

But although Lutgens held Arlington's hitters pretty much at bay for the entire 11 innings, the senior's control was anything but perfect as he walked 13 men in his long stint.

DON GERKEN started on the hill for the Cards and was sailing along until Downers broke loose for four runs on three hits in the sixth. A couple errors and a mental lapse didn't help Gerken's cause, but junior George Bork came in to calm things down and he proceeded to hurl five and one-third innings of hitless ball.

Arlington had jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first with four walks, an error, and three stolen bases sending Freddie Boedeker and Lee Magnuson around.

In the sixth Art Tews rode home after getting on via the error route with Sander's hit, the first off Lutgens, the key blow. After reaching first on a walk in the seventh, Boedeker, who was up officially only once during the 11 innings, went to second on a sacrifice, to third on Bill McMilan's single, and then stole home. That concluded the afternoon's-and early evenings-scoring as the clubs battled on even terms until darkness halted proceedings in the eleventh.

LaGrange Tops Soph Linksmen

LaGrange's sophomore golfers handed Arlington its third WSC loss last Thursday, 5-4, at the Acacia country club.

Coach Charles Aldrich's top boy was Jeff Louthain who turned in three points on rounds of 43-47-90.

District Track Is Saturday

Waukegan and two Palatine entries, Gene Crandall and Dick Brodkorb. Crandall's best time is 2:04 and Brodkorb's 2:05.

The mile run looks like it's out of Palatine's and Arlington's class. Ron Mark's 4:45 is the best among area milers, but is five seconds above qualifying. Ken Courter has a 4:47 mile for the Cards and Jim Carpenter a 4:49 mile for Palatine.

WENDELL HALL of North Chicago is expected to be a top contender for the mile run as are Meyer, Kirkland and Hatcher of New Trier and Bruce Drissell of Antioch.

Relay teams look especially good for Arlington and Palatine. This is especially true in the mile relay where the Cards and Pirates are expected to battle for honors. Arlington's best is 3:30.7 and Palatine is just .3 seconds behind. North Chicago also has a good team but is not expected to challenge the local schools.

The Cards have a top-flight 880 relay team whose best is 1:32.4. The Hawks of North Chicago are rated a notch above Arlington, having beaten them in the North schools ran in separate heats. Maine can go 1:34 in the relay and New Trier is considered as a top contender.

A BIG QUESTION mark is Arlington's Jon Hawkins, who suffered a pulled muscle Monday in practice. He is a member of both the 880 and mile relay teams and his loss might be just enough to keep the team from going to Champaign.

The hurdles finds the possibility of three boys making the trip to the University of Illinois. Palatine's Ken Gordon is rated a contender in the highs and lows. The lows are Gordon's specialty where he has run the qualifying time of :20.5. The Pirate hurdler also has equalled the high qualifying mark.

Ed Whitelaw, who once this season hit :14.8 in the highs, is Arlington's chief high hurdle threat. Other high hurdle stars include Doug Nelson of Maine, Jerry Oglesby and Jim Houston of North Chicago and Ed Claire of New Trier.

BOB O'NEIL, a :20.6 man, is the best Arlington prospect in the lows. Competition which he and Gordon will be facing includes Oglesby, Nelson and two Highland Park boys, Walton and Joseph.

Neither Arlington nor Palatine will be particularly strong in the field events.

Each school has a boy which may qualify in the shotput but they will be among about 10 who are expected to top the 49 foot minimum with the 12 pound shot. In fact, Pyle's 1957 record of 54-7 is expected to be broken by Bob Neuman of Maine whose best effort is 56-1¾.

FRANK PILANDRI of Highland Park, Mercein of New Trier have topped 53 feet. Those ahead of 49 feet are Pickens of Evanston, Jim Cosby of North Chicago, Jeff Miller, Chris Davis of Antioch, Mike Hill of Libertyville, Denny Striegl of Arlington and Don Smith of Palatine.

The discus has three top prospects in Neuman, Davis and Jeff Armstrong of Barrington. All have exceeded 154 feet. Ron Leafblad of Waukegan, Ray Martin of Maine and Gary Martin of Libertyville all have beaten the qualifying mark. Striegel and John Torrens of Arlington and Bill Smith of Palatine have come close in meets but have never topped 140 feet.

Top pole vaulters in the district are Gritschke of New Trier who has reached 12 feet and Allen Neuman of Maine, and March of Evanston, 11-6 vaulters.

WAUCONDA'S Phil Winterroth is the leading broad jump candidate with his 21-9 leap. Right on his heels is expected to be Jerry Oglesby of North Chicago. Minor of Evanston also has jumped 21 feet.

Bill Johns is the odds-on favorite to capture the high jump, having reached 6-3¼. Others who are expected to better the 5-10 qualifying height include West Sidney of New Trier, Bohl of Libertyville, and Bill Butts and Chuck Mohr of Maine.

Arlington Golfers Whip Wheaton

With Al Kruse in the No. 1 position, Arlington's varsity golfers added Wheaton to their list of victims this spring with an impressive 12½-2½ victory at Old Orchard Friday.

Replacing Dave Ebert who had shot to an 86 in Thursday's match, Kruse turned in rounds of 39-35 for a 74 on the par 71 course. Ebert, playing as No. 2 man, recorded two 38s for a 76.

Sophs Top LaGrange Nine, 4-1

Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's Arlington frosh-soph baseball squad backed the steady pitching of Gregg Beckway with a four run offensive April 29 and recorded an impressive 4-1 victory over LaGrange.

Beckway yielded seven hits but hurled shutout ball until the seventh frame.

Catcher Bill Zadel pounded out two singles to pace the young Cards' attack. Fred Empkie drilled a double and Keith Voigt added a triple for the game's long blows.

Soph Lions Blank Cards' Netmen, 5-0

LaGrange rolled to an easy 5-0 victory last Thursday over Arlington's sophomore tennis team.

The Cards' doubles team of Bob Bohac and Jerry Hawkins turned in the closest match with 6-4, 6-2 losses to LaGrange's Doug Kline and John Strougal.

Sparked by the one-two punch of a hot father and son team, Keefer's Pharmacy took the first night lead in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight Golf league with a ten point clean sweep over Nelson Realty. The father, Roy Hawkinson, posted a sizzling 39 and his son, Ron, a 40, including a birdie on the 13th hole, and after this display of mid-season form Nelson's Realty never got off the ground.

Golden's Food Shop and Cleaners was very nearly as hot as the pharmicists, clobbering Carl's Food Shop 9-1 in a battle of the delicatessens.

Tied for third place were Licht's Paint Store and Wille Lbr. and Fuel with 6½-3½ victories over Annen and Buse and Geo. O'Day, Realtor.

Birdies posted in addition to Ron Hawkinson's on the 13th were Commissioner Jack Patheal 1, Jim Dricoll 7, and Glen Adams 12.

Soph Golfers Still Lose

Arlington's soph golfers fired two 79s and an 81 Monday afternoon but they still weren't enough as Hinsdale recorded an impressive 6-3 victory.

Reg Hawkinson, who had a 96 in his last match, and Jeff Louthain turned in the 79s but only Hawkinson won any team points. Grant Wallhoff's fine 81 was still good for only a half point.

Hinsdale's three golfers recorded two 77s and an 82.

State Track Honor Roll

By BILL BECKMAN

Many excellent performances were turned in over the past week by prep trackmen of the state. The most noteworthy being the 23'5" broad jump of Tom Hayden of East Aurora, the 173' 11" discus throw of Cloyd Webb of East St. Louis and Ed West of Bloom with a :14.4 in the highs and a :49.4 in the quarter. Ron Barbizzi of Bloom had two throws over 58 feet in the Mooseheart relays. In the meets that we have watched Barbizzi throw we have noted that he has a tendency to release his shot prematurely. The one time that he carried through resulted in a 59'9" effort at Oak Park but fouled on it. It is reasonable to assume that down state the Bloom strong boy could be the first in this state to ever hit 60 feet.

The honor roll this week finds three other boys under :10 flat. Forrest Newton of Kankakee, Ron Meneley of Glenbard and Dick Bader of Arlington. Meneley and Bader finishing in practically a dead heat at Hinsdale, the timers gave both boys a clocking of :09.9.

The mile continues to be one of the most interesting in that the four boys placing in last year's meet are closely grouped in time. Marv Silliman of Kankakee dropped his time to 4:24.5 to become the leader. The past week also saw Jerry McFadden of Belleville beat Terry Dearden of Collinsville with a 4:28.3. However, Dearden had a clocking of 4:25.1 in an earlier meet.

An observation also shows that down south East St. Louis is showing a lot of power indicating that the Trojans of Bloom may not win this year's meet with quite the point spread that they have in the last three years. We feel that Coach Ralph Stebens' boys still have the talent and depth to take home the crown.

Comparing the best times of 1959 and the best times of district week last year show:

Practice Sessions Planned for Girls' Softball Teams

Practice sessions for girls' softball in Wheeling will begin after the school term ends in June, with the place to be announced later. The group plans to have two teams this year, under the supervision of the Wheeling Athletic Association. The adult committee announced this week that a few more registrations can still be taken.

Girls who will be 13 years old by September 30 are eligible. The top age limit is 18. Registration blanks can be obtained from Barbara Lockwood, Diane Cary, Jocelyn Coblenz or Sharon Davis.

Sweeper Monday In Roselle Golf League

Cliff Benhart will be the chairman of the sweeper Monday night in the Roselle Monday night golf league at the Roselle Country club. All golfers are requested to see Benhart before teeing off Monday evening.

League play got off to a week's late start due to bad weather. In the first round Bowes Motors took the lead over nine other teams.

Hauff May Bid for Golf Spectacle

A meeting today between Richard Hauff, president of the Mt. Prospect Country club, and Ed Carter, director of the Professional Golfer's association tourney bureau, may determine whether Mt. Prospect some day will be the scene of the World's Championship of Golf.

Hauff indicated Monday that he is contemplating bringing the World's Championship, formerly held by George S. May at Tam O'Shanter, to the Mt. Prospect course in addition to the women's meet which will definitely be held this summer from July 23-26.

"The money for the International Ladies Invitational," Hauff "has been put in escrow. In regard to the possibility of the World's Championship at Mt. Prospect, it comes down to actually whether I want it or not. That is, if we want both tournaments at Mt. Prospect. "We'll find out more about that Thursday."

The women's tourney in July will attract the outstanding female professionals with $8,000 going to the winner from a $20,000 pot of gold. The previous high ever offered women pros was a tops of $12,500 and $5,000 first prize.

Victor Electric Cops 2nd Spot

Victor Electric won second place in the Paddock Classic Bowling League in the final night of competition Saturday at the Ten Pin in Barrington by copping two games fom N.R.G. Construction. The construction men opened with 1068, including Marv Perry's 248 and Lee Adams 236 which was too much fo the electricians in spite of a 265 by Al Valentino and 996 performance by the team. Victor copped the other two contests though, with 933 and 924. Valentino was high with 690, followed by Irv Hahnfeldt 639 and Marv Perry 627.

J. T. Flood Engineering backed into the championship by taking two low scoring contests from James Stavros. Only game of 900 status was by Stavros to take the middle encounter. The victories by Flood and Victor meant no play-offs this coming weekend will be necessary.

Johnson's Sporting Goods knocked off Beverly Lanes all three times with the team over 900 twice. The terrific heat of Saturday undoubtedly affected the bowlers and accounted for the low scores.

Golf Courses Now Open

Cook county's six forest preserve public golf courses opened Friday, April 24, with expectations of entertaining more than a quarter-million golfers during the season.

During 1958, the courses were used by 222,317 golfers who paid fees totaling $304,492. The number of players was 32 per cent greater than the 167,832 in 1957.

"With an ever-increasing population, it is natural to expect some increase in the number of players each year, but our 1958 boom was due partly to another factor," declared Daniel Ryan, president of the Cook county board.

"Subdividers are buying up privately owned golf courses and turning them into choice homesites," he explained. "Within the past two years five such courses have been taken over as building sites, with the result that there are fewer and fewer courses that are open to the public. Our well-managed forest preserve courses, therefore, are filling a great need, and we expect an even greater number to use them this year."

The forest preserve courses and their locations are:

BILLY CALDWELL—Caldwell ave., southeast of Central ave.

BURNHAM WOODS — 142nd st. and Burnham ave., Burnham.

EDGEBROOK — Central ave., south of Caldwell ave.

INDIAN BOUNDARY—Forest Preserve drive, between Belmont ave. and Cumberland road, River Grove.

Cubs' Banks, Long Aid In Helping LL Players

A couple of "Big Leaguers," Ernie Banks and Dale Long, members of the Chicago Cubs baseball team, are interested in helping the "Little Leagues."

That's why they were on hand to launch a special plan, originated by the Golden Hamburger Drive-In Corporation, today at the Golden Point Drive-In at 4431 N. Harlem, Norridge. The plan will be carried out at all other Golden Point drive-ins throughout the United States.

Banks, voted the National League's Most Valuable Player last year, and Long were greeted by approximately 100 autograph-seeking "Little Leaguers."

THE PLAN as announced by Thomas A. Anderson, president of the corporation, will enable youngsters in the Chicago area to obtain regulation Little League equipment free by saving Golden Point sales receipts.

The program will be in effect all during the Little League season which is opening now. Items including balls, ball bats, fielder's gloves, first baseman's gloves and caps will be made available to the youngsters.

There are seven Golden Point drive-ins in and around Chicago at: 147th and Western ave. Harvey; 2401 Ridge rd., Highland, Ind.; 5411 S. NATIONAL RELIGIOUS PUBLICITY COUNCIL in recognition of outstanding service rendered to organized religion through the pursuit of impartial journalism, and as a testimonial to its continued efforts, in behalf of all faiths, to advance the spiritual life of our nation
Inscribed this Ninth day of April, 1959, in Washington, D.C.
National President
Chairman, Awards Committee
"Unknown and unsung, a rose blooming on the heather beside Chicago's northwest highway, among the rapidly growing suburbs north and west of America's great midwestern metropolis — growing with them and contributing the power of the press to healthy development of community life—Paddock Publications has consistently followed a policy calling for well-rounded reporting of the news of religion and for intelligent interpretation of religious events and movements, both in and beyond its own area.
"By its happy combination of coverage and comment upon the religious life of the nation and the communities it serves, Paddock Publications has earned the Award of Merit of the National Religious Publicity Council."
DR. OSWALD C. J. HOFFMANN
Chairman, Awards Committee

Ladies...

Here's a well-paying job you'll enjoy...and it's near home!

Our Illinois Bell girls here in Arlington Heights tell us one reason why they like their jobs so much is the fact that they don't have to make that long, tiresome trek into the Loop every day. Most of them come from Arlington Heights and nearby communities, so it's just a matter of minutes to zip home after work.

If you'd like to work near home in a modern, air-conditioned building—with people you'll really like—come in and let us talk to you about joining the telephone team in Arlington Heights. We have some unusually appealing, well-paying jobs open in general office work and some office specialists, such as tabulating machine operators.

Hours are convenient—and you earn as you learn. You get paid vacations, regular raises, plus many other benefits. There's absolutely no reason for you to battle the crowds into the Loop every day when you can have the ideal job so near home! Make a note to do something about it—right away! Here's the person to see or call:

MRS. MILLIE MARCOUX

Allow for Expansion On Mechanical Feeding

One of the most important items for you to consider when you plan a mechanical feeding setup for your beef cattle is to allow for future changes or expansion.

Farm Adviser Carl F. Mees suggests that farmers may want to feed more cattle than they are now feeding. And the best time to allow for new feed storage and bunk space is during the planning stage.

CONVENIENCE is another planning factor, Mees says. Farmers will want easy access to feed storage from the fields, good drainage, an expansion area and proper location of the feed bunks.

H. G. Russell, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, has some additional suggestions for farmers who are planning new feedlot facilities.

If the distance from farmstead to cultivated fields makes it necessary to haul all crops in from a distance and haul manure back to the cropland, why not locate the feedlot near the center of your cropping operations, Russell asks. If your buildings are on a high hill, why haul all feed and manure up and down hill? If at all possible, locate the feedlot down the hill and near the highway for convenience in bringing in feed and in trucking cattle to and from the farm.

Heavy rains or thawing ice or snow can cause a lot of water to accumulate in a paved feedlot unless there's good drainage. Don't locate feed storage or sheds in the path of drainage.

RUN THE FEED bunks north and south if possible, Russell suggests, especially if you plan to put a roof over them. This arrangement will give the sun a chance to thaw frozen manure, snow and ice from either side of the bunks to make cleaning easier.

A modern feed handling, storage and processing unit should be the first item for bringing your feeding operations up-to-date. Whether you use bunk augers or a power-driven feeding and mixing wagon will depend to some extent on the size of your operation, the specialist says. Bunk augers work well in a compact feeding unit. The feed wagon may be better if you feed in several widely separated lots.

Plant Prima Donnas As Rule in Spring

Treedom has its share of prima donnas too — those woody pets that demand special seasonal consideration for successful transplanting.

As a rule, these trees should be planted only in Spring — or, if reasonable precautions are taken, in late Summer or early Fall. Spring planting is best for succulent-rooted (juicy-tissued) magnolias, yellowwoods and silktrees. And for some not truly succulent-rooted, such as dogwoods, redbuds, tupelos, Katsuras and some of the evergreens.

R. G. CARMICHAEL, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., explains that the timing problem revolves around whether roots can supply enough moisture to twigs and buds. Planted in Spring, roots start a new growth at once and the expanded system has a chance to pick up enough water to replace moisture transpired above the ground.

Plastic sprays have extended the transplanting time for the recalcitrant trees. Coatings on twigs and foliage retard transpiration and by reducing the amount of moisture given off into the air keep the trees from drying out. Franspiration may be further reduced by wrapping trunk and larger branches with strips of burlap or Kraft paper.

Now is the critical time for planting the difficult species particularly in the northern and central sections of the country.

Vegetable Report Resumed

Agricultural extension specialists at the University of Illinois have resumed releasing a report describing the vegetable situation in Illinois.

Entitled the "Bulletin on the Illinois Vegetable Situation," the report is prepared every week during the growing season. Cooperating with the University in its preparation are the Illinois Natural History Survey, Southern Illinois University and other organizations.

The bulletin is designed to keep the commercial vegetable grower informed of diseases and insects threatening his crops. It also lists meetings of interest to growers, timely production tips and similar information.

Any interested person may subscribe to the bulletin. To do so, send your name and address to Bulletin, 208 Vegetable Crops Building, University of Illinois, Urbana. The cost is $2.00; make checks payable to the University of Illinois. Members of the Illinois State Vegetable Growers Association have their subscriptions paid by the association.)

Down on the Farm

CARL F. MEES
with Your Farm Adviser

by CARL F. MEES
FARM ADVISER

Research into greater industrial uses for farm products is one key to breaking down giant agricultural surpluses.

However it is wishful thinking to believe that research started now can find new economics uses for grain presently stored under government loan, says R. T. Milner, head of the University of Illinois, department of food technology.

IN THE PAST, highly publicized "myths" concerning possible industrial farm product uses have received much public attention, only to fall through when actually tested. Early dreams of soybean plastics and power alcohol, for example, have not materialized and no longer seem economically possible, Milner points out .

Some new ideas for industrial uses of farm products promise better results. Large acreages of newly developed high amylose corn, which compares in yield with present good hybrids, may soon be grown especially for industrial use. High-amylose starch makes strong, flexible, transparent films similar to cellophane. The films are grease-resistant, edible and water soluble and can be made water soluble.

Ordinary corn starch shows promise for industrial uses. Milner estimates that in the future starch from as much as 100 million bushels of corn a year may be used economically in ore purifications and other metallurgical uses alone.

Cornstarch may also find use in making paper, and combined with cotton fiber, it may some day make clothing so cheap that homemakers will throw it away instead of washing it.

IF THIS encouraging trend increases, we may have many surprises in the years that follow.

Mulches Applied to Plant Prevent Growth of Weeds

by JAMES FIZZELL,
Assistant Farm Adviser

Mulches applied to shrubs and evergreens and vegetables will help to prevent growth of weeds and to conserve moisture.

Mulches soak up moisture and rainfall. They allow it to soak into the soil and thereby prevent surface evaporation, insuring an even moisture supply during the growing season. Germinating weeds are unable to reach light through the mulch and never become mature.

MULCHING materials are classified as either organic or inorganic. Organic materials are broken down by soil microorganisims and become part of the soil. Inorganic materials are not broken down.

Examples of organic mulches are leaves, peat moss, straw, sawdust, shavings, grass clippings and paper.

Paper mulches are not ordinary paper, but a special paper treated with a fungicide and a preservative. These materials help to control diseases and make the paper more durable. A paper mulch conserves moisture satisfactorily, completely eliminates weed growth. Its best use is probably in the vegetable garden, particularly on tomatoes.

IF STRAW is used, buy it one year in advance. Cut the wires and leave the bales outdoors so that any weed seeds in the straw will sprout. These weeds will not mature due to lack of plant food in the straw. As a result, the straw will be nearly weed free when it is ready for use.

Straw, sawdust, and shavings, will control weeds if applied 3 to 4 inches deep.

Gardners can either apply grass clippings directly to the soil as a mulch or incorporate them in a compost pile. However, if clippings come in contact with plant stems they may cause rot.

If organic materials are used as a mulch, add more fertilizer to the soil. For every one inch of mulch, apply an additional two pounds of fertilizer per 1000 square feet.

Two examples of inorganic materials are vermiculite and plastics. Vermiculite is a porous granular substance that holds moisture well.

PLASTIC SHEETS make a good mulch but must be perforated so that rain can reach the soil. Black plastic completely eliminates weed growth. White plastic allows some weed growth underneath. Ground covered with white plastic can be fumigated to control weeds, but this is not practical for home gardeners.

Mulching materials are available at hardware stores, construction companies and nurseries.

Mills Offer Samples Of Grass Killer

Arlington Heights Roller Mills of Arlington is offering free samples of Dowpon grass killer to farmers of this area, according to the manager.

"We would like to have all growers in this area pick up a sample and try it out on their own land," he said. "This is the best way we know for them to realize what grass control around the farmstead can mean."

"Dowpon offers the one really effective method of bringing problem grasses under control," the manager said. Cultivation and mowing can hold grasses back although the farmer usually winds up losing a year's production with his fields in fallow trying to bring grasses like quack or Johnson under control, he pointed out. Spraying with Dowpon can control grasses, roots and all, without taking fields out of production.

The sample can be applied with hand spray equipment or a sprinkling can. Specialized spray equipment is not needed with Dowpon.

Calves Handle Big Wafers Well; Enjoy the Chewing

Less than nine months ago an experimental machine was operating in the hay fields of the Dixon Springs experiment station, pounding out wafers. The wafers were flat and round measuring four inches across and about one inch thick.

Raw material going into the machine was field-cured mixed clover and grass hay. As the hay popped out of the four-inch tube into a trailing wagon, it was tightly packed with two to three thimes the density of baled hay—but otherwise unchanged.

Each string or strand of forage could be uncoiled its full length from the solid wafer.

CONSIDERING ONLY the advantages of handling, storing, and shipping — particularly shipping because of reduced bulk — the still experimental wafering machine poses as a real threat to the baler as king of the hay fields. But, how do wafers feed?

Heifer calves weighing about 475 pounds have a mouth size that matches the rest of them. For most feeds, we think that their mouth is big enough. But, how would the calves handle a real big bite of a four-inch wafer? There was no cause to worry.

These calves handled the wafers well, chewing them over and eventually breaking the wafers down to a smaller size or eventually unpacking the wafer to a tangled mass of more or less loose hay. Observations led the Farm Bureau to believe that the calves rather enjoyed their chewing exercise. They sought out and worked over wafers in the bunk before cleaning up any loose or flaked hay.

Heifer gains on the wafered hay—no other feed was fed — were not exceptional, but satisfactory. In a winter test, the wafered hay produced daily gains of about 3/4 of a pound a day while baled hay produced about 1/3 of a pound daily gain. Both wafers and baled hay were fed at the rate of slightly more than 11 pounds a day to each calf.

ELEVEN POUNDS was the amount put into the bunks but observation showed that waste was less for the wafered hay, meaning that the amount of hay that reached the paunch of the calves as wafers was probably greater. There is no way of measuring exact consumption—but the observation of less waste plus the higher gains lead us to believe that wafer consumption was better.

Pelleted hay is still king over wafers and baled hay. Hay similar to that fed as wafers and as bales was ground and pelleted. This produce produced average daily gains of about 1½ pounds with the average daily consumption up to more than 16 pounds.

It took only 1,100 pounds of pelleted hay to make 100 pounds of calf gain. About 1,600 pounds of wafers were needed to give the same gain, while calves on the baled hay needed about 3,600 pounds of hay for each 100 pounds of gain.

Ext. Service Serves All In Ag Field

The Extension Service is organized to serve all people interested in agriculture, home economics and related subjects, W. G. Kammlade, associate director of the Illinois Extension Service declared this week.

In a recent report prepared by a special Extension Service committee, emphasis was placed on increasing efficiency in marketing, distribution and use of farm products. The Extension Service has a clear responsibility to help in marketing work, Kammlade asserted, but most marketing processes take place after products leave the farms.

SOME OF THE goals set up in Extension marketing programs include reducing costs of marketing farm products, expanding markets by helping farmers and marketing firms produce new and improved products, and increasing efficiency.

If the Extension Service is to assist in these general areas, it must be able to work with wholesalers, retailers and processors, Kammlade pointed out.

However, the Extension Service performs an educational service, not a regulatory function, he emphasized. Its aim is to make people aware of situations, and to stimulate them to make improvements they think will be helpful. Decisions are left to the farmer, market man or any other citizen. "If you cannot help yourself, no one can" he concluded.

Scientific Farm Buildings Produce Extra Farm Profits

The increasing demand by the American consumer for more and higher quality foods is now being met with the help of scientifically controlled farm buildings. Tests have determined the exact conditions required by animals for maximum production. These conditions are now being duplicated in "controlled environment" buildings on farms throughout the country. The result is bigger profits for the farmer.

The top picture shows a Stran-Steel Stran-Master poultry house. It is windowless and completely insulated to regulate temperature and humidity. Lights control the waking and sleeping hours of the hens. Feed and water is automatically supplied and regulated. A push of a button removes droppings from the floor of the building by means of a motor driven scraper. Eggs are collected from nests lining the central aisle in the building.

The bottom picture is that of a Stran-Master all-steel building for producing feeder pigs on a production line basis. The farrowing room is insulated and ventilated. Radiant heat lamps keep pigs and sows comfortable in cold weather. Ventilation fans are thermostatically regulated to control temperature. Pens have concrete floors that are clean and easy to keep clean.

The appearance of the buildings has not been overlooked. Bright metallic colors of blue, green, rose, bronze, gray and white are now being used on walls and roof. The color coating is a double layer of vinyl-aluminum that is baked on to the steel at the factory.

The Way We See It

Illinois Needs Secret Primary

A state-wide Secret Primary Ballot Committee has been formed in Illinois. It is enlistin gsupportf ro the secret primary, and has begun a campaign of public education.

The secret primary embodies one of the highest concepts of a democracy, that of a free and equal vote for all.

Under Illinois' present primary system the voter is denied this opportunity. In order to vote in a primary the voter must first declare himself to be a member of a political party. The primary is closed to those who are not party members, and party membership is closed to those who do not disclose their party affiliation.

This lack of secrecy has acted as a brake in fulfilling the essentials of a democratic nominating system. Many voters are not in a position to openly proclaim their party preference. Clergymen, small businessmen, teachers, and many others who consider their positions sensitive are reluctant to do so for a variety of reasons. They are aware that a vote for the "wrong" party may well lead to economic and social reprisals.

To force voters to publicly announce party membership before voting in a primary election is not only an invasion of individual rights, but it effectively disenfranchises a sizable number of citizens.

At most primary elections less than one-third of the eligible voters participate. There is a stark contrast between numbers voting in primaries as compared to general elections. In 1956, about 4.5 million voters cast ballots in the general election, while only 1.8 million voted in the primary election.

In addition to larger voter participation, the secret primary ballot will result in more, and possibly better qualified candidates. In many instances well qualified candidates are not available because there are not large enough numbers of voters to offset the controlled vote of politicians with relatively small, but disciplined followings.

Often in the case of candidates for the state legislature who have been elected by a small minority vote, the result is final. In 1958, 96 of 177 members of the legislature were elected in the primary and faced no opposition in the general election.

House Bill 40, the secret primary bill, seeks to make available, in addition to the regular Democratic and Republican party ballots, a third ballot to persons not wishing to declare their political affiliation.

This ballot would consist of a column for each political party. The names of each party's candidates would appear on the combined ballot under the party label.

If candidates of more than one political party are voted for on the combined ballot, the entire ballot is void. Party offices would appear only on the party ballot, not on the combined ballot.

The voter has a choice between using a party ballot, and declaring his party affiliation, or a secret ballot, and not making public his party preference.

The Secret Primary Ballot Committee deserves the support of all persons interested in upholding Illinois' Bill of Rights that proclaims, "All elections shall be free and equal."

Vote Machines— Downstate Pain

Vote machines are an election feature that most people in Cook county have now become accustomed to, but this isn't the case in most other parts of Illinois. A crisis on the matter looms in many of these areas as the result of a bill now pending in the state senate.

Senate bill 427 would make use of voting machines mandatory throughout the state and remove a previous referendum clause. Virtually all downstate legislators are against the bill, but the powerful Cook county bloc could once again provide enough opposition if so inclined.

That there would be a definite crisis in even as large a suburban county as DuPage was brought out rather strongly at a recent meeting of the county's board of supervisors by member Harold P. Dunton of Wheaton. He painted a probable picture that would do little to aid financial economy already in jeopardy.

Dunton reported that DuPage would have to come up with something like $250,000 to meet the requirement and pointed out there is even more trouble in addition to that should the bill become law. A registered lobbyist at Springfield, he is also head of the county's election committee.

He referred specifically to the major realignment that would be needed in terms of polling places throughout the county. As in many other sectors, the majority of the DuPage voting spots have always been in private homes. The county has 206 precincts now and plans to up that number to 229 in the near future.

The voting machines, Dunton discloses, weigh in the neighborhood of a ton each and it's extremely doubtful that many of the owners of polls would want such heavy machinery in their dwelling. Furthermore, residential structures for the most part could not safely hold such a load.

There's also the question of where to store the machines when not in use, the fact that there have been no provisions for same budget-wise as well and that the customary election judges and clerks would still have to be hired since the machines merely record and do not tabulate the decisions by the voter.

Complexity of Creation

by MARTIN MARTY

Sunday we attended the dedication of another new northwest suburban church. It was one of those rare occasions when ministers are enabled to see and hear things from the vantage of the pew.

Where I sat, I saw the most remarkable thing. From the first row I could look out through one of the few clear panes of glass in the colored-glass chancel wall and see, directly beyond the altar, a cow.

Behind our backs was a fast growing suburb; houses, houses, houses.

Ahead, perhaps only for months until building swallows the pasture, was a cow.

And then it rained.

You may remember, it wasn't one of those limp drip-dry rains; a sudden electrical deluge swirled around the building. A new man-made roof was over head, but we were very close to nature.

The cow beyond the altar and the rain around us: how important these were! Each of them point to a closeness to nature that was and is slipping from urban people; it was almost gone and if it had gone something vital would have been severed from man's own nature. Some sense of the organic relation of man and earth is always implied in Biblical revelation, from the early stories of man being formed of the dust of the earth to the matter-of-fact reminder that he will return to it. In our statistics-conscious organization-minded promotional forms of church life we seldom pause to affirm Creation.

YET THE understanding of man's closeness to nature and the ways his destiny is bound up with all creation's needs nurture. We can begin where we are. The lady on Park Avenue who keeps a little window box with 12 tulips alive has an intuition about this. The tenement dwellers who rush to the forests or lake side on Saturday afternoons are, whether they are conscious of it or not, severed from something people need to be real people. And most of all we see this affirmation in the suburbanites' compulsion to develop a green thumb. Isn't the springtime obsession about lawns and fertilizers and peat moss and bushes a sign that city life had created a vacuum in man's total development?

It needn't take the same form for everyone. Not everyone makes a hobby of it or is swept away. Not every lawn is manicured, and here and there are signs of neglect. No doubt there are thousands who, like this columnist, prefer to enjoy green things from a distance a bit longer than a hoe-handle away from the ground. (Alas, I cannot pretend: this newspaper also falls into the hands of my neighbors, and they can document this.)

STILL AND ALL, after this has been said, the other side must also be noted. So much of the metaphor of Biblical religion has to do with lambs and ewes and sycamores and pomegranates, and thus it is easily dismissed by urbanites. It doesn't seem to talk about our kind of life. Here I think the churches have to be on their guard to notice as well the developing strand toward the urban within the Scriptures.

Genesis begins with a vision of a garden; Revelation ends with a vision of a city. The Book begins on a "Green Pastures" level of primeval rural life; it ends by looking back on that age and its men as being one in which they "looked forward to the city which has foundations, whose builder and maker is God." The picture is sophisticated to one of pavements and gates and banners and towers: the Chistian hope speaks as well to this. So lambs are not the whole part of the story.

BACK TO THE cow and the altar. One is the symbol of the need for a continuing tie to Creation; the other the symbol of man's creation, a witness toward the City which lies ahead for the men of faith. You can deride the nature-lovers and you will fall short of one side of the faith and you can short-change the builders and you will deprive people of a sense of direction. Perhaps the two are really one, and the churches had better be ready for ever new levels of complexity of creation. Remember when people used to say, "If God had intended us to fly, He would have seen to it that we had wings."?

This week's "New Yorker" shows a couple in a travel agency, with the wife demurring: "If God had intended us to fly in jets, He would have seen to it that the Wright Brothers invented jets."

We constantly have to be open to new forms of human creation; but we shall understand them only if we can keep one eye looking back on Divine Creation, on "the green things of the earth," on the rural symbol in suburbia, the cow beyond the altar. Thanks, Bessie, for reminding me.

OFTEN MISUSED

Distinguish between imaginary (existing in the imagination) and imaginative (possessing a great amount of imagination). Thus: "Most of our troubles are imaginary," and, "He is an imaginative author."

Do not say, "When I entered into the room, they were there." Omit "into," since "enter" means to go into.

Do not confuse later (comparative of the word "late") with latter (the second of two aforementioned things).

Letters to the Fence Post

'Achilles Heel'

Anent the succinct but acrimonious attack on Palatine business men (Fence Post 4/30/59) titled "Civic Pride" and signed "A Reader."

This effrontery of the "anonymous one" poses a personal question-per se-

Are all Palatine business men—including the Highway—guilty of this gross neglect? Or should the writer have discreetly prefaced the criticism with the important adjective S-O-M-E?

It is more palatable then, to assume that this connotation was erroneously omitted.

Appreciate Help

On behalf of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, I would like to thank Paddock Publications and especially Marianne Scott, women's editor, for the wonderful help and cooperation in publicizing the club's activities during the past 12 months.

As you know, our publicity scrapbook was awarded first place in its class in the seventh district of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs press book awards. Since one of the qualifications judged was the amount of printed linage and number of pictures, we are indeed indebted to Paddock Publications.

We sincerely appreciate your assistance in bringing our programs to the attention of your readers.

Sauce for the Goose

The Suburban Housewife from Rolling Meadows reports that she surreptitiously watches the middle-aged couple as they sit in their car waiting for the husbands'commuter train in the mornings. She is very sure that the wife is heaping vitriolic comments upon the poor man as she reads him the "riot act." She further reports that the man "sat dejected on his side of the car as her lips seemed to drip poison on his soul."

Now before we break into tears, was there a microphone in the car? Sometimes appearances can be deceiving. Is it possible the Rolling Meadows lady could have misconstrued the expressions and gestures? She says the man is always expensively dressed in different outfits. Perhaps the wife sacrifices her own appearance so that the husband can look like he just stepped out of Esquire.

Maybe she is saying, "Look Joe, I'm getting tired of giving myself home permanents; go a little easy on the clothes budget this month so that I can get fixed up."

During my lifetime experience—60 years—of observing different couples, sometimes knowing them quite intimately since I've lived here all my adult years, I've known very few men who would tolerate an unjustified tirade, without "hollering back."

The old adage "It takes two to make a quarrel" holds true most of the time and I would say that if the "hero" in this case is keeping his mouth shut then there must be some guilt somewhere in his soul.

"Rolling Meadows" smugly suggests that the wife could do better with her "easy" life by taking up interesting and constructive projects and that time and energy thus expended would result in a rich and full life.

No one could quarrel with this general statement, nor the fact that every one gains by starting out a day, optimistically, hopefully, with no resentments or recriminations and with tolerance.

Tolerance, as I see it, ought to include both sexes. Perhaps "R.M." before she sits in judgment, ought to know more about all angles of the situation and then she would be better qualified to say whether or not the wife leads an "easy" life.

Perfectly "respectable and successful" business men are not always as they seem. I've seen wives "cover up" for economic or family reasons; sometimes it is a matter of religious scruples where there is good basis for divorce by all legal standards. The husband might be an inveterate gambler or drinker; he could be a woman chaser.

If divorce is ruled out as an answer in any of these situations, then the husband is selling his birthright of marital happiness for a mess of pottage. The wife may forgive a few lapses but when such things become chronic she is apt to turn into a shrew. Her unhappiness, heart-break and frustration can lead to this sort of an emotional release; perhaps this is the only means she finds at hand of keeping out of a mental institution.

God help them both. But I think I would like to delve deeper into "cause and effect" before throwing all the blame on the wife—as seen from a rear vision mirror.

United We Stand

We wish to acknowledge the support of the candidates of the Economy party as expressed in the Fence Post last week. Now that the campaign is over, we must all stand as one in serving the village to the best of our inidvidual abilities.

As elected village officials, we assure all the voters that we will do our utmost to give them the type of administration they need and desire.

Also, we wish to extend our sincerest appreciation to these hundreds of workers who promoted our candidates.

Subversion

The voters of school district 7, approximately one third occupied by village of Wood Dale, twice defeated the identical school building referendum, but elected to the school board members of the same clique who tried to put over this unwanted proposition.

Voters of these villages are similar in that the majority are union members. New Deal—educated to follow the leader, who has been politically educated in one or two of our four national schools turning out "leaders" similar to those of the Russian type commissioner.

This is just another example of subversion from within.

Sunday Selling

Your last week's Fence Post carried a fine article on "Sunday Selling." I am sure that most of the residents in Arlington Heights are in agreement with the exception of some of the store owners.

There are many store owners who no doubt would like to close, but are forced to stay open Sundays due to competing stores staying open. The stores now stay open two nights a week and all day Saturday, so there is no need for being open on Sunday—unless it is Greed!

Let the merchants attend church. That is why we have Sundays. Let us give them that opportunity by making our purchases during the week only.

Richard W. Fox
Arlington Heights.

Register Rings

The merchants of Arlington Heights are bringing Maxwell st. of Chicago to our town by keeping open Sundays. Do not be fooled for a moment, that the stores are open for your convenience They are open to hear the cash register ring!

If all, so called, or would-be Christians would refrain from Sunday shopping, some of these merchants and their employees would be seen in church on Sundays.

Outside of drug and food, there is no urgent need for other commodities. Let us hear from other residents. What do you think?

Mrs. J. Keller

Back Schneller

We are behind men like Joseph Schneller referred to in "Sunday Selling" in last week's Fence Post.

Regret there are not more like him in Arlington Heights. We trade in stores only that do not have Sunday hours.

New Movement

Why not start a movement to frown upon Sunday store openings. We are not for Blue-laws nor are we reformists, but we cannot see why a store should be open on the Sabbath, especially when they are open two evenings a week and all day Saturday.

Once in a Lifetime

I am a senior at Arlington and I have a few things to say to the "Resident of N. Dunton."

In the first place, you say our prom plans will give us a false sense of values. I don't think they will because most of us are mature enough to realize that people do not go through life having million dollar parties given for them.

The junior-senior prom should be something to remember all your life, and because our parents are generous with their time and money, our proms are something we can look back on as the biggest parties we ever attended.

In reference to the "long range damage" these parties are doing, you didn't actually state what damage, if any, is being done, nor did you cite any examples. When we see that our proms are destroying our community, you can be sure that few of us will be attending them.

As for our "misdirected parents," I feel that when adults would rather see their sons and daughters attending supervised parties instead of night clubs where they don't belong anyway, or spending a whole day on a lonely beach, they are sensible people, not "misdirected parents."

Boss-Isms Affect Emotional Health

Tensions between employees and the boss can cause damaging emotional scars to individuals and their families, an authority declared at North Shore Hospital lecture series, Winnetka.

Dr. Bertram Schaffner, a New York psychoanalyst and consultant to the United Nations on Mental Health, stressed that a dominant yet prudent boss and stern but fair parents were a dual requirement for emotional health. His talk was eighth in a series of nine on "Emotional Forces in the Family."

—"Because the family's basic security depends on continuity of employment and income, the relationship with one's boss is bound to be tremendously charged emotionallly," Dr. Schaffner said, adding:

"The boss is the appointed authority figure in the employee's environment, the person under whose supervision he spends at least eight hours every day, the largest segment of his waking life.

"All early problems regarding a father or other authority, or achievement, competence and the like, are apt to be rekindled and manifest themselves in relationship to the personality of the boss—these may arise from the difficult behavior or personality problems of the boss."

DR. SCHAFNER pointed out that whether the boss is a good or a poor leader (authority figure), he might set off a chain reaction of emotional stimuli in the employee, his family and associates by his "boss-isms." He explained:

"A good authority figure can recognize his own limitations without embarrassment, tolerate the inevitable frustrations of leadership, set sensible goals, and recognize the differences among his various employees. Through actions and influences (boss-isms) will have a good effect on the self-confidence and emotional health of the employee.

"The poor authority (authoritarian personality) usually presents himself to others as omnipotent and omniscient, demanding complete faith in himself, and unquestioning obedience . . . His underlying sense of weakness or inadequacy, the inner unsureness to which he is not reconciled, requires him to behave in this authoritarian manner.

"This latter type of boss rarely reveals his true feelings of unsureness to his subordinates, does not secure cooperation or sympathy of employees. Instead, subordinates are usually intolerant and rebellious. He usually cannot aid employees in solving their personal and emotional problems at work. He is usually so preoccupied with his own uncomfortable feelings that he is unaware of what goes on inside of others."

DR. SCHAFFNER made these added observations:

—A man's self-esteem must be good if he is to remain mentally healthy. A boss can make or break this feeling of assurance and psychologically affect the employee's behaviour towards his wife, children and friends.

—The boss, a dynamic force within the family, even though technically outside it's kinship structure, can be considered a part of the extended family group.

—Attitudes learned at home in relation to authority, expectations, work and satisfactions will be carried directly into future work situations with a future boss.

—Many parents confusedly think that to give a child security means giving him everything he desires, keeping him "frustration-free." Actually this makes for a weak, insecure child unable to cope with life's reverses, denials, disappointments.

—Both industry and the family are trending toward a return of the stricter authority head, the "tough boss" . . .The rebellion in the family against "spare the rod and spoil the child" needs modification. Today parents live "under the tyrrany of their children." Both industry and the family require a return of more severe but fair discipline.

—THE YOUNG child needs a sense of adequacy and sureness within the authority figure upon whom he depends. When the authority figure becomes unsure, vacillating, inconsistent, afraid to take a stand, then the child loses some of his sense of security.

—Much of an employee's sense of security must depend upon his confidence in the intelligence, judgement and soundness of his company or in the boss or foreman who directs him in his job.

—In any work potentially dangcomes frightened or unsure, this is reflected quickly in morale of employees through increase in illness and absenteeism and decreased productivity.

Dr. Schaffner summarized today's trends:

"We are living in a time of change and transition, when authorities—parents and bosses — are unclear as to their roles, their own values, their own rights or duties; and when their children, small and large, are equally unclear about their roles and relationships. The result is much friction and confusion.

"Consequently, there is a new search for solutions . . . solutions which will inevitably restore some of the sense of authority from the past, but without the excessive, authoritative quality.

"There is a search going on for new forms of authority, which will have far more sensitivity to the feelings and rights of others, with far greater tact and wisdom in resolving conflicts between those in authority and those for whom and to whom they are responsible."

Tent City to Be Built for Scouts

A huge and spectacular tent city of more than 5,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers and their adult volunteer Scout leaders will be established in the Elk Grove forest preserve on the weekend of May 15, 16 and 17, under the sponsorship of the Northwest Suburban council.

The council, which recently staged Chicagoland's largest indoor Scout exhibition at O'Hare field, will move into Elk Grove forest preserve early on the evening of Friday, May 15 and with 200 scout troops and Explorer posts, involving over 5,000 campers will set up a complete tent city and begin a full weekend of Scout and Explorer outdoor exhibitions, demonstrations, and competitions, according to Alfred H. Doty, general council camporee chairman for this huge mass camping event.

ONCE AGAIN, as was the case in the staging of the 1959 Scout-O-Rama at O'Hare field, many national, state and local agencies are cooperating with the Northwest Suburban council in providing demonstrations and instructors for the Scouts and Explorers in many fields of interest . . . civil defense, helicopter air lift rescue, fly and bait casting, archery, compass and mapping, communications, skeet and rifle shooting, etc. Campers, parents, relatives, friends and the general public will be invited to attend an action packed, thrilling outdoor arena show on Saturday evening, April 16. A candle lighting ceremony, where all boy campers and adult leaders rededicate themselves to the Scout oath or promise will be one of the highlight features of this huge arena show.

Mass religious services will be conducted for all faiths throughout the weekend encampment period.

The Maine Township squadron, group one, Illinois wing, of the Civil Air Patrol is providing materials and manpower throughout the entire weekend so that a complete telephone and intercommunication system will be available for the far flung camping groups in the Elk Grove Forest preserve area.

THE FIRE department of Mt. Prospect will be involved in demonstrating fire-fighting techniques. The 56th Fighter group, located at O'Hare field is providing a huge public address system to be used in the arena show area. Complete field kitchens are being furnished, with army personnel as manpower, by the 733rd Ordinance Battalion of the 33rd infantry division, Illinois National Guard, to feed the 75 scout leaders who will be involved in the camporee headquarters section.

The American Red Cross is actively participating by providing field first aid units. Civil Defense units throughout the northwest suburban area will provide manpower and properties to properly instruct the campers in the latest techniques of home and community civil defense responsibility.

The camporee will be divided into two distinct camping groups. All Boy Scouts and their adult leaders will camp by district areas, while all Explorers and their adult leaders will camp together in a specially designated place.

ACTIVITIES, over and beyond the special demonstrations to be offered, in which the Boy Scout group will be involved are as follows: first aid, measuring and judging, knot relays, knifecraft pioneering, cooking, water boiling, signalling, compass and mapping and nature.

Special activities the Explorer group will participate in are as follows: canoe camping, portaging, log sawing and chopping, moskeet, personal fitness obstacle course, breeches buoy rescue, psycho-physical driver testing, pioneering, emergency service, field sports, archery, marksmanship, fly and bait casting, and skish, and adventure trail events.

The theme being used for this huge outdoor camping event is "Scouts United" inasmuch as the Northwest Suburban Council has not staged a Council-wide camping event for the period of the past 10 years. Previously the five district areas making up the Northwest Suburban Council have conducted district camporees on a much smaller plane.

Individual Scout troops and Explorer units are presently checking all of their camping and cooking gear in preparation for the "Scouts United" council-wide camporee!

Charter Amvet SuburbanPost

Greater Northwest Suburban Post 232 of Amvets will take on its formal existence Friday, May 8, with its Installation, Dedication and Activation. The Post, recently formed in Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, and surrounding area, has grown rapidly and will be honored at the Wheeling Post of Amvets by Amvets from all of Illinois.

Edwin P. Fifielski, state judge advocate of Amvets and organizer of the post, will act as master of ceremonies, and Village President Theodore Lams will be guest speaker.

Clarence E. Newlun of Pekin will give the oath to the new Amvets at the ceremony which will be highlighted by a mass presentation of colors by the famous color guard units of Cook County Council of Amvets and Phillip Carpenter Post 66.

Officers to be installed are: Robert Dornquast, Mt. Prospect, as Commander; M. John Manos, Arlington Heights, as Vice-Commander; Bennet Trapani, finance officer; Herbert Simpson, public relations officer; Norbert J. Korcz, service officer; Gerald A. Glascock, historian, and Enzo Frediani, membership director, all of Mt. Prospect; Harold C. Becker of Wheeling, judge advocate; James Niesen, chaplain; Robert Frederick, adjutant, both of Arlington Heights; Leonard Jakus, provost marshal, and Ted Bell, surgeon, both of Des Plaines.

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Arbor day tree planting ceremonies were held at four neighborhood parks Saturday, April 25, at 1:30 p.m. A total of 16 flowering plums were planted, four each at Sunset Park, Fairview, North Emerson and Lions Park, the gift of Charles Klehm and Son Nursery and Peony Farms.

May day was a happy occasion for the many Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls who delivered containers of fresh flowers, potted annuals, notions, cookies and other delicacies to the many friends of Camp Fire as well as residents of rest homes, hospitals and shut-ins. At a number of these stops, the girls chatted with their old and new-found friends and sang a few songs.

LETTERS

Somewhere between Memphis and Maine, your March cover artist seems to have lost her sense of direction! Every weathervane I have seen indicates the direction from which the wind comes. Your weathervane is headed the wrong way. Maybe her philosophy is like that of the man who said he didn't care so much where he had been as where he was going. In any case, we hope the robins weren't fooled!

J. F. Apsey, Jr.
Towson, Maryland

We hope so too, and wish to thank the many astute readers who pointed this out to us. We can only blush, and claim to have been too bewitched by those robins and their promise to notice.

We hear nothing but good comments from readers who enjoy looking over the section. We have yet to hear a single complaint about Suburbia Today.

Bob Paddock,
Paddock Publications,
Arlington Heights, Illinois

I wish to make a critical comment on "Suburbs Are Making History" in the March issue. As a subscriber to the French edition of Realités I fail to see what you are adding to human knowledge by merely repeating, in your lead article, what thousands of Americans have already read. Unless you wish to limit yourself to the often-quoted "twelve-year-old mentality," you ought to do better.

Mrs. Ernest H. Wiener
Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

We appreciate Mrs. Wiener's interest. However, the world-wide impact of the American suburban migration, we feel, is great news, and we felt it vital to bring this survey to the attention of the 1,230,-000 Suburbia Today families who had not read about it in the French edition of Realitiés (circulation in the U. S.–45,000.)

Where may I obtain further information on the plastic sheets mentioned in January's greenhouse article? A golf club in which I am interested is considering glassing in the club house porch but hesitates because of the golf balls hitting the glass. The plastic may be the answer.

D. H. Whittemore
Boston, Massachusetts

The plastic sheet is duPont's weatherable "Mylar," obtained through George J. Ball, Inc. of West Chicago, Illinois; Lord and Burnham of Irvington, New York; and Montgomery Ward, Chicago.

Suburbia Today is the best thing that ever happened to our local paper. I note that Suburbia really travels–I read letters from my home state (Massachusetts) and from California, where I am right now.

New ways to make Italian Dressings no one can buy

...so easy with this GOOD SEASONS MIX

Now–5 different dressings with Italian Mix!

1. The basic dressing: Italian Mix makes a savory, garlic dressing. Garden herbs, flecks of onion and sweet red pepper blend their flavors into the golden smoothness. A fresh dressing—in the true Italian tradition—its light texture gently coats, never smothers, salad greens. To make it, just add your own oil, vinegar and a little water to the Mix. (The water, or a substitute liquid, is a continental secret. Makes a smoother blend!) Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. Takes seconds.

2. Anchovy Dressing. Prepare basic dressing, substituting a 2-oz. can anchovy fillets (with oil), finely chopped, for the water. Just before final shaking of dressing add 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Men love this on green salads! Add toasted croutons for a simple Caesar salad—in seconds.

3. Piquant Slaw Dressing. Instead of water, use either mayonnaise or sour cream. Stir dressing into chopped cabbage for an unusually delicious slaw —colorful, full-flavored, quick.

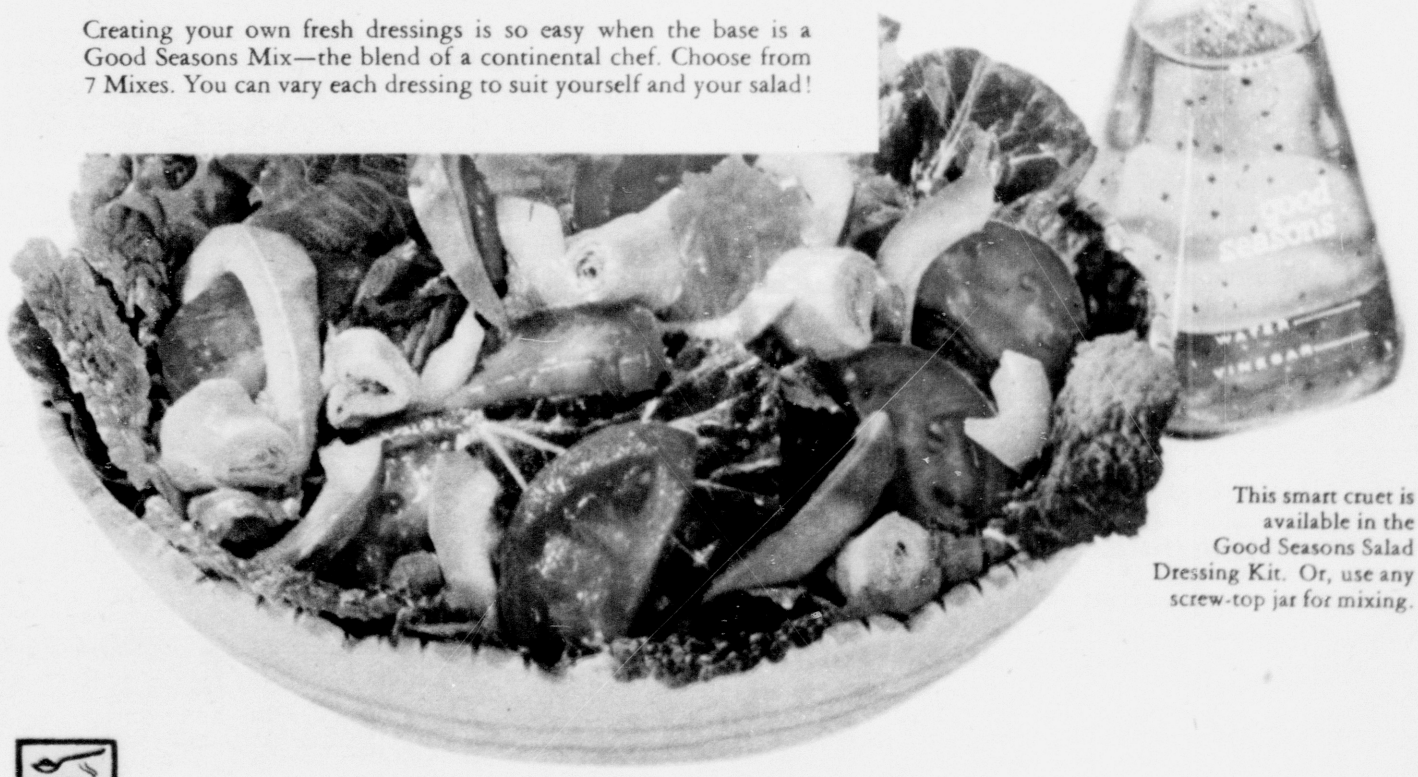
4. Olive-Vermouth Dressing. To make this, just substitute dry or sweet vermouth for the water. Just before final shaking, add 2 tablespoons of chopped olives—either the ripe or stuffed-green. A triumph on any tossed salad!

5. Vinaigrette Dressing for marinating. Substitute lemon juice for the vinegar. Last touch: add 3 tablespoons finely-chopped pickle. Marinate and chill cooked or canned vegetables in this tangy dressing for several hours. (Try carrots, beets, asparagus, beans, etc.) Serve on lettuce. A hearty, prepared-in-advance salad.

Creating your own fresh dressings is so easy when the base is a Good Seasons Mix—the blend of a continental chef. Choose from 7 Mixes. You can vary each dressing to suit yourself and your salad!



This smart cruet is available in the Good Seasons Salad Dressing Kit. Or, use any screw-top jar for mixing.

Saga Of The Station Wagon

When you drove a staton wagon in 1899 you had a whip and reins and one horse furnished the power. We take you through the marvelous years that saw this quaint original grow into the roomy, powerful, all-purpose conveyance that makes up one in every eight cars on the road today.

Margaret Halmy, a working mother herself, is eminently qualified to report on the more than six million other busy women who are America's working mothers. In addition to writing, she operates a carpool, is promoting a film, is vice president of the P.T.A., and is the proud chauffeur, confessor, and comforter of three growing boys.

Osborn's Guide To Leisure

How much lawn? How many committees? As much or as many as "work" for you, says cartoonist Robert Osborn, in an exclusive interview. And how much for Osborn? Work seems to work best for him, judging by his brilliant observations in The Exurbanites, The Decline Of The American Male, War Is No Damn Good, Low Inside, and Osborn on Leisure.

Many professional duties confine our cover artist and his family to the city, but they have the next best thing to suburban living, a five-story brownstone so large that they can "enjoy the space of the country." The station wagon, Tomorrow. Moss' mobile motel—the "push-button camper."

All set for sun-seeking! The Reillys of Laurel Canyon, California, start off for a day's outing with a wagonload of offspring and equipment.

On Wheels

The Saga of the Station Wagon — from rattling horse-drawn ancestor to the sleek descendants of 1959

In the early part of the century it was a plodding, rattling "baggage" or "express" wagon—sometimes horsedrawn, sometimes mechanized—with leather curtains that rolled down to protect the passengers. Optional equipment included fenders, windshield, and tail-light bracket. "Be sure to mention them if you want them," said the ads. Mr. Studebaker, however, was making a wagon even then that was called a "station wagon," in keeping with his practice of applying names that fit the vehicle's use.

During the twenties it became a bulky, shaky wooden box that looked as ungainly and as uncomfortable as a delivery truck although by then it was called an "estate wagon." Strictly custom-built, it earned this title as the fourth or fifth car in a stable of exclusive models carefully tended by the chauffeur. It was then used, most often, to bring week-end guests and their gear from the station to the country houses of the rich.

As the twenties roared into history the first production model appeared, a Ford "Station Bus," mounted on a Model A chassis. Only about five thousand were produced; the price was $650.00 f.o.b. Detroit. In the thirties mass-production began, new functions were discovered and the term "station wagon" became firmly established, but even so, it still accounted for less than 1% of all auto sales. A wooden body was still its distinguishing feature and it was still more a plaything than a work horse, up to the outbreak of the Second World War.

That Wonderful Wagon

"While the ordinary passenger automobile has been developed to an extent that admits of few important improvements, the baggage wagon for all-around country use is still waiting to come into its own."

This observation, made in 1914, may be the classic utterance of the Twentieth Century. Now, of course, we see that this fellow could not have been more in error about the future of the automobile. But – what would he say about his prediction if he could drive along any busy six-lane approach to the suburbs today and see the myriads of "baggage wagons for all-round country use" that are the booming, bustling 1959 stars of the automotive world – The Station Wagon, in over sixty models and in almost three million American garages and car-ports. Soon, one out of every five cars on the road will be a station wagon. It has indeed "come into its own."

It all began, we suppose, when some enterprising young man went into the business of taking his horse and wagon down to the station to pick up arriving passengers, with their Saratoga trunks and Gladstone bags, and drop them off at home or at their hotel. This same young man, as we see it, went on to become a rich old man with many horses taking many people back and forth in "Depot Wagons." From this "hay day" the horse-drawn original has admitted of a few minor improvements, as we shall soon see. Each era had its own requirements, and the station wagon, in one form or another, was there to fulfill them.

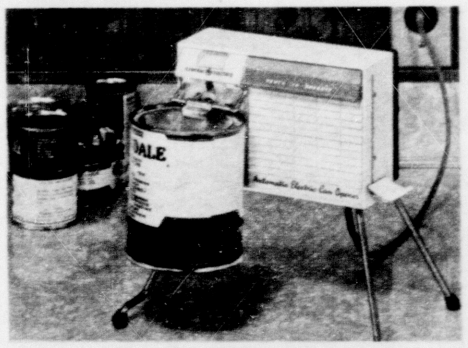
2. Touch start-stop bar—cutting starts automatically. Lift your finger—cutting stops. You have complete control.

3. Lift lever and remove can. Powerful ceramic magnet holds lid out of food and away from your fingers.



4. Opens any standard can. Long-life cutter removes for easy cleaning; tough, stain-resistant case wipes clean.

New General Electric Automatic Can Opener opens cans with a touch of your finger!

Here's a gift she'll use every day of the year!

The new G-E Can Opener whisks the top off any standard can in seconds! And it leaves a smooth, rounded rim . . . no jagged edges.

Operates only at your control—none of this zipping the top off before you know what's happening. Touch the start-stop bar—cutting starts. Lift your finger—cutting stops.

Holds can securely locked in place at all times. No tipping, no spilled food. And, a powerful magnet holds the lid after cutting—out of the food and away from your fingers.

The whole compact affair is beautifully styled for wall mounting, but optional countertop legs are also available. There's 5½ feet of cord, too, so you can reach most any outlet.

See this new electric can opener at your General Electric dealer's now—he'll give you an eye-opening demonstration. General Electric Company, Portable Appliance Department, Bridgeport 2, Conn.

CHRYSLER

Little has been chronicled about the role of the station wagon as a valiant soldier, but we like to think of it as a field ambulance, courier, and transporter of vital personnel and supplies. Like the playboy who threw away his tails and swizzle stick and went down to the nearest recruiting office on December eighth, the station wagon enlisted immediately and became an important, useful, and mature member of the armed forces.

Peace in America meant continued prosperity, a tremendous birth-rate, a home-building boom, a surge of millions of people to the suburbs and the beginning of a new way of life marked by a casual approach, greater leisure, and the do-it-yourself philosophy. People needed a conveyance that had the comfort of a sedan and the utility and roominess of a truck. The station wagon was it. It was still not the acme of comfort, it still rattled, and it still needed a lot of care that the average man could not devote to it. The answer was provided by the Chrysler Corporation who mass-produced the first all-metal model in 1949, and ushered in the present Era Of The Station Wagon.

All-purpose vehicle

Today, the station wagon has become the "domestic staff" of almost three million American families. Mercury operates a plant solely for production of station wagon models, and Plymouth is prepared to schedule up to 45% of its production in station wagons if the boom continues. And continue it should, since it would appear to answer the demands of our way of life in versatility, comfort, utility, and beauty. It may cost a couple of hundred dollars more than a sedan, but its trade-in value is both higher and more stable–and think what it can do! Here is a truly all-purpose vehicle–for a carpool or cargo carrier, for father in his business, to run errands in, for shopping, for hunting, fishing, camping trips. On family vacations it surpasses itself, and can now be fully equipped for even the longest vacations. "Station Wagon Living" is the theme of a shopping-center road show produced by the Ford Motor Company and currently touring the country.

Recognizing the increased use of the station wagon as a large car for large families, General Motors in 1958 introduced a model with a rear end designed just for children–there is a magnetized car-game on the back of the front seat, and the doors can only be opened by someone up front–preferably a parent –through a control on the instrument panel.

Push-button future

What next? An experimental model designed by Bill Moss of Ann Arbor, Michigan hints at some of the infinite future possibilities. Called the "push-button camper," it boasts a boat, a car-top tent, sleeping accommodations for four, an electric stove and refrigerator, a sink and shower with cold and hot running water–all controlled by pushing buttons–and all operated without having to leave the car.

The "Depot Wagon" has, indeed, come a long way. Although it still meets the train, chances are that it has come from home via the school to pick up the children–and when it has called for father, it will go to the supermarket for the week's groceries, to the lumber yard to pick up those two-by-fours, to the nursery for laurel bushes, and then perhaps will make a stop at the nearest gas-station or travel agency for maps and camp guides (for the more than 1,300 camping grounds now open) so that the family can begin planning for this station wagon summer that will be here very, very soon.

*We're looking for people who like to draw

IF YOU LIKE TO DRAW, America's 12 Most Famous Artists want to test your art talent. We'd like to help you find out whether you can be trained to be a successful, money-making artist.

This offer is part of a program we began ten years ago. We found that many men and women who could have become artists – and should have become artists – never did. Most of them were unsure of their talent and had no way of finding out whether it was worth developing. Others who were convinced they had talent simply couldn't get top notch professional art training without leaving home or giving up their jobs.

A Plan to Help Others

We decided to do something about this. We decided to make it possible for anyone, anywhere, who likes to draw – and who has talent worth developing – to get the training he needs to become an artist. Taking time off from our busy art careers, we pooled the extensive knowledge of art, the professional know-how, and the priceless trade secrets which we, ourselves, were able to learn only through long and successful experience.

We illustrated this knowledge with 5,000 special drawings; then organized it into a series of lessons covering every aspect of drawing and painting . . . lessons that anyone could take right in their own homes and in their spare time. Finally – after years of teaching – we perfected what is probably the most personal and effective method ever developed for criticizing a student's drawings and paintings.

Our program of art training is now well known and respected all over America. During the past ten years, we have helped thousands of people find success in art. Here are just a few:

Don Smith lives in New Orleans. Three years ago Don knew nothing about art – even doubted he had talent. Today, he is an illustrator with a leading advertising agency in the South – and has a future as big as he wants to make it.

Father of Three Wins New Career

Stanley Bowen – a married man with three children, unhappy in a "dead-end" job – began studying with us, evenings. Now he's earning a much higher salary as an illustrator for a growing art studio. And his family sees a happy, secure future ahead.

With our training, Wanda Pickulski of Rexford, N. Y., was able to give up her typing job to become fashion artist for a local department store.

Changes His Whole Life

"Your course has been the difference between failure and success for me," writes Robert Meecham of Ontario, Canada. "I've come from an $18.00 a week apprentice to where I now own my own house, two cars, and hold stock in two companies."

Earns Seven Times As Much

Eric Ericson used to be a clerk in an auto parts department. Thanks to our training, he is now an art director at seven times the salary he was making when he enrolled.

When Kathryn Gorsuch of Mt. Vernon, Ohio found out she was to have a baby – she left her filing job at an aircraft company and studied art at home with us. By the time the baby was seven months old, she went back to work for the same company . . . this time as a well-paid commercial artist.

John Whitaker of Memphis was an airline clerk when he enrolled with us. Two years later, he won a prize in a national cartooning contest and was signed to do a daily comic strip for a group of newspapers.

Profitable Hobby – at 72

A great-grandmother in Newark, Ohio decided to use her spare time to study painting. Recently, she had her first local "one-man" show – where she sold thirty-two water colors and five oil paintings.

Donald Kern – a cowboy from Miles City, Montana – studied art with us. Now he paints portraits, sells them for $250 each, and gets all the business he can handle.

Mother Boosts Family's Income

Elizabeth Merriss – busy New York mother – now adds to her family income by designing gift wrappings and greeting cards and illustrating childen's books.

In just four months Doris White of Wauwatosa, Wis., has painted and sold $750 worth of paintings . . . all in her spare time!

Send for Famous Artists Talent Test

To find other men and women with talent worth developing, we have created a special 12-page Art Talent Test. Thousands of people formerly paid $1 for this test. But now our School offers it free and will grade it free. People who reveal talent through this test are eligible for professional training by the School . . . right in their own homes.

If you like to draw and want to know if you have talent worth developing – mail the coupon today. The test will be mailed to you without cost or obligation.

Had to go

by George Loukides

There are many reasons for this broad movement. Money to supplement the family income is important but there is nothing to show that it is the main incentive with this group, as it is with the two and a half million mothers of children under six who work.

THESE big figures are surprising in view of the take-home pay of most working mothers. A woman whose children are at school does not always arrange for full-time help but she generally requires a house-worker or sitter for some part of the time she is away. That expense, plus the routine deductions for withholding tax, social security and insurance, take quite a bite out of her pay check. A salary of $50.00 a week nets somewhere around $41.00; $75.00 a week yields about $61.00 and $100.00 a week leaves about $80.00 a week in take-home pay. Deduct from any of these figures the cost of some household help, carfare, lunch, extra clothes and such, and it becomes apparent that for her, work is not just a matter of making money.

Why, then, does she do it?

"I like feeling useful and important," says one mother. "It's stimulating to meet and talk with people again about problems other than children and the house. I like getting a check. It's the kind of recognition you never get just doing housework."

Says another, "I had a good education and was trained to be a nurse. I want to use that training now to make a place for myself so that I can look ahead without fear to the time when my children grow up and leave the house."

And still another, "I've devoted myself exclusively to my family and my community up to now. From here on I can divide my attention and be active and creative in my own behalf."

RETURNING to work, for a mother, presents many problems. Not the least is the reaction of husbands. A few are enthusiastic and feel work can be stimulating and provide an outlet for energy and even irritation. Others see it as a challenge to their status as the breadwinner even though they make the major contribution.

Secretary, part-time—Elizabeth Wendel loves her job, works hard and leaves early so she can get home before her boys do.

Physical culture—Mariam McGlone, mother of two, was a dancer by profession, now conducts an exercise class in the village hall for 150 women.

"What will people in the neighborhood say!" asks a suburban husband who feels he will lose face if his wife works.

A more progressive view is taken by many husbands who assure the listener that mothers have a perfect right to work if they wish, once the children are off to school. However, further questioning often brings to light the fact that they expect these mothers, as a kind of payment for their husbands' indulgence, to keep house exactly as they did before! This last is hotly contested by the ladies, who, regardless of their reason for working, argue that it is unrealistic and immature for husbands to think they can hold a job and give full time to the house.

"That's precisely the point," complains one irate mother, "we're not the same. We've moved to a new stage of family development and our roles are different now that the children are not completely dependent upon us."

THE first problem for a mother who wants to go back to work is to find a job she can take. There is the question of how much time to give. More hours mean more money but less time for the house and children. Somehow she must reconcile more money and even more creative satisfaction with the needs of her young and still partly dependent family.

Most women begin by assigning priority to their family's needs and selecting a job within those limitations — something not far from home with hours that match the time when the children will be away at school, even though part-time jobs are considerably harder to get, partic–

Guide for Investors
by MERRILL LYNCH

We publish it once every quarter—a comprehensive survey filled with enough fact and information to make worthwhile reading for almost any investor.

It begins with a thorough-going run-down on the current investment situation—ranks two dozen different industries in terms of how attractive they appear as compared with the general market outlook.

Then it takes a 1500-word look at the business situation as a whole—focuses in turn on each of the major economic barometers like consumer spending, government outlays, or capital expenditures, that seem to call for special consideration in planning your investments.

Finally, there's a full page of recommendations—fifty or more selected stocks, classified by investment type, together with the latest figures available on earnings and dividends, prices and yields.

For a clear-cut picture of just where American business stands and where it seems to be going . . .

For an objective analysis of how leading industries, companies, and stocks might fare—ask for the current issue of our "Guide for Investors." There's no charge for your copy, of course. Just call, or write—

Mother's Back At Work

All sorts of jobs wanted — but preferably part-time and close to home

BY MARGARET HALMY

AT 7:45 A.M., Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, Mariam McGlone kisses her husband James goodbye as he takes off in the family Volkswagen. She then freshens her lipstick and stands by until the school bus picks up her two girls, Stacey and Jamie. A last word to the housekeeper and she heads for the village hall where she conducts a successful exercise class for some 150 matrons. She's home by four, in time to greet her children at the door when they scramble in from school.

"I love it," says Mrs. McGlone. "And why not? I'm a dancer by profession. The work I do keeps me fit and gives me great satisfaction. And I'm home when the children need me."

Mariam McGlone is one of three and a half million married women with youngsters over six who have returned to work on a full or part-time basis.

Designer, close to home—Jeanne Lipman designs sweaters in a studio in her spare room while her children are at school.

Vegetable Packets—Put contents of 1 pkg. frozen vegetables onto center of an 18-in. square of heavy aluminum foil; break apart. Mix with suggested ingredients. Bring corners together and gently squeeze foil together allowing slight openings for steam to escape. Set vegetable packet on grill and check vegetables for tenderness after 20 to 25 min. of cooking. Continue to cook longer if necessary. Turn edges of foil back and serve portions directly from the foil packet.

Wax Beans mixed with ½ medium-sized green pepper, cut in strips, ¼ cup sliced green onions with tops, ¼ lb. fresh mushrooms, cut lengthwise through stems and caps. Sprinkle with a mixture of ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon freshly ground pepper, and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Blend in ½ clove garlic, minced, and top with 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Peas mixed with ½ cup sliced green onions with tops, ¼ lb. fresh mushrooms, cut lengthwise through stems and caps. Sprinkle with a mixture of 1 teaspoon celery seed, ½ teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon freshly ground pepper. Top with 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Cut Green Beans mixed with 1 medium-sized onion, cut in thin slices, ½ green pepper, cut in strips, ¼ lb. fresh mushrooms, cut lengthwise through stems and caps, ½ teaspoon salt, and ¼ cup Italian-style salad dressing.

Tomatoes—Place a tomato half, cut-side up, in center of 6-in. square of heavy aluminum foil. Top with suggested ingredients. Bring corners together and gently squeeze foil together allowing slight openings for steam to escape. Set on grill 10 min., or until tomato is just soft. Sprinkle with seasoned salt just before serving.

Sprinkle over cut surface of each tomato half a mixture of 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, ¼ clove garlic, minced, ¼ teaspoon sweet basil, and ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon shredded Parmesan cheese.

Sprinkle ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt over cut surface of each tomato half. Top with a green pepper ring and sprinkle chopped green onion (about 1 tablespoon per serving) over surface. Drizzle with 2 teaspoons Italian-style salad dressing.

Sprinkle over cut surface of each tomato half a mixture of ¼ teaspoon seasoned salt, ⅛ teaspoon rosemary, ⅛ teaspoon oregano, and ⅛ teaspoon sweet basil. Drizzle with 1 tablespoon olive oil.

Corn—Loosen husks from ears of garden-fresh corn. Do not remove but carefully pull down husks only far enough to remove silk and blemishes. Dip into pail of water; shake well and rewrap in husks. Let stand in pail of water about an hour until husks are soaked. Place on grill and roast, turning often, about 15 min., or until corn is tender.

SAUCE-PAINTED SPARERIBS

4 lbs. spareribs, cut in serving portions
1 cup catsup
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 tablespoon prepared horse-radish mustard
1 tablespoon grated onion
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano, marjoram, or thyme
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
1 clove garlic

1. Partially roast meat in a 350°F oven about 30 min.

2. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients in a saucepan. Simmer over low heat at least 10 min. Remove garlic.

3. To Grill—Place ribs, meaty-side down, on grill. Slowly grill about 3 in. from hot coals. Turn about every 5 min., brushing with barbecue sauce. Grill until meat is deep brown and crisp, about 25 min. 8 servings

BARBECUED RIBS, HAWAIIAN

Pour over ribs in a roasting pan a mixture of ½ cup soy sauce, ¼ cup cornstarch, and 3 tablespoons chopped preserved or crystallized ginger. Let stand about 30 min., turning frequently. Roast and grill as directed in recipe for Sauce-Painted Spareribs. During grilling, brush frequently with a mixture of ¾ cup sugar, ½ cup pineapple juice, and 3 tablespoons cider vinegar.

BARBECUED CHICKEN-ON-A-SPIT

Remove spit from grill before building fire. Clean 2 1½- to 2-lb. broiler chickens, ready-to-cook weight. Rinse and dry with absorbent paper. Rub cavities of birds with about 2 teaspoons salt. Skewer neck skin to back; tuck wings against back. Carefully insert spit lengthwise through both birds. Be sure they are well balanced on the spit for even turning. Tie drumsticks to spit. Brush chickens with Barbecue Sauce. Grill 8 in. from coals, turning frequently. Brush often with the sauce. (Hold a pan under the chickens while basting to catch any drippings.) Grill until a drumstick twists out of joint easily, about 1 hr. Serve with remaining sauce. 4 servings

BARBECUE SAUCE

This sauce keeps well and may be stored in refrigerator for days before using. Heat before serving.

1 cup (8-oz. can) tomato sauce
¾ cup (6-oz. can) tomato paste
⅓ cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed in a garlic press or minced
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
⅛ teaspoon Tabasco
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon chili powder

Combine all ingredients in a heavy saucepan. Bring to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Reduce heat, cover, and simmer about 20 min. About 1½ cups sauce

ROCK-LOBSTER TAILS

Frozen South African rock-lobster tails (allow 1 12-oz. tail for each person)
1 cup butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup chopped parsley

1. Thaw rock-lobster tails. Snip through and remove thin shell on underside of each tail; remove vein. Holding tail in both hands, bend it towards shell side to crack, or insert a skewer lengthwise through meat. This keeps tail flat.

2. For about ¼ cup of sauce, heat remaining ingredients together in a small saucepan.

3. To Grill—Place tails, shell-side down, on grill about 4 in. or more from coals; brush with butter sauce. Grill about 10 min., or until shell is charred, brushing with sauce occasionally. Do not allow heat to become intense. Turn tails with tongs and continue grilling about 6 min., or until meat is completely white and opaque. Serve with lemon wedges and remaining butter sauce.

LAMB-ON-A-STICK

2 lbs. boneless lamb (leg), cut in 1½-in. cubes
¾ cup finely chopped onion
¾ cup finely chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon parsley flakes
½ teaspoon onion powder
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1/16 teaspoon ground oregano

1. Mix together the onion and green pepper. Set aside.

2. Blend together the olive oil, lemon juice, and water. Set aside.

3. Mix seasonings together.

4. Coat bottom of a shallow dish with about 1 tablespoon of the olive oil marinade; cover with one-third of the onion mixture. Sprinkle one-third of the seasonings over all. Cover with one-half of the lamb cubes. Drizzle with one-half of remaining marinade and layer with one-half of onion mixture and seasonings. Cover with remaining lamb cubes. Repeat layers of marinade, onion mixture, and seasonings. Cover and refrigerate at least 8 hrs., or overnight.

5. When ready to grill, thread three lamb cubes onto each 6-in. skewer and brush with marinade.

6. Arrange skewers on grill about 3 in. from coals, turning often for even browning. Baste frequently with marinade. Grilling periods range from 10 to 20 min., or until meat is tender and rich brown in color.

LAWN ARE WE GOING TO MOW?

Cartoonist Robert Osborn enlarges on his celebrated discussion of leisure hall and kitchen, the floor here is made of smooth-cut gray stone with flecks of mica in it, the same kind of stone that builds the walls outside; the main furnishings are a glass table by Miës with five comfortable chairs set around it, and for decoration there is the play of light on plaster walls, a harmony of proportions, and a view of sky and green branches through the big window-wall. There is also a Calder mobile suspended from the ceiling. It is clear that it is made of iron rods and painted metal discs, and must weigh about twenty pounds, but what you seem to see is a swoop of white plumage; now and then the mobile stirs as though it felt the motion of the earth in space (probably it does).

"It's a hard thing to decide how much lawn to mow." Mr. Osborn shook his head. "Mow too much lawn, work too late, join too many worthy causes, get on too many boards, and you'll mow yourself right over the horizon. I've been wondering what makes us take on so much, leave so little time idle in our lives, play all the cards, drink all the martinis. Maybe it's a feeling of insecurity. But people have got the security right there in themselves if they can just live so they can get at it.

"WORK," he said. "I think that's the word we want to explore. What WORKS? Look at the Calder there. It works." He pointed to a small head of Miro. "That works. Refreshes the eye all the time. If it had a diamond embedded in it, if I'd had to slave ten years to get it, it wouldn't work. But I was able to come by it with reasonable effort and it's right for our purpose. What you do, and what you get, ought to work—for you."

Pursuing the idea of what works, Mr. Osborn considered the case of a young mother in a suburb near Dayton, Ohio. She was twenty-eight years old, she had three children, and it was her firm decision that any housework that was not done by twelve noon was not going to be done that day. The rest of the time was for lunch with the children, for a nap if she felt like it, for friends and walks and looking and listening. By her own account she "went pretty hard" in those hours before noon, and of course she cut corners, and of course the front hall was scuffed and there was usually ironing left over.

"But you see," he said, "she's making a decision that works. I guess she's having to learn how to simplify her life to meet that noon deadline. Fine. She can be on one committee instead of three. And think of simpler meals to cook, and simpler clothes to take care of. This choice of hers makes it happen that way. It works. And she gets to the end of the day with something more to show for it than just a list of jobs completed."

He agreed that it took a certain amount of modesty as well as hard thought to make a sound decision about what is going to work. That young woman in Ohio, for instance, will never hear anyone admiring her no-more-than-adequate housekeeping, but in place of the neighbors' compliments she will have comfortable children and what Mr. Osborn calls an understanding heart.

He was interrupted by a sound like tires crunching on gravel.

"I hope that's Elodie, my wife," he said. But then

"HOW much LAWN are we going to MOW?" Robert Osborn, the cartoonist, was at the International Design Conference in Aspen, Colorado, when he asked this question.

Seven hundred successful and very busy men heard him ask, and watched intently as he projected his Mower—right—on the screen in front of them. Osborn was discussing LEISURE in heartfelt words, illustrated with colored slides of forty-six of his fierce and poetic cartoons. "He tells you," as one critic puts it, "what it looks like to feel."

"This is a discussion of Leisure . . ." he began. "Let us pursue for a few minutes (mainly in pictures) how we got ourselves into the crush . . . and what it does to us—and what, if anything, we can do about it."

When he had finished, the ground swell of response led finally to words and pictures being made into a book—"Osborn on Leisure"—which two hundred thousand men and women, so far, have taken into their lives.

These figures astonish Osborn.

"I thought a few thousand copies would sell," he said, "but I wasn't expecting anything like this."

He explains it by pointing out that these are serious times.

"And even if we're not constantly aware of that," he says, "our psyches are. They remember every minute.

"No one can say how many days he is going to have. What he can count on is what he chooses to do with them. How he chooses is what makes the difference between a life and a rat race. Our psyches know that, of course, and the choice . . . the good choice . . . is what they're looking for. And what my psyche is looking for in 'Leisure.' "

The CRUX of the matter, as he says in the book, is "How much LAWN are we going to MOW?"

Since so many thousand people are wondering how to answer that one, Suburbia Today located Robert Osborn deep in Connecticut and asked for an interview.

The Osborns and their two small boys live outside Salisbury on a hillside which they discovered one time when they were skiing cross-country. To the west they look away over fields and woods to the Berkshires. The house is white timber and glass, very modern, but not startling; it seems natural and content in its country fields.

HOW MUCH

Mr. Osborn and a courtly black spaniel were the only members of the family at home when we called. You are instantly impressed by the vigor of this man who has spoken up for leisure. He is dark and rangy and moves easily, as if he had spent a lot of his time out-of-doors.

"Come in," he said. "I have some coffee keeping hot for us." This was kindly done, considering he certainly had his doubts about squandering a beautiful spring afternoon on an interview. "Come into the kitchen while I get it, if you'd like to see the stove. It's an Aga." There was a warmth in his voice as he said the word, as if he were speaking of a family pet; walking silently in his rope-soled shoes he led the way to the kitchen.

"I take care of the Aga," he observed, as he took a steaming flask of coffee off the roomy black iron stove top. "It's engineered to make the maximum use of fuel—only costs about forty dollars a year to run. I give it a couple of handfuls of coal every twelve hours and we have boiling water day and night and steady heat to cook with."

The Aga glowed comfortably as much as to say that a serious artist is as practical a man as you can find. If he weren't, how would he be able to handle his own materials?

We went back to the living room with the coffee. Like the

Movies & Records

THE NAKED MAJA—Based on the romance of the court painter Goya (Anthony Franciosa) and the Duchess of Alba (Ava Gardner), this is a lavish spectacle set in 18th-century Spain. Frequent shots of Goya's paintings highlight the film. The turbulent mob scenes are very realistic.

WARLOCK—The town of Warlock is constantly molested by outlaw cowboys. Frightened citizens hire a famous gunman, Henry Fonda, as Marshall. Friend Anthony Quinn accompanies him. Peace reigns briefly, until the arrival of Dorothy Malone, Quinn's ex-girl friend, who falls for the deputy, Richard Widmark, an outlaw-turned-good. Top rate thriller to the last bullet.

ALIAS JESSE JAMES—Screaming comedy. Insurance agent Bob Hope rides the Old West trying to revoke the $100,000 policy on the life of Jesse James. Posing as an outlaw, he joins the gang to protect Jesse's life. In a surprise climax, Jesse's sweetheart, Rhonda Fleming, and Hope are rescued by the timely arrival of familiar legendary characters of screen and TV Westerns—Bing Crosby, Wyatt Earp, Gary Cooper and others.

THE MATING GAME—A frolicking story of the happy-go-lucky family of Paul Douglas, a horse trader who has never paid any income tax. Eldest daughter Debbie Reynolds works on tax collector Tony Randall and wins the case.

APARAJITO is a deeply moving story of a Brahmin family in Northern India. A sequel to PATHER PANCHALI, it follows Apu, the son through adolescence and his college years. With English subtitles.

RECORDS

THE more stereo, the better it gets. Leonard Bernstein, N. Y. Philharmonic conductor, is heard on a new Columbia release of MENDELSSOHN'S FOURTH SYMPHONY (Italian) and HAYDN'S 104TH SYMPOHNY (London). The orchestra is held in tight command and the result is a credit to the young maestro and his men.

London has two excellent albums this month. Stravinsky's THE RITE OF SPRING, recorded by Ernest Ansermet, is a complex two-part ballet fantasy which demands a huge orchestra for the huge sound. Also, SCHUBERT SYMPHONY NO. 9 (THE GREAT) is Schubertian in the grand orchestral style, ably performed by Josef Krips and the London Orchestra.

Stokowski turns his talents to a Russian epic symphony by Gliere, ILYA MOUROMETZ. This mighty work about a Slavic Paul Bunyan moves in seven league boots. (Capitol)

Richard Strauss' Victorian opera ARABELLA is a delightful slice of Victorian melodrama. Conducted by Georg Solti and a magnificent German cast, the work is performed with all of the zest and excitement that the composer intended. Modern opera at its best. (London)

Two more discs of Gieseking, whose performance of BEETHOVEN SONATAS has yet to be equalled, are now available (Angel). These collector's items contain Sonatas 2 and 3 on one and 4, 5 and 6 on the other. The height of piano artistry.

THE ABDUCTION FROM THE SERAGLIO, Mozart's lesser known opera, is seldom done because it demands exceptional range, endurance and musical agility. However, this colorful work with its Oriental flavor comes to life thanks to Sir Thomas Beecham and his Choral Society. (Angel)

For operaphiles, Capitol has the last word in an album of BORIS GODOUNOV. In Russian with an English libretto and starring Boris Christoff, there is no finer recording of this available. A must!

"First Lady of Song," Ella Fitzgerald on a new spinner (Decca) called FOR SENTIMENTAL REASONS is in her smoothest style. In songs like "Baby Doll," "Guilty" and "Because of Rain," her subtle rhythmic inflection shines through.

Also on Decca for modern progressives is the trombone artistry of Milt Bernhart, THE SOUND OF BERNHART. Melodic inventions here are certainly bountiful. Milt has more facets than a diamond solitaire.

Concert pianist André Previn comes to pops fresh from success in the classics. In a Contemporary release ANDRE PREVIN PLAYS SONGS BY VERNON DUKE he uses the kernels of Vernon Duke's melodies, and with spontaneous improvisation builds musical castles in the air.

A talent that can't remain hidden very long appears on the disc, FREDDIE GAMBRELL WITH BEN TUCKER, BASS. Pianist Gambrell, who was Chico's protegé, is the perfect blend of everything good in modern jazz — musicianship, natural rhythm and an unerring sense of what pleases the listener. (World Pacific)

George Shearing has been going up . . . up . . . up. His latest, BLUE CHIFFON, is great mood music—real Saturday afternoon stuff. (Capitol)

Somebody had to do it! Somebody had to give Gershwin's PORGY AND BESS the real jazz treatment, and who better than Miles Davis? On a Columbia label MILES DAVIS—PORGY AND BESS, it gets the full Newport treatment! Yea Man!!

Leonard Bernstein conducts the N. Y. Philharmonic Orchestra in a recent recording of Mendelssohn and Haydn.

What's New In Books,

Author Edwin Gilbert's latest book THE HOURGLASS follows the lives of Greenwich Villagers who take to the suburbs.

BOOKS

HERE are four books, in the merry mood of May: Edward Shenton's THE RIB AND ADAM is a side-splitting account of a city man who gets involved with a tumble-down house and 80 acres of weed. Meanwhile, his wife, "The Rib," has a year-round picnic—planning, planting and restoring the house and Adam. (Lippincott, $3.95)

Have A FEW QUICK ONES with P. G. Wodehouse and his collection of rollicking short stories. You will meet Purkiss, Sir Jasper and the other refreshing club-haunting characters, and join in their zany adventures. (Simon & Schuster, $3.50)

B. M. Atkinson, Jr. in WHAT DR. SPOCK DIDN'T TELL US shares with the readers his discovery of children's afflictions: Arcaro and Butt's Disease, Corrigan's Kidney, Vampire's Nocturne and more. Wonderfully funny! (Simon & Schuster, $2.50)

DANGER! MARINES AT WORK! Robert G. Fuller reports with relish how an island full of dizzy marines causes havoc and despair to one major straight from the Pentagon. The worse it gets, the harder you'll laugh. (Random House, $2.95)

An intensely dramatic novel, THE GREAT PRINCE DIED concerns a world-famous exiled politician living in terror. Bernard Wolfe weaves the story around the ruthless assassins who plan the murder, and the others involved in the crises —the police, the peons, the guarded household. (Scribner, $4.50)

HARRISON HIGH is John Farris's exposé of high school life. This is the student's-eye view showing up some of the inadequacies and putting enormous emphasis on football, petting and disrupted home life. (Rinehart, $3.95)

Best-seller Edwin Gilbert dramatizes the transformation from youthful rebellion to middle-aged conformity in his latest novel, THE HOURGLASS. Greenwich Village Bohemians become Greenwich, Conn., suburbanites; passionate ideals are replaced by practical security in this giant saga. (Lippincott, $4.95)

THE VAN CLIBURN LEGEND by Abram Chasins and Vera Stiles gives the background of the magic touched off by that young pianist. Fame and fortune came swiftly, but not without years of devotion to his art. Here is Cliburn before his prize, his Russian adventure, the ticker-tape homecoming, and Cliburn's present dilemma. (Doubleday, $4.00)

A paperback classic by Dell, Jane Austen's PRIDE AND PREJUDICE centers around the five Bennet girls and their stormy courtship. (50¢) Another Dell offering, THE GOLDEN EAGLE by John Jennings, is based on the life of 16th century conquistador Hernando DeSoto, his adventures in Panama, South America and our Mississippi swamps. (35¢) A profile of the very powerful soldier-politician, THE YOUNG CAESAR by Rex Warner paints the Roman ruler as an arrogant, brilliant and ambitious man who sets his heart on conquering the world. (Mentor, 50¢)

THE RELIGIONS OF MAN by Huston Smith is a comparative study of the origin and values of great world faiths. Written with clarity and understanding. (Mentor, 50¢)

BEAT, BEAT, BEAT is a new treatment of the Village Beatniks, this time in a book of cartoons with wisecrack captions by William F. Brown. (Signet, 35¢)

In ZOOMAR Ernie Kovacs exposes the fast-paced, high-pressured TV industry, and the nimble-witted and half-witted executives who concoct video and commercials. (Bantam, 50¢)

THE MAN OF MONTMARTRE is Maurice Utrillo, the tormented painter—an alcoholic from the age of ten whose genius immortalized French street scenes. By Stephen and Ethel Longstreet. (Signet, 50¢)

Edmond Rostand's exciting drama of France's finest swordsman-soldier-poet CYRANO DE BERGERAC is now found in English translation between Bantam's bright blue covers. (35¢)

Peter De Vries in THE MACKEREL PLAZA tells of a widowed minister whose courtship is thwarted by a congregation loyal to the memory of his first wife. (Signet, 35¢)

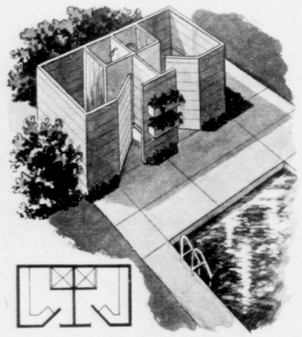
Ava Gardner and Anthony Franciosa in a scene from THE NAKED MAJA.

MOVIES

PORK CHOP HILL—This is a grim, heroic story of the few hundred men who fought against thousands of Chinese, defending Pork Chop Hill in Korea. Led by Gregory Peck, the American infantrymen hold on desperately until reinforcement arrives. War at its most desperate.

Make The Most Of Your Pool

BY JOHN BRIMER

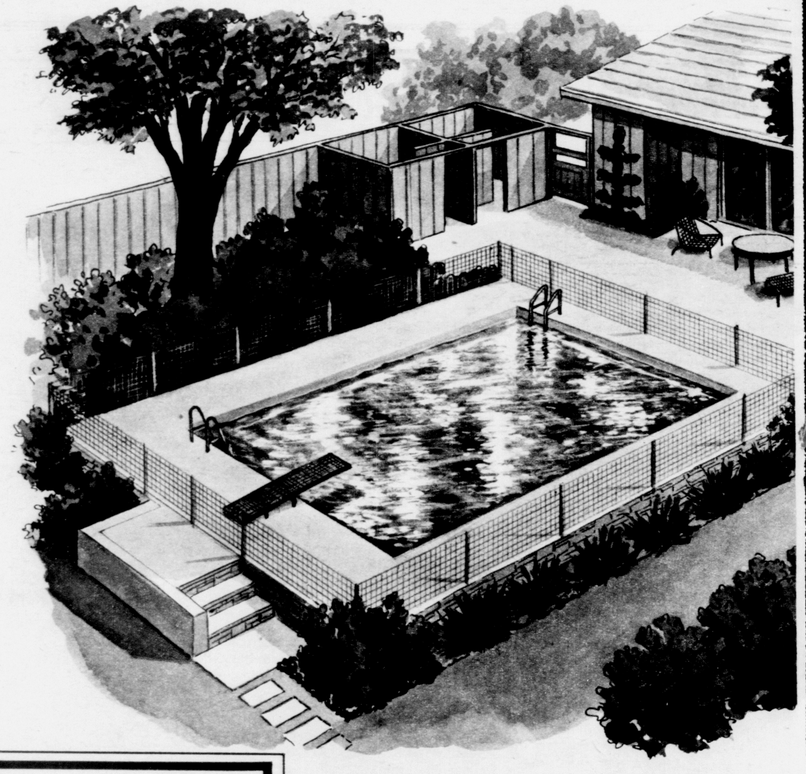


The Bath House

Bath houses by the pool are a convenience for two reasons. They save the house the wear and tear of wet, bare feet and dripping suits. And they provide a tidy spot for drying bathing suits.

The bath house can be double, as shown here, or a single unit. It need not be roofed unless there is a privacy problem from upstairs windows next door. Laths or louvred roofs will usually take care of this without the expense of a complete roof. If winter storage space for terrace furniture is needed, consider roofing the rooms and hanging doors to provide weather-tight accommodations.

Note in the sketch and plan how entrance baffles complete privacy.



The Rectangular Pool

The pool with straight sides and simple geometric lines is usually cheapest to build. It integrates easily into the garden plan when placed next to the terrace, with paving, as seen in the illustration, continuing outward about the pool. By setting the terrace and the pool a bit above garden level, excavation costs are lowered; also, raised pools prevent most leaves from blowing in and keep bathers from tracking in grass clippings. Note that evergreen plantings about the pool's retaining wall further minimize leaves and débris which might blow in. No tall trees overhang the water to shade the pool and offer a vantage point for daredevil teen-age divers.

The fence above may be completely rolled up and removed, if desired, as children grow up. Its purpose is to prevent toddlers from wandering unobserved into the pool area and accidentally tumbling into it. Light wire fencing of 1"x2" welded wire mesh is made relatively inconspicuous by painting it deep green or black so that it melts into the shrubbery's shadows. Use aluminum paint where it must cross the field of vision toward the pool. Climbing roses or other vines may be trained on it, or it can be left bare as you see it in the drawing.

Consider a bath house for convenience —
Be sparing but firm with rules and fences

The Natural Pool

There are few problems in the treatment of natural pools, or free-form pools made by bull-dozing an excavation of irregular shape. Bring the lawn up to the "beach," an area contained by a concrete curb which will prevent sand from spilling out on the lawn and the grass from encroaching on the "beach." Use clean, fine sand for this area, six inches deep, to help prevent weeds and grass growing in it.

On the deep side, set stones along the edge if they do not occur naturally, and plant ferns, iris and other water-loving plants at the water's edge with shrubbery and trees far enough behind so that the pool is not shaded too much. Shaded or flowing water is usually colder than water which is in a sunny, still pool. To keep water warm and prevent sediment and dirt from entering the pool, try to provide an alternative channel for flowing water to use, except when pool water is changed.

The diving platform might be an extension of the terrace if the house is near the pool. Or the platform can be built up in its own right as a pleasant spot for sunning and idling on warm summer days. Your pool is a decorative, endlessly diverting background for chatting and reading and picnicking and enjoying the out-of-doors generally, if you can plan a comfortable sitting area beside it. The flooring can be flagstone or tile or pebbles, whatever can be conveniently laid to make a flat surface where you can set up tables and chairs and perhaps a grill and serving table. When you come out of the water, cooled and happy and a little hungry, and the next short step takes you to hot food and a cool drink in pleasant company—that is making the most of your pool!

Instead of a fence, you can use a plastic pool cover, bought the proper size to hook over your pool when it is not being used. It will support a child or adult who may accidentally fall into the pool and also catches leaves, dust, paper and other débris which may blow into the pool and foul it.

For safety, place the pool where it can be supervised from the house. For privacy, screen it from the side street or neighbor's gardens with tall plantings or a high board fence, perhaps louvred for ventilation, joining the open-to-the-sky dressing rooms. (See sketch above.) And for peace of mind, set up a few essential rules and stick to them. As a starter:

1) No one may swim alone.

2) No horseplay—no calling "Help!" No pushing, no shoving.

3) Some responsible person must accompany each young guest (otherwise you will find yourself tied to your pool during visiting hours.)

4) Set certain hours when the neighbors are welcome, and certain other times when your pool can be yours alone.

Depending on your pool and your feelings, you may want to add to these rules, or work out others.

End-o-Pest
Rose Dust or Spray

KILL EVERY INSECT THAT EVER ATTACKS ROSES
Stop blackspot and mildew, too

You don't have to know what's eating your roses. If it's an insect, End-o-Pest will kill it. If it's a fungus disease—mildew, blackspot, blight—End-o-Pest will stop it.

No mixing, no mess, no measuring the famous End-o-Pest Rose Dust Gun and the aerosol Rose & Garden Spray are ready to use on an instant's notice.

Harmless to pets, plants and people
Completely safe to use just as often as needed. Won't burn leaves or flowers. Mixed just right for roses.

it was quiet again; no car door closed, there was no step on the walk. Mr. Osborn looked disappointed.

"That wasn't the car at all," he said. "That was a jet we heard."

He knows his planes; in World War II he was awarded the Legion of Merit for his pictures and posters and booklets showing Navy recruits how not to fly.

"I wish it had been Elodie," he said. "We could have talked this over with her. That's how I did the original draft for 'Leisure.' Mostly we sat out at that table on the terrace and talked it out for three solid weeks—that's how we found out what should be said about leisure."

Returning to the question he said, "There's likely to be trouble when you try to stick to what you think is going to work for you. It's not easy, especially when it means leaving out some of the things our friends take for granted. Here's a small everyday example that will show you what I am talking about—a man we know went off to the mountains for a holiday with his family. The very first morning they were there he ran into a friend, also on a holiday.

" 'Wonderful you're here,' said the friend. 'There's a good crowd at the Inn, and we're getting up a tournament for Saturday.'

"Now, it's tough in the face of a warm welcome to say, 'But I can't get into that. We're here to be with the kids and take it easy.'

"It goes against the grain to say this and see a friend's face fall. But what's the alternative? Missing the holiday you'd planned on, the one you really want. Too much lawn to mow.

"But I don't mean to make a case for taking it easy all the time. Sometimes, it is taking it easy that will make your life work. But there are other times when you make it work by going full steam ahead. I remember when I was studying in Europe, a trip I took to Sicily, walking sixteen miles over those wonderful antique roads to Segesta. And spending a whole afternoon under an arbor in Spain, with a bottle of wine, talking, talking, talking. There are times when it works to pack life full to overflowing so you have to cram it down. This is particularly true when you are young and as yet unused. But it's not a case of leisure, and not a case of pressing—it's what is going to work for you at the time."

Young people, Mr. Osborn finds, are thinking hard about how to make their lives work. Without being self-conscious or pedantic, they are looking out on their own lawns and planning their own mowing, not by what their neighbors are doing, but by what is going to work for them.

"They have," he says, "a good sense of reality."

Notice he says "good," not "hard." Reality works.

So, how much lawn are these young going to mow? And how much are their fathers going to mow? The man who asked the question in the first place answers with another, "What works?" And the only person who has the answer, Mr. Osborn points out, is the Mower himself.

As we left we took a last look through the window-wall. The table on the terrace was framed in a generous square of green grass, closely mowed. Beyond, the field flowers and hay, already ten inches high, waved serenely.

"George, I found our car—It wasn't stolen after all!"

Fashion art is a glamorous field for men or women. New talent needed.

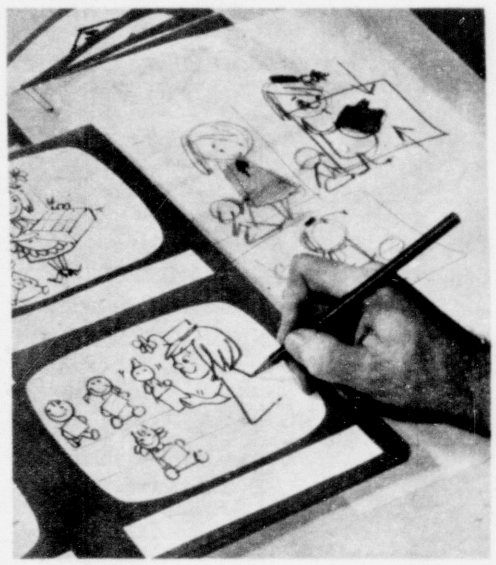
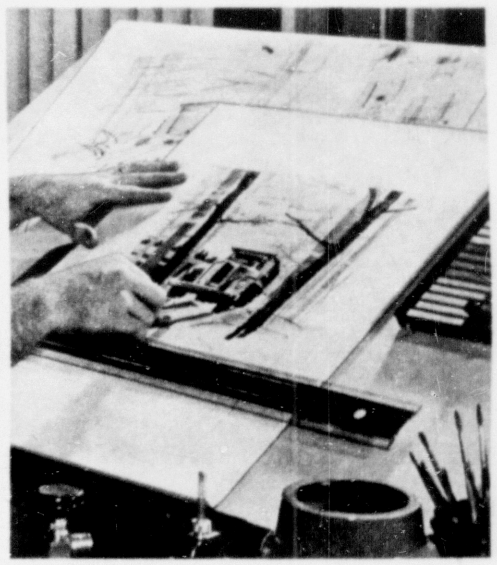
New talent needed for Commercial Art

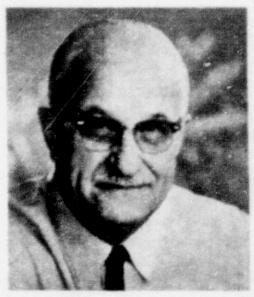
Television needs artists. Each cartoon film requires hundreds of drawings.



Advertising layouts are made in ad agencies for ads appearing everywhere.



Art Talent Hunt extended to your area



Walter J. Hildwending

ILLUSTRATOR

Your area is being included in the nationwide Art Talent Hunt to help fill the growing need for new artists today—both men and women.

Artists are needed in every branch of commercial art—advertising illustration and layout, poster work, television art, fashion art, magazine and cover illustration, cartooning, book illustration, greeting card design, portraiture, and other fields.

$10,000,000,000 is being spent this year for advertising alone—much of that for art. You can see why new talent is needed in the commercial art field today. Openings in art have increased about 50% in the last five years, according to the head of a large employment agency.

EARNINGS ARE UP. With a scarcity of good trained artists today, men and women in commercial art are being paid more and more highly. Even beginners in the field. Many commercial artists are now earning from $150 a week to over $50,000 a year. Some earn as much as $3,500 for a single illustration—think of that!

DO YOU LIKE TO DRAW? If you do, you may have the talent that's needed for success in commercial art. Here's the first thing to do. Find out if you have the necessary talent. You can, now—without cost or obligation.

TAKE TALENT TEST AT HOME. Free, this Art Talent Test is being contributed by a well known art school to help fill the nationwide and growing need for new artists today.

A simple test, yet it will tell whether you have natural talent. You take the test by yourself, then mail it back. Professional artists examine and grade it—and if your test shows talent, you get skilled counsel and guidance about a career in some branch of the art fiield.

Clip this coupon and send today for a free copy of this Art Talent Test that has started so many towards profitable careers in art.

DISTURBIA

BY LEW SAYRE SCHWARTZ

Don't look now, but do you ever get the feeling that each of the people you trade with sees you quite differently from the way you see yourself? You know that you're a pretty solid citizen, the soul of reason, the protector of your wife and innocent children. But, what about the butcher—how does he see you? and the baker? and that other fellow? We have an awful suspicion that this is the way you appear to them. If you don't think so, catch the look in their eye next time.

Mother's Back At Work

ularly in the suburbs. Most women shoot for the ideal job to begin with—something not far from home with hours that match the time the children are away at school.

And then there is always the question of illness. What is the responsibility of a working mother whose child is only moderately ill on a given school morning?

Obstacles notwithstanding, ingenious mothers, eager to get back to work, have met the challenge in a variety of interesting ways. Elizabeth Wendel has two boys, eleven and twelve. She wanted a job as a secretary on a part-time basis, but when she approached the local employment agencies they assured her there simply was not such a position in the suburbs and pleasantly but firmly told her it was a waste of time to look. Resolutely she made up a list of every factory, every publisher, every school, every newspaper, every advertising agency and every printer within a fifteen-minute driving radius of her home. One by one, she called on them and told her story. Again and again she explained she was a crackerjack secretary who could work limited hours but in those hours would do a good job. The majority turned her down but several asked her back for an interview and she got her job. Another mother, formerly a top fashion reporter, has found a way to get back to the job she left when her first child was born.

"I always wanted to go back," she said, "but not if it was going to be at the boys' expense. My answer was a four-day week. That way, I can have three full days at home, and the other four days I get back just about the time they've finished with their after-school activities. They're glad to see me and I'm delighted to see them. My husband approves of the plan wholeheartedly and helps make it work. We're all happier and I think more interesting to each other because each member of the family likes what he is doing."

LILLIAN BRILL, mother of a girl fourteen and a boy twelve now teaches high-school English although her earlier college training did not prepare her for teaching. Under a remarkable grant by the Fund for the Advancement of Education Mrs. Brill, after consultation with Yeshiva University's Graduate School of Education, was able to ready herself to launch her teaching career in six weeks! In qualifying for teaching jobs, every case differs, but the usual procedure is something like this: first, you must be a college graduate. Next, you attend a six-weeks summer session at a university associated with the program of the Fund for the Advancement of Education. At this time you are granted a Provisional Certificate and accepted for a one-year Teaching Internship. During this period you practice-teach half the time under constant supervision and attend the graduate school two nights a week to complete the course necessary to qualify fully as a teacher. During your internship you earn half of a beginning teacher's salary and in addition receive $300 toward the cost of your tuition.

It might be noted in passing that there are still many openings available under the grant for men and women interested in teaching.

PAID jobs come easiest, perhaps, for mothers who have a special talent to market and are not involved with other people's schedules. One young woman, Jeanne Lipman is a designer of sweaters who has managed to raise a family and to keep on working at the same time, turning out a series of successful designs from a "studio" set up in a spare room of her house.

In the same way another mother, Anne Orling, is able to look after her family and to find outlets for her decorating talents in her busy, expanding suburban neighborhood. At present she limits her clients to the number she can handle in the few hours she has free. "Later on," she says, "it will be a simple matter to branch out and take on more work, after the children have gone to college and don't need so much of my time."

It is a testimonial to the ingenuity of women to examine the many kinds of work they have found to do on a limited or part-time basis. In one busy typical neighborhood of 1200 families, the list of working mothers includes a dental hygienist, a free-lance copywriter, a home typist, saleswomen for jewelry, plants and shrubs, cosmetics and freezer foods. There are school nurses, receptionists, teachers, swimming instructors, and a painter who has found a commercial market for her work. There is even a doctor who plans to practice full time again when her children are older.

Over the country, six million mothers are back at work, and as one of them said, "It's easy – compared to the full-time job I had at home, while the children were growing up."

How WEEDONE helps you have a better lawn

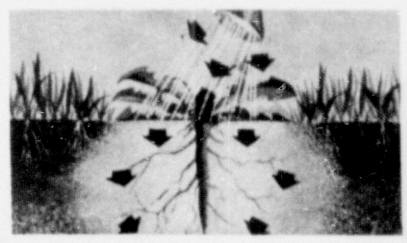
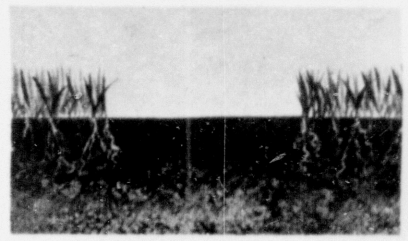
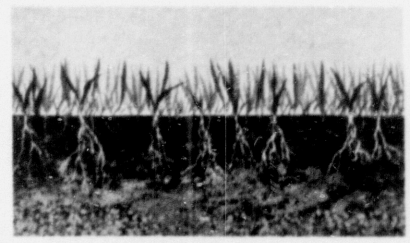
Broad-leaved and other lawn weeds mar the appearance of your lawn, crowd out desirable lawn grasses, rob good grass plants of needed nutrients.



WEEDONE penetrates the weed, kills it roots and all. Dandelion and other lawn weeds die from leaf top to root tip, yet WEEDONE will not injure fine lawn grass.



By killing unsightly weeds, roots and all, you give desirable lawn grasses room to grow, preserve valuable plant nutrients which weeds rob from the soil.



You'll have a healthier, more beautiful lawn if you control lawn weeds the WEEDONE way. It's the original 2,4-D weed killer, now with 2,4,5-T added.

WEEDONE is easy and economical to use—liquid for sprayer, dry for spreader application. Harmless to children and pets. Sold wherever fine garden products are available . . . still at the same low price: 8-oz. can $1.00, 5-lb. bag $2.25. Larger sizes available. (Dry form slightly higher west of the Rockies.)

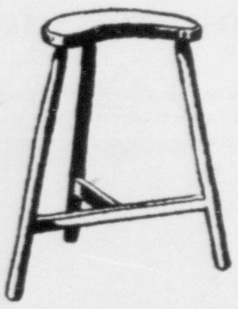
CROSS-COUNTRY CLASSIFIED

"Where To Find It"

ANTIQUE REPRODUCTION

This simple, comfortable stool is an exact copy of the old ones in the well-known Spouter Tavern in Mystic Seaport, Connecticut. Its rungs and legs are of oak, pegged and wedged into the crescent-shaped seat of knotty pine. The height is 26" Width of seat, 17"; base of seat, 25½" by 14". $16.50 express charges collect. Mystic Seaport Stores, Inc., Mystic, Conn.

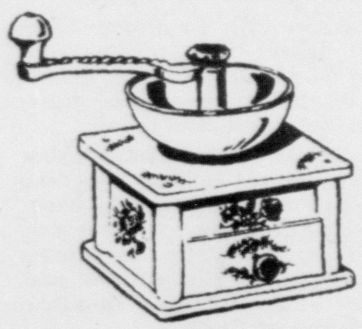


BABY CAR BELT

Here is an uncomplicated, easy to use car belt that is the answer to safe driving with young children. It allows the baby to stand, sit or lie down in comfort and safety by fastening an adjustable belt around the waist with a dog-leash catch. The belt travels up and down a second strap that buckles over the seat back. The belt need not be removed; it is not in the way when not in use. It is made of strong blue webbing and costs only $2.50 postpaid. Harvest House, Inc., 1200 Niagara R325, Buffalo 13, N. Y.

COFFEE GRINDER

Until you have ground your own coffee beans—just the exact amount needed at a time—you will never know that heavenly aroma or the true gourmet flavor of freshly ground coffee. The grinder is in white enameled birchwood, daintily decorated with colorful nosegays. It has the traditional wrought iron handle and a drawer that holds enough coffee for six cups. $8.95 postpaid. The Chade House, P.O. Box 8351, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.



FATHER'S DAY PRESENTS

Father's Day is in June, but early in June, so it is wise to give a thought to it now. A specialty of the Vermont Country Store is their Mild Pipe Tobacco, a blend of rich imported and domestic tobaccos and it is said that even the women like its gentle aroma. A half-pound tin is $1.65, plus 35¢ postage. The Original Vermont Country Store, Weston, Vermont.

LEV-R-MATIC CAN OPENER

It's electric! Plug it in, and it goes to work on cans of every shape and size. A magnetic lid-lifter seizes the cut-out lid, and the motor shuts itself off as soon as its job is done. It stands 10" high and weighs a solid five pounds so you can set it down where you please – no attachments necessary. Lev-R-Matic is the name and at $19.95 it may be a luxury but it is certainly also an everlasting convenience. At department stores, or postpaid from Iona Manufacturing Co., Manchester, Connecticut.

KANGAROO KID

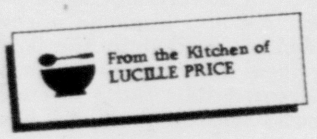
As every parent knows, children naturally delight in jumping on something soft and springy—usually the bed or sofa. Let them jump to their heart's content on a Kangaroo Kid designed specifically to take care of the exuberance of children 15 months through 7 years, or up to 65 pounds in weight. The canvas bed is 38" x 24" and only 9" off the ground. The frame is of Alcoa aluminum with elastic cord holding it to the bed, and the safety handlebar keeps vigorous action under control. $19.95 postpaid. Tekay Products Co., 9140 N. Meadowlark Lane, Milwaukee 17, Wisconsin.

KITCHEN GADGET

This stainless steel "Servespoon" is just like having an extra hand in the kitchen. With its sharp cutting edge it will chop food or scrape pans; with its slotted center, it will mix batters, whip eggs or drain vegetables; as a spatula it will turn eggs or remove cookies. $1.00 postpaid. Ace Products Co., Chalfont, Bucks County, Pa.

KITCHEN LABELS

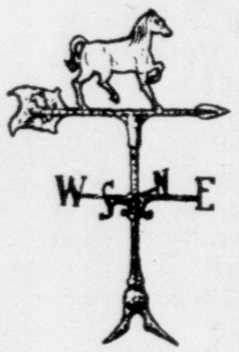
Here are personalized identification labels. Printed in black on white gummed paper, each label is lettered with the words, "From the Kitchen of" and your name. They are gilt-edge, 1½" long and come in your choice of "Mixing Bowl" or "Stove" design. 500 in a plastic box are $2.00 postpaid. Bruce Bolind, Montrose 6, Calif.



MINUTE MAN FIRE BUILDER

Crumple two sheets of newspaper and place it in the bottom of Minute Man, then add the required amount of charcoal and light a match. In just a few minutes you will have white-hot charcoal completely ready for your barbecue. Minute Man costs $1.49 postpaid from L. and M. Company, Dept. S. T., Box 881, St. Louis, Mo.

NEW SIZE WEATHERVANE

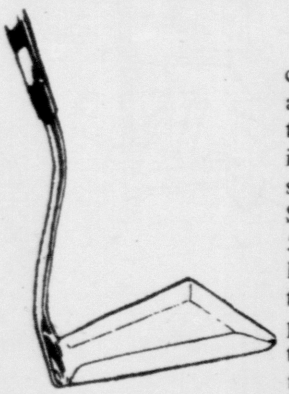


This new smaller size weathervane comes in the four universally popular designs of rooster, horse, anchor or sailboat. It is of rust-proof aluminum construction with baked black finish. The adjustable direction letters are 3" high, the arrow 18¼" long and the overall height is 26". Also new is the clutch cone base which can be attached to any roof—flat, pitched, horizontal, cupola or sloped. The rooster and horse are $10.65; the anchor and sailboat, $9.95, all postpaid. Cape Cod Cupola Co., North Dartmouth, Mass.

PLANT STIMULANT

This amazing new plant growth stimulant contains gibberellic acid that makes plants grow like Jack's beanstalk. It comes in an aerosol can and you simply spray it on the foliage of your favorite houseplants—African violets, geraniums, or ivy—and they will grow three times bigger, have larger blooms and greater yield. You can also use it on the annuals in your garden or on your shrubs. A six-ounce can $1.25 postpaid. Walter Drake, S-71, Drake Bldg., Colorado Springs, Colorado.

REVOLUTIONARY HOE



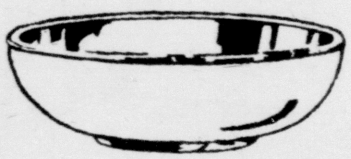
This new hoe is called a "Swoe" and it represents the greatest advance in soil cultivation since the hoe. This Swoe, which has a 58" long canted handle, enables you to work around plants without interfering with nature's own soil structure or the network of plant roots. The hollow-forged cutting blade, ground on three edges, raises up the fine tilth essential for the maintenance of healthy plant life. In this way weeds are controlled at the germination stage. $9.50 postpaid. Connoisseur Garden & Home Co., 2815 Alaskan Way, Seattle 1, Wash.

SMART T-SHIRT

This summer T-shirt for the distaff side of the family comes in terry cloth with half-inch wide stripes of buoy red or sailing blue on white. You will love it for the beach, on the water, or around the house all summer. Cut with wide boat neckline and side slits. Sizes: small (8-10); medium (12-14); large (16-18). $3.95 plus 35¢ postage. Add 15¢ postage for each additional item. The Tog Shop, Lester Square, Americus, Georgia.

"TACK-N-TAKER"

Many household tasks requiring the use of tacks, staples, tape or push pins can be simplified with this small precision tool which not only places tacks but reclaims them for subsequent use. Among its applications are papering shelves, posting notes and recipes, or fixing papers to drawing boards. It requires only a push of the hand to "tack or take" and it stores its own "ammunition" in its magazine-handle. The tacks will easily penetrate wood, cork, fiberboard or linoleum, can be used again many times and leave almost no visible mark after they have been removed. The price includes 100 tacks. $5.95 postpaid. Colorfix Import Co., 1409 Willow St., Minneapolis 3, Minn.



WEDDING PRESENT

This 9" diameter Calder bowl is made of a modern, highly practical version of pewter, called Stede-Ware. It has the soft luster of pewter but has no plating to wear off and will not tarnish. Copied from a famous pewter original, it can be used for candies, fruits, flowers, or as an ornament. $8.80 postpaid. Sturbridge Yankee Workshop, 25 Brimfield Turnpike, Sturbridge, Mass.

WILD RICE PANCAKE MIX

The ingredients for this pancake mix are harvested by the Indians in the remote forest and lake regions of Northern Minnesota and Canada. They combine to produce a light, golden cake with a rich nutty flavor made from a blend of hard northern wheat, select buckwheat and wild rice. One-pound box, $1.00 postpaid. Mille Lacs Maple Products Co., 308 Prince Street, St. Paul, Minn.
